RED POWER CENTER SHELLED

Western Base Of Communist Triangle Hit

Counterblows Are Hurled At Allies

TOKYO, Monday, April 9 (AP)—American artillery today pounded the big Chinese Red power center of Chorwon, 17 miles north of Korea's 38th parallel.

The heavy shelling hit the western base of the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Hwachon triangle where the Reds have massed an estimated 500,000 men for their expected counter-offensive.

Below the eastern base, Allied troops battled fiercely resisting Chinese today on the southern rim of the Hwachon reservoir.

Gen. MacArthur's mid-morning communique said the Reds appear to have extended their power build-up westward to Haeju and Kumchon, two assembly centers 75 and 50 miles northwest of Seoul.

But a field dispatch by AP Correspondent John Randolph, reporting the shelling of Chorwon, said "the Chinese appeared to have pulled back all along the western and central fronts."

Reds Counterattack

Red troops hurled two stiff counterattacks Sunday at Allied troops advancing north of 38, along ridges to the rim of Hwachon reservoir.

The resistance on that central front sector, north of Chunchon, forced United Nations spearheads to withdraw temporarily.

AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw said artillery was called into action to help repulse the Red counter-thrusts.

To the west, Allied reconnaissance patrols verified that Communist resistance also was building up north of the Hanton River, field dispatches said.

However, the main body of U. N. troops still had not made contact with the Reds in that area.

Only light, scattered resistance was reported on the eastern end of the Allied line.

The flareup of heavy fighting in the center coincided with an earnest warning from Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. S. Eighth Army commander, that there was no end of the Korean war in sight unless a political settlement was reached, elsewhere—and he knew of no negotiations for such a settlement.

Reds Still Well Grouped

He told correspondents at an advance Eighth Army headquarters on the central front that if the American people expect a definite end of the war, "they should be disabused of the idea."

He said that, by keeping the initiative, the Eighth Army had chewed up the Communist "offensive potential," but the Reds still were "well grouped for offensive action" down three major corridors into South Korea.

Ridgway named there corridors: The Chorwon-Seoul axis in the west, the Kumhwa-Seoul axis in the west center and the Chunchon-Wonju route in the center.

"As far as the Communist leaders are concerned, this is an all-out, life-and-death struggle," Ridgway affirmed. "There is nothing temporary about Communist determination to destroy us completely."

Wife Held In Mate's Baseball Bat Slaying

NARROWS, Va., April 8 (AP) — Police today arrested a Narrows mother who, they said, admitted she broke a baseball bat over her husband's head and then left him dying while she went to a movie.

Mrs. Rachel Spicer Huffer, 37, was charged with murder. The husband was identified as Woodrow W. Huffer, 38-year-old Narrows Motor Company shop foreman. He died yesterday.

Gen. MacArthur's Suggestion Puts Truman In Tight Corner

President Reported Considering Some Disciplinary Action Against Commander

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur's latest move into the arena of world politics — basically a call for recognition of Asia as the place to make the big fight to stop world Communism — has pushed President Truman into one of the tightest corners of his White House tenure.

The President is reported considering some disciplinary action against the General but is understood to have reached no decision on what—if anything—to do about it.

In this connection, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today:

"It now appears that the hatchet men of the administration have been turned loose to undermine the position of Gen. MacArthur and to force a reprimand or recall."

GOP Backing MacArthur

The two main pressures Mr. Truman has to balance against each other are generated by:

1. A GOP-led drive for adoption of the United Nations Far East commander's ideas, including a second front in China manned by Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists, partly to take pressure off Korea where Americans are fighting.

2. Mounting cries of fear from Allies who hold that such a course is the way to general war and possible long-run defeat, and that the ultimate contest must be in Europe.

That vise tightened today with a demand from Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) that Congress send a committee to consult MacArthur, a parallel demand from Sen. Knowland that MacArthur policies be chosen over those of Secretary of State Acheson, and a report that Britain is about to move directly for steps to curb the United Nations commander.

Close Decisions Remain

There is no indication of any intention of the administration's part to abandon its policy of limiting the present Korean fighting if it can, and putting the long range emphasis on Europe.

But there are close decisions still to make, such as (1) whether MacArthur has raised such a direct issue that the administration must take strong steps to allay Allies' fears and to maintain its own "face" in spite of the furore it would raise among MacArthur backers, and (2) whether there is so strong a chance of spreading war in the Orient that a crackdown on MacArthur would be bad for the future because of the reaction among Asian peoples and the effect on Americans who might feel the actions against the General handicapped him.

MacArthur's Proposal Opposed By Britain

LONDON, April 8 (AP) — Britain strongly objects to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's suggestion that Chinese Nationalist troops be sent to fight in Korea. Informed sources said today this British view would be presented informally but forcefully in Washington soon.

Publication of MacArthur's letter to Rep. Martin (R-Mass) favoring the use of Chiang Kai-Shek's troops has further inflamed British public opinion against the General's policies in the Far East.

Less Buying Seen Curbing Price Climb

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicted today that a slackening in consumer buying may take some of the upward push out of prices during the next two or three months.

But such a development, it said, probably would be short-lived. Further expansion in government spending for defense during the summer, accompanied by a smaller output of consumer goods, was said to be likely to generate new pressure on prices.

Supplies At High Level

"Although production for defense is expanding, civilian supplies of most commodities, including food, are at a high level," said the bureau in an April report on the market and price outlook for farm products.

"Agricultural production for sale and consumption in the farm home in 1951 will probably exceed the previous record established in 1949, if weather conditions are average or better.

"Output of consumer durable goods, such as automobiles and television sets, has been substantially higher in recent months than in the first half of 1950 and only moderately below the record high levels attained in the last half of 1950."

Letup Will Be Temporary

The bureau said that consumer buying, which has increased more than consumer income since last June, has recently shown some signs of abating.

"For the next few months price pressures may be moderate. Over the longer run, however, civilian supplies of some commodities, especially durable goods, are expected to be reduced while incomes will continue to expand.

"Consequently, inflationary pressures are likely to strengthen again later this year."

Communist Paper Exposes Soviet Soccer Fix Scandal

MOSCOW, April 8 (AP)—Pravda exposed to the public gaze today a big Soviet soccer fix scandal. It carefully pointed out, however, that the fixer was motivated by love for the home team—not by the crass desire for monetary gain. Moreover, the fix didn't work.

The paper, organ of the Communist Party, named the central figure in the scandal as a "fixer" by the name of Bekbayev, who prior to his unsuccessful effort, had become somewhat of a figure out in Alma Ata, capital of the Kazakh republic.

He had "fixed" for himself, said Pravda, a post as director of the Kazakh Institute of Physical Culture, the title of "master of sport," a pleasant little home at the expense of the institute and a post as deputy chairman of the Kazakh Committee on Physical Culture and Sports.

He came to grief, like some others in different climes, when he tried to boost the home team by an off-the-field bit of strategy. The story, as told by Pravda, went like this:

Alma Ata's team met the team from Ashkhabad, capital of the

"Hard Core" Reds Set For Sabotage, FBI Director Says

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has told senators that a "hard core" of sabotage-trained Communists is ready to strike at vital industries if war comes.

Testifying before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, Hoover said that the present fifth column menace from 43,217 known Communists is "far greater than in the last war with the Nazis and subversive elements."

He said the Communists have a "hard core today dedicated to sabotage and to militant revolt against this country if and when the time comes," adding that sabotage "could be one of the most effective weapons the enemies of the United States could use."

Hoover's testimony, given in a series of closed door meetings with the subcommittee last month, was made available to the Associated Press.

Another Minn. Town Flooded

[By The Associated Press]

Floodwaters broke over another Minnesota town Sunday and the spring thaw brought threat of floods along the Red River running between Minnesota and North Dakota.

The swollen Minnesota River spilled over levees at North Mankato, in Southern Minnesota, and ran 18 inches deep down the town's main street. Officials ordered the town's 4,800 residents evacuated.

A flood warning was posted at Fargo, N. D., and Moorhead, Minn., lying on either side of the Red River. The stream was already over flood stage, 17 feet, and a federal meteorolgist predicted a crest of 26 or 27 feet Monday. Damage so far was minor.

West of the Mankato area, the Redwood River which covered most of Marshall, Minn., last week, was ebbing. The damage there was estimated at $1,000,000.

Flooded rivers in Alabama, Iowa and South Dakota also were subsiding.

Sen. Aiken Calls For End To Pay And Price Curbs

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said today the administration ought to remove all price and wage controls immediately.

"Prices," he said, "would be at least 10 per cent lower today if controls never had been imposed and there had not been all that advance talk about them, which served to boost prices.

"As for wage controls, labor has made it clear it won't accept them."

Aiken joined in congressional criticism of a proposal, reportedly being considered by the administration, to freeze farm parity as a means of curbing food prices.

"That's a ridiculous idea," said Aiken, who is the senior Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"If the administration is considering that plan, and I have heard it is, it is just looking for a scapegoat—the farmer—to cover up its own inexcusable blunders. They are just looking for some way out of the mess they have got themselves in."

In calling for removal of wage-price controls, Aiken told a reporter Congress ought to get busy and enact a stiff tax increase speedily. He said higher taxes and tighter credit curbs will control inflation much more effectively than wage-price controls.

The Vermont lawmaker also predicted that prices generally would decline somewhat if direct controls were removed. He said prices always are inclined to hug the ceilings under a control program.

Aiken declared that any freeze of farm parity would kill the parity program. He said the administration never would get to first base in Congress with a request for authority to invoke such a freeze.

Parity is a formula designed to assure farmers a fair return—and to maintain their purchasing power—in relation to prices of industrial commodities they buy. The parity level is flexible because it is geared to changing industrial prices.

New Civilian Materials Plan Will Hit Little Business, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

In a right-about face, Mobilizer Charlie Wilson has rejected a plan to impose total control over strategic materials for civilian use. This is a decision of great importance to American business, especially little business.

Wilson reported his plan privately to Defense Production Boss William Harrison with the blunt explanation: "We don't want any Russian-type of economy. We have to take care of civilian business."

What this means is that the Defense Department will get all the steel, copper and aluminum it needs, then the rest will be thrown wholesale to private industry to scramble over. Economists predict that larger manufacturers will be able to buy what they need, but little manufacturers will be left out in the cold.

The original plan was to impose total control on strategic materials — such as steel, copper and aluminum — so that all manufacturers would get a fair allocation. For example, the government would control the distribution of all steel for civilian use, giving defense needs first priority. Known as the controlled materials plan, this was all set to be announced on March 15. In fact, the publicity had been ready for a week in advance.

Then, the last minute, Wilson overruled the plan, and started to work on a modified, "open-end" controlled materials plan. This will give the government first priority for defense needs. But the law of the jungle will determine who gets the rest, and the big customer is sure to be favored.

Man, Two Children Killed When Abandoned Bomber Plows Into House Near D. C.

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — A crewless bombing plane killed a man and two children late today when it crashed into a house in nearby Morningside, Md.

Three other persons were hurt.

The plane crew, which had been struggling to free a jammed landing gear while circling for four hours, parachuted to safety. The plane was reported to have been put under control of an automatic pilot to divert it from the metropolitan area and there was no immediate explanation why it crashed in a housing development.

Two bodies were recovered by firemen and search was continued for a third.

The dead were identified as:

Irvin Guyer, Cramford, N. Y; Kay Snyder, 7, and Rene Denise Snyder, two months old.

Pennsylvanian Injured

Those hurt were Mrs. Guyer, Master Sergeant and Mrs. Samuel Snyder. The Snyders were taken to the Bolling Air Force hospital nearby, suffering from head and body lacerations. Their condition was described as fair.

Mrs. Guyer, a sister of Mrs. Snyder, was taken to Casualty Hospital in Washington. Her condition was reported critical.

Sergt. Snyder's home was New Enterprise, Pa., Mrs. Snyder, the former Dorothea Crusson, was from Columbia, Ohio.

The plane, coming in at a slight angle, passed over a social club, bounced into a street in front of the Snyder home and then smashed into the residence. Flames broke out at once.

One plane engine churned diagonally across three back lots and tore a gaping hole in another house. Another flying bit of wreckage ripped a hole in the foundation of a house two doors away.

Trapped By Wreckage

The house was about a half mile from the Andrews Air Force base.

Lee Ditmars, a Morningside volunteer fireman, said he went into the burning house to try to rescue Guyer whom he saw surrounded by flame. Ditmars said he reached the side of the man but Guyer was pinned from the waist down by wreckage which could not be moved.

"We tried everything we could to pull him out," Ditmars said. "Then we heard the house beginning to cave in and we were forced out of there. He was buried in the wreckage."

The three occupants of the plane were named as Capt. Robert T. Sander, pilot; Capt. Paul V. Chapman, co-pilot, and Staff Sgt. Joseph E. Albright, engineer. They were reported to have parachuted uninjured from 3,000 feet.

Hope For Two Miners Ebbing

EVELETH, Minn., April 8. (INS) Rescue teams seeking two trapped miners 400 feet underground near Eveleth, Minn., said tonight they "hope" the men are alive but conceded that "it is beginning to look bad."

The miners, Frank Putzel, 42, and Tony Korteha, 55, have been entombed since 1 p. m. (CST) Friday when a cave-in blocked the entrance to their tunnel.

Two 10-man rescue teams, each group "backed up" by scores of other miners working between them and the surface, began tunneling towards the place where Putzel and Korteha were last seen but one of the emergency approaches was abandoned today.

A spokesman for the Oliver Iron Mining Company, which owns the Spruce mine where the men are trapped, said one of the rescue teams was attempting to cut a new tunnel to the pair but encountered solid rock. They decided against blasting in fear that it might bring down a new fall of rock, possibly on the men they were seeking to rescue.

Surprise! U. S. Agency To Turn Back Funds

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—A House Appropriations subcommittee asked for a pause to recover from shock when a government official announced his agency would turn back $30,000 to $40,000 of its 1951 appropriation unspent.

J. M. Mehl, administrator of the Commodity Exchange Authority, made the announcement during hearings on the agriculture appropriations bill, released for publication today. The agency's appropriation was $650,000.

British Protest In Row Over Oil Rejected By Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, April 8 (AP) — Premier Hussein Ala firmly but politely rejected Britain's protest against nationalization of the $500,000,000 strike-harrassed Anglo-Iranian Oil Company today.

In effect, he said the oil question was none of the British government's business.

The little diplomat, who reluctantly took power at the request of the Shah after the assassination of Premier Ali Razmara, made public the brief note after his first appearance before the Majlis, the lower house of parliament. Carefully walking a tight rope, he made no promises to the Majlis on the controversial oil issue.

A former United Nations delegate with pro-Western leanings, the Premier was bitterly criticized by one Nationalist deputy, Reza Ashtianizedeh. The deputy said the "oil company has reserved him (Ala) for 20 years to bring him to power at the present time."

Hershey Defends Students' Draft Deferment Plan

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, defended the proposed draft deferment program for college men today as both flexible and fair.

Hershey said in a radio broadcast he is confident draft boards will go along with the new plan, announced last week. It provides for the deferment of college men who are in the upper ranks scholastically or who score 70 or better in the test to be given at 1,000 colleges May 26, June 16, and June 30.

Lodge, VFW Attack Plan

The draft chief spoke shortly after Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) and the Veterans of Foreign Wars had attacked the plan in separate letters, both describing it as undemocratic and unfair.

At the same time Henery Chauncey, Princeton, N. J., president of the testing service which devised and will administer the tests, said it is useless for students to cram for it.

"They would be wiser to cram to be in the upper part of their class," Chauncey said.

The proposed test has been criticized as undemocratic and so liberal it may result in the deferment of 800,000 students otherwise eligible for service.

220,000 Students Eligible

U. S. Commissioner of Education Earl J. McGrath said Friday, however, that only 220,000 of the nation's 1,059,000 college men currently are eligible for the draft. He said the others are either war veterans, 4-Fs, ROTC members or under draft age.

McGrath added that even if the draft age is reduced from 19 to 18, only about 370,000 college students will be eligible for service.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex), a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said last week he will try to have the proposed test outlawed.

Hershey said in the broadcast that the committee of which Kilday is a member approved the test plan only two weeks ago.

Marines To Launch Attack On Capitol Hill This Week

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Those famed fighting men, the U. S. Marines, are set to launch a big attack in Congress this week, probably starting Friday.

And their shots may hit that old artillery man, Harry S. Truman, and nearly all the top brass in the Pentagon.

Led by a battle-scarred Marine of World War II, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), the leathernecks want Congress to order by law:

1. An authorized strength of 400,000, or about double the present manpower total.

2. A place at the top table of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for the Marine Corps commandant. The corps now gets representation only through the chief of naval operations, Adm. Forrest P. Sherman.

Douglas already has lined up 44 senators of both parties for the measure and Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont) has 65 House members backing identical legislation there.

The Marines have staged similar skirmishes before in Congress but appear to have a better chance for success this time.

Douglas told a reporter that the Senate Armed Services Committee expects to begin hearings Friday. He joined the Marines as a private in the last war and emerged a much-decorated and severely-wounded lieutenant colonel.

C-47 Plunges Into W. Va. Hill And Explodes

2 Survive Crackup Near Charleston

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 8 (AP)—Nineteen airmen bound for the funeral of a fellow flier perished today when their Air Force plane crashed and burst into flame on a rugged mountaintop near here. Two others survived.

The twin-engine craft, a C-47, crashed and burned atop a rugged, wooded ridge eight miles north of Charleston as it groped through a misty rain for Kanawha airport.

The nine officers and 12 enlisted men aboard were en route here to participate as an honor guard in the funeral of a fellow flyer killed in an airplane mishap last week.

The two survivors were identified at a Charleston hospital as Maj. Isaac E. Bonifas, Portland, Indiana, and Capt. Harry K. Blackhurst, Charleston. Both were badly burned about the head, face and hands. They were given a 50-50 chance of recovering.

"Awful Explosion" Heard

Most of those killed were members of the 167th Fighter Squadron, which was based here as a West Virginia Air National Guard unit before going into federal service. Most of the victims lived in the Charleston area.

The officer the Air Force group was coming to honor was buried with full military honors some three hours after the mishap. He was Maj. Woodford W. Sutherland, 34, St. Albans, W. Va., operations officer of the 167th, who was killed in a ground collision of two planes last Thursday at Eglin Field, Fla.

The plane carrying his funeral party had left the 167th's station at Godman Air Force Base, near Louisville, Ky., earlier today.

The communications tower at Kanawha airport said it was in contact with the plane at 11:53 a. m., as it approached the field. The next word was a telephone call from a resident near the scene reporting the crash. People living in the area reported hearing a plane, then an "awful explosion."

Woman Assists Survivors

Among the first persons to reach the smashed, flaming wreckage was Mrs. Goldie Seabolt, a farm wife living within a few hundred feet.

One of the survivors was on his feet, walking about in a dazed condition, Mrs. Seabolt said. She assisted both of the survivors to her house and gave them coffee while awaiting arrival of help.

Another resident of the area who reached the scene soon after the crash, Harry Pauley, said the bodies of two of the dead had been hurled some 50 feet from the plane and were burning. Persons on the scene extinguished the flames.

The plane apparently was banking in a turn on its approach to the airport when the crash came.

A wing caught a tall locust tree at the end of a ridge. The ship hit the ground and hurtled about 100 yards along the crest of the ridge before coming to a stop in flames.

Further Espionage Arrests Indicated

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP) — U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol said tonight his office is starting a whole new series of arrests for espionage.

Saypol made the statement in reply to a question on a radio program, station WOR's "This Week On The Communist Front."

Saypol, who prosecuted the recent case which brought death penalties to two convicted spies, was asked if he expected further spy arrests.

"We have gotten now sufficient information so that we are embarking on a series of prosecutions to stamp out this vice," he said.

David Snell, who conducts the radio show, asked Saypol if he meant that he was "embarking on a whole series of arrests."

"Oh, yes," the federal attorney replied.

"Prices," he said, "would be at least 10 per cent lower today if controls never had been imposed and there had not been all that advance talk about them, which served to boost prices.

"As for wage controls, labor has made it clear it won't accept them."

Aiken joined in congressional criticism of a proposal, reportedly being considered by the administration, to freeze farm parity as a means of curbing food prices.

"That's a ridiculous idea," said Aiken, who is the senior Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"If the administration is considering that plan, and I have heard it is, it is just looking for a scapegoat—the farmer—to cover up its own inexcusable blunders. They are just looking for some way out of the mess they have got themselves in."

In calling for removal of wage-price controls, Aiken told a reporter Congress ought to get busy and enact a stiff tax increase speedily. He said higher taxes and tighter credit curbs will control inflation much more effectively than wage-price controls.

The Vermont lawmaker also predicted that prices generally would decline somewhat if direct controls were removed. He said prices always are inclined to hug the ceilings under a control program.

Aiken declared that any freeze of farm parity would kill the parity program. He said the administration never would get to first base in Congress with a request for authority to invoke such a freeze.

Parity is a formula designed to assure farmers a fair return—and to maintain their purchasing power—in relation to prices of industrial commodities they buy. The parity level is flexible because it is geared to changing industrial prices.

Man, Two Children Killed When Abandoned Bomber Plows Into House Near D. C.

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — A crewless bombing plane killed a man and two children late today when it crashed into a house in nearby Morningside, Md.

Three other persons were hurt.

The plane crew, which had been struggling to free a jammed landing gear while circling for four hours, parachuted to safety. The plane was reported to have been put under control of an automatic pilot to divert it from the metropolitan area and there was no immediate explanation why it crashed in a housing development.

Two bodies were recovered by firemen and search was continued for a third.

The dead were identified as:

Irvin Guyer, Cramford, N. Y; Kay Snyder, 7, and Rene Denise Snyder, two months old.

Pennsylvanian Injured

Those hurt were Mrs. Guyer, Master Sergeant and Mrs. Samuel Snyder. The Snyders were taken to the Bolling Air Force hospital nearby, suffering from head and body lacerations. Their condition was described as fair.

Mrs. Guyer, a sister of Mrs. Snyder, was taken to Casualty Hospital in Washington. Her condition was reported critical.

Sergt. Snyder's home was New Enterprise, Pa., Mrs. Snyder, the former Dorothea Crusson, was from Columbia, Ohio.

The plane, coming in at a slight angle, passed over a social club, bounced into a street in front of the Snyder home and then smashed into the residence. Flames broke out at once.

One plane engine churned diagonally across three back lots and tore a gaping hole in another house. Another flying bit of wreckage ripped a hole in the foundation of a house two doors away.

Trapped By Wreckage

The house was about a half mile from the Andrews Air Force base.

Lee Ditmars, a Morningside volunteer fireman, said he went into the burning house to try to rescue Guyer whom he saw surrounded by flame. Ditmars said he reached the side of the man but Guyer was pinned from the waist down by wreckage which could not be moved.

"We tried everything we could to pull him out," Ditmars said. "Then we heard the house beginning to cave in and we were forced out of there. He was buried in the wreckage."

The three occupants of the plane were named as Capt. Robert T. Sander, pilot; Capt. Paul V. Chapman, co-pilot, and Staff Sgt. Joseph E. Albright, engineer. They were reported to have parachuted uninjured from 3,000 feet.

British Protest In Row Over Oil Rejected By Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, April 8 (AP) — Premier Hussein Ala firmly but politely rejected Britain's protest against nationalization of the $500,000,000 strike-harrassed Anglo-Iranian Oil Company today.

In effect, he said the oil question was none of the British government's business.

The little diplomat, who reluctantly took power at the request of the Shah after the assassination of Premier Ali Razmara, made public the brief note after his first appearance before the Majlis, the lower house of parliament. Carefully walking a tight rope, he made no promises to the Majlis on the controversial oil issue.

A former United Nations delegate with pro-Western leanings, the Premier was bitterly criticized by one Nationalist deputy, Reza Ashtianizedeh. The deputy said the "oil company has reserved him (Ala) for 20 years to bring him to power at the present time."

Hershey Defends Students' Draft Deferment Plan

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, defended the proposed draft deferment program for college men today as both flexible and fair.

Hershey said in a radio broadcast he is confident draft boards will go along with the new plan, announced last week. It provides for the deferment of college men who are in the upper ranks scholastically or who score 70 or better in the test to be given at 1,000 colleges May 26, June 16, and June 30.

Lodge, VFW Attack Plan

The draft chief spoke shortly after Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) and the Veterans of Foreign Wars had attacked the plan in separate letters, both describing it as undemocratic and unfair.

At the same time Henery Chauncey, Princeton, N. J., president of the testing service which devised and will administer the tests, said it is useless for students to cram for it.

"They would be wiser to cram to be in the upper part of their class," Chauncey said.

The proposed test has been criticized as undemocratic and so liberal it may result in the deferment of 800,000 students otherwise eligible for service.

220,000 Students Eligible

U. S. Commissioner of Education Earl J. McGrath said Friday, however, that only 220,000 of the nation's 1,059,000 college men currently are eligible for the draft. He said the others are either war veterans, 4-Fs, ROTC members or under draft age.

McGrath added that even if the draft age is reduced from 19 to 18, only about 370,000 college students will be eligible for service.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex), a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said last week he will try to have the proposed test outlawed.

Hershey said in the broadcast that the committee of which Kilday is a member approved the test plan only two weeks ago.

Hope For Two Miners Ebbing

EVELETH, Minn., April 8. (INS) Rescue teams seeking two trapped miners 400 feet underground near Eveleth, Minn., said tonight they "hope" the men are alive but conceded that "it is beginning to look bad."

The miners, Frank Putzel, 42, and Tony Korteha, 55, have been entombed since 1 p. m. (CST) Friday when a cave-in blocked the entrance to their tunnel.

Two 10-man rescue teams, each group "backed up" by scores of other miners working between them and the surface, began tunneling towards the place where Putzel and Korteha were last seen but one of the emergency approaches was abandoned today.

A spokesman for the Oliver Iron Mining Company, which owns the Spruce mine where the men are trapped, said one of the rescue teams was attempting to cut a new tunnel to the pair but encountered solid rock. They decided against blasting in fear that it might bring down a new fall of rock, possibly on the men they were seeking to rescue.

Surprise! U. S. Agency To Turn Back Funds

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—A House Appropriations subcommittee asked for a pause to recover from shock when a government official announced his agency would turn back $30,000 to $40,000 of its 1951 appropriation unspent.

J. M. Mehl, administrator of the Commodity Exchange Authority, made the announcement during hearings on the agriculture appropriations bill, released for publication today. The agency's appropriation was $650,000.

C-47 Plunges Into W. Va. Hill And Explodes

2 Survive Crackup Near Charleston

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 8 (AP)—Nineteen airmen bound for the funeral of a fellow flier perished today when their Air Force plane crashed and burst into flame on a rugged mountaintop near here. Two others survived.

The twin-engine craft, a C-47, crashed and burned atop a rugged, wooded ridge eight miles north of Charleston as it groped through a misty rain for Kanawha airport.

The nine officers and 12 enlisted men aboard were en route here to participate as an honor guard in the funeral of a fellow flyer killed in an airplane mishap last week.

The two survivors were identified at a Charleston hospital as Maj. Isaac E. Bonifas, Portland, Indiana, and Capt. Harry K. Blackhurst, Charleston. Both were badly burned about the head, face and hands. They were given a 50-50 chance of recovering.

"Awful Explosion" Heard

Most of those killed were members of the 167th Fighter Squadron, which was based here as a West Virginia Air National Guard unit before going into federal service. Most of the victims lived in the Charleston area.

The officer the Air Force group was coming to honor was buried with full military honors some three hours after the mishap. He was Maj. Woodford W. Sutherland, 34, St. Albans, W. Va., operations officer of the 167th, who was killed in a ground collision of two planes last Thursday at Eglin Field, Fla.

The communications tower at Kanawha airport said it was in contact with the plane at 11:53 a. m., as it approached the field. The next word was a telephone call from a resident near the scene reporting the crash. People living in the area reported hearing a plane, then an "awful explosion."

Woman Assists Survivors

Among the first persons to reach the smashed, flaming wreckage was Mrs. Goldie Seabolt, a farm wife living within a few hundred feet.

One of the survivors was on his feet, walking about in a dazed condition, Mrs. Seabolt said. She assisted both of the survivors to her house and gave them coffee while awaiting arrival of help.

Another resident of the area who reached the scene soon after the crash, Harry Pauley, said the bodies of two of the dead had been hurled some 50 feet from the plane and were burning. Persons on the scene extinguished the flames.

The plane apparently was banking in a turn on its approach to the airport when the crash came.

Further Espionage Arrests Indicated

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP) — U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol said tonight his office is starting a whole new series of arrests for espionage.

Saypol made the statement in reply to a question on a radio program, station WOR's "This Week On The Communist Front."

Saypol, who prosecuted the recent case which brought death penalties to two convicted spies, was asked if he expected further spy arrests.

"We have gotten now sufficient information so that we are embarking on a series of prosecutions to stamp out this vice," he said.

David Snell, who conducts the radio show, asked Saypol if he meant that he was "embarking on a whole series of arrests."

Marines To Launch Attack On Capitol Hill This Week

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Those famed fighting men, the U. S. Marines, are set to launch a big attack in Congress this week, probably starting Friday.

And their shots may hit that old artillery man, Harry S. Truman, and nearly all the top brass in the Pentagon.

Led by a battle-scarred Marine of World War II, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), the leathernecks want Congress to order by law:

1. An authorized strength of 400,000, or about double the present manpower total.

2. A place at the top table of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for the Marine Corps commandant. The corps now gets representation only through the chief of naval operations, Adm. Forrest P. Sherman.

Douglas already has lined up 44 senators of both parties for the measure and Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont) has 65 House members backing identical legislation there.

The Marines have staged similar skirmishes before in Congress but appear to have a better chance for success this time.

Douglas told a reporter that the Senate Armed Services Committee expects to begin hearings Friday. He joined the Marines as a private in the last war and emerged a much-decorated and severely-wounded lieutenant colonel.

Wife Held In Mate's Baseball Bat Slaying

NARROWS, Va., April 8 (AP) — Police today arrested a Narrows mother who, they said, admitted she broke a baseball bat over her husband's head and then left him dying while she went to a movie.

Mrs. Rachel Spicer Huffer, 37, was charged with murder. The husband was identified as Woodrow W. Huffer, 38-year-old Narrows Motor Company shop foreman. He died yesterday.

Communist Paper Exposes Soviet Soccer Fix Scandal

MOSCOW, April 8 (AP) — Pravda exposed to the public gaze today a big Soviet soccer fix scandal. It carefully pointed out, however, that the fixer was motivated by love for the home team—not by the crass desire for monetary gain. Moreover, the fix didn't work.

The paper, organ of the Communist Party, named the central figure in the scandal as a "fixer" by the name of Bekbayev, who prior to his unsuccessful effort, had become somewhat of a figure out in Alma Ata, capital of the Kazakh republic.

He had "fixed" for himself, said Pravda, a post as director of the Kazakh Institute of Physical Culture, the title of "master of sport," a pleasant little home at the expense of the institute and a post as deputy chairman of the Kazakh Committee on Physical Culture and Sports.

He came to grief, like some others in different climes, when he tried to boost the home team by an off-the-field bit of strategy. The story, as told by Pravda, went like this:

Alma Ata's team met the team from Ashkhabad, capital of the

MacArthur's Proposal Opposed By Britain

LONDON, April 8 (AP) — Britain strongly objects to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's suggestion that Chinese Nationalist troops be sent to fight in Korea. Informed sources said today this British view would be presented informally but forcefully in Washington soon.

Publication of MacArthur's letter to Rep. Martin (R-Mass) favoring the use of Chiang Kai-Shek's troops has further inflamed British public opinion against the General's policies in the Far East.

New Civilian Materials Plan Will Hit Little Business, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

In a right-about face, Mobilizer Charlie Wilson has rejected a plan to impose total control over strategic materials for civilian use. This is a decision of great importance to American business, especially little business.

Wilson reported his plan privately to Defense Production Boss William Harrison with the blunt explanation: "We don't want any Russian-type of economy. We have to take care of civilian business."

What this means is that the Defense Department will get all the steel, copper and aluminum it needs, then the rest will be thrown wholesale to private industry to scramble over. Economists predict that larger manufacturers will be able to buy what they need, but little manufacturers will be left out in the cold.

The original plan was to impose total control on strategic materials — such as steel, copper and aluminum — so that all manufacturers would get a fair allocation. For example, the government would control the distribution of all steel for civilian use, giving defense needs first priority. Known as the controlled materials plan, this was all set to be announced on March 15. In fact, the publicity had been ready for a week in advance.

Then, the last minute, Wilson overruled the plan, and started to work on a modified, "open-end" controlled materials plan. This will give the government first priority for defense needs. But the law of the jungle will determine who gets the rest, and the big customer is sure to be favored.

RED POWER CENTER SHELLED

Counterblows Are Hurled At Allies

TOKYO, Monday, April 9 (AP)—American artillery today pounded the big Chinese Red power center of Chorwon, 17 miles north of Korea's 38th parallel.

The heavy shelling hit the western base of the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Hwachon triangle where the Reds have massed an estimated 500,000 men for their expected counteroffensive.

Below the eastern base, Allied troops battled fiercely resisting Chinese today on the southern rim of the Hwachon reservoir.

Gen. MacArthur's mid-morning communique said the Reds appear to have extended their power buildup westward to Haeju and Kumchon, two assembly centers 75 and 50 miles northwest of Seoul.

But a field dispatch by AP Correspondent John Randolph, reporting the shelling of Chorwon, said "the Chinese appeared to have pulled back all along the western and central fronts."

Reds Counterattack

Red troops hurled two stiff counterattacks Sunday at Allied troops advancing north of 38, along ridges to the rim of Hwachon reservoir.

The resistance on that central front sector, north of Chunchon, forced United Nations spearheads to withdraw temporarily.

AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw said artillery was called into action to help repulse the Red counterthrusts.

To the west, Allied reconnaissance patrols verified that Communist resistance also was building up north of the Hanton River, field dispatches said.

However, the main body of U. N. troops still had not made contact with the Reds in that area.

Only light, scattered resistance was reported on the eastern end of the Allied line.

The flareup of heavy fighting in the center coincided with an earnest warning from Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. S. Eighth Army commander, that there was no end of the Korean war in sight unless a political settlement was reached elsewhere—and he knew of no negotiations for such a settlement.

Reds Still Well Grouped

He told correspondents at an advance Eighth Army headquarters on the central front that if the American people expect a definite end of the war, "they should be disabused of the idea."

He said that, by keeping the initiative, the Eighth Army had chewed up the Communist "offensive potential," but the Reds still were "well grouped for offensive action" down three major corridors into South Korea.

Ridgway named there corridors: The Chorwon-Seoul axis in the west, the Kumhwa-Seoul axis in the west center and the Chunchon-Wonju route in the center.

"As far as the Communist leaders are concerned, this is an all-out, life-and-death struggle," Ridgway affirmed. "There is nothing temporary about Communist determination to destroy us completely."

Gen. MacArthur's Suggestion Puts Truman In Tight Corner

President Reported Considering Some Disciplinary Action Against Commander

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur's latest move into the arena of world politics — basically a call for recognition of Asia as the place to make the big fight to stop world Communism — has pushed President Truman into one of the tightest corners of his White House tenure.

The President is reported considering some disciplinary action against the General but is understood to have reached no decision on what—if anything—to do about it.

In this connection, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today:

"It now appears that the hatchet men of the administration have been turned loose to undermine the position of Gen. MacArthur and to force a reprimand or recall."

GOP Backing MacArthur

The two main pressures Mr. Truman has to balance against each other are generated by:

1. A GOP-led drive for adoption of the United Nations Far East commander's ideas, including a second front in China manned by Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists, partly to take pressure off Korea where Americans are fighting.

2. Mounting cries of fear from Allies who hold that such a course is the way to general war and possible long-run defeat, and that the ultimate contest must be in Europe.

That vise tightened today with a demand from Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) that Congress send a committee to consult MacArthur, a parallel demand from Sen. Knowland that MacArthur policies be chosen over those of Secretary of State Acheson, and a report that Britain is about to move directly for steps to curb the United Nations commander.

Close Decisions Remain

There is no indication of any intention of the administration's part to abandon its policy of limiting the present Korean fighting if it can, and putting the long range emphasis on Europe.

But there are close decisions still to make, such as (1) whether MacArthur has raised such a direct issue that the administration must take strong steps to allay Allies' fears and to maintain its own "face" in spite of the furore it would raise among MacArthur backers, and (2) whether there is so strong a chance of spreading war in the Orient that a crackdown on MacArthur would be bad for the future because of the reaction among Asian peoples and the effect on Americans who might feel the actions against the General handicapped him.

Less Buying Seen Curbing Price Climb

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicted today that a slackening in consumer buying may take some of the upward push out of prices during the next two or three months.

But such a development, it said, probably would be short-lived. Further expansion in government spending for defense during the summer, accompanied by a smaller output of consumer goods, was said to be likely to generate new pressure on prices.

Supplies At High Level

"Although production for defense is expanding, civilian supplies of most commodities, including food, are at a high level," said the bureau in an April report on the market and price outlook for farm products.

"Agricultural production for sale and consumption in the farm home in 1951 will probably exceed the previous record established in 1949, if weather conditions are average or better.

"Output of consumer durable goods, such as automobiles and television sets, has been substantially higher in recent months than in the first half of 1950 and only moderately below the record high levels attained in the last half of 1950."

Letup Will Be Temporary

"The bureau said that consumer buying, which has increased more than consumer income since last June, has recently shown some signs of abating.

"For the next few months price pressures may be moderate. Over the longer run, however, civilian supplies of some commodities, especially durable goods, are expected to be reduced while incomes will continue to expand.

"Consequently, inflationary pressures are likely to strengthen again later this year."

"Hard Core" Reds Set For Sabotage, FBI Director Says

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has told senators that a "hard core" of sabotage-trained Communists is ready to strike at vital industries if war comes.

Testifying before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, Hoover said that the present fifth column menace from 43,217 known Communists is "far greater than in the last war with the Nazis and subversive elements."

He said the Communists have a "hard core today dedicated to sabotage and to militant revolt against this country if and when the time comes," adding that sabotage "could be one of the most effective weapons the enemies of the United States could use."

Hoover's testimony, given in a series of closed door meetings with the subcommittee last month, was made available to the Associated Press.

Another Minn. Town Flooded

(By The Associated Press)

Floodwaters broke over another Minnesota town Sunday and the spring thaw brought threat of floods along the Red River running between Minnesota and North Dakota.

The swollen Minnesota River spilled over levees at North Mankato, in Southern Minnesota, and ran 18 inches deep down the town's main street. Officials ordered the town's 4,800 residents evacuated.

A flood warning was posted at Fargo, N. D., and Moorhead, Minn., lying on either side of the Red River. The stream was already over flood stage, 17 feet, and a federal meteorolgist predicted a crest of 26 or 27 feet Monday. Damage so far was minor.

West of the Mankato area, the Redwood River which covered most of Marshall, Minn., last week, was ebbing. The damage there was estimated at $1,000,000.

Flooded rivers in Alabama, Iowa and South Dakota also were subsiding.

Sen. Aiken Calls For End To Pay And Price Curbs

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said today the administration ought to remove all price and wage controls immediately.

British Protest In Row Over Oil Rejected By Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, April 8 (AP) — Premier Hussein Ala firmly but politely rejected Britain's protest against nationalization of the $500,000,000 strike-harrassed Anglo-Iranian Oil Company today.

In effect, he said the oil question was none of the British government's business.

The little diplomat, who reluctantly took power at the request of the Shah after the assassination of Premier Ali Razmara, made public the brief note after his first appearance before the Majlis, the lower house of parliament. Carefully walking a tight rope, he made no promises to the Majlis on the controversial oil issue.

A former United Nations delegate with pro-Western leanings, the Premier was bitterly criticized by one Nationalist deputy, Reza Ashtianizedeh. The deputy said the "oil company has reserved him (Ala) for 20 years to bring him to power at the present time."

Hershey Defends Students' Draft Deferment Plan

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, defended the proposed draft deferment program for college men today as both flexible and fair.

Hershey said in a radio broadcast he is confident draft boards will go along with the new plan, announced last week. It provides for the deferment of college men who are in the upper ranks scholastically or who score 70 or better in the test to be given at 1,000 colleges May 26, June 16, and June 30.

Lodge, VFW Attack Plan

The draft chief spoke shortly after Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) and the Veterans of Foreign Wars had attacked the plan in separate letters, both describing it as undemocratic and unfair.

At the same time Henery Chauncey, Princeton, N. J., president of the testing service which devised and will administer the tests, said it is useless for students to cram for it.

"They would be wiser to cram to be in the upper part of their class," Chauncey said.

The proposed test has been criticized as undemocratic and so liberal it may result in the deferment of 800,000 students otherwise eligible for service.

220,000 Students Eligible

U. S. Commissioner of Education Earl J. McGrath said Friday, however, that only 220,000 of the nation's 1,059,000 college men currently are eligible for the draft. He said the others are either war veterans, 4-Fs, ROTC members or under draft age.

McGrath added that even if the draft age is reduced from 19 to 18, only about 370,000 college students will be eligible for service.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex), a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said last week he will try to have the proposed test outlawed.

Hershey said in the broadcast that the committee of which Kilday is a member approved the test plan only two weeks ago.

Hope For Two Miners Ebbing

EVELETH, Minn., April 8, (INS) Rescue teams seeking two trapped miners 400 feet underground near Eveleth, Minn., said tonight they "hope" the men are alive but conceded that "it is beginning to look bad."

The miners, Frank Putzel, 42, and Tony Korteha, 55, have been entombed since 1 p. m. (CST) Friday when a cave-in blocked the entrance to their tunnel.

Two 10-man rescue teams, each group "backed up" by scores of other miners working between them and the surface, began tunneling towards the place where Putzel and Korteha were last seen but one of the emergency approaches was abandoned today.

A spokesman for the Oliver Iron Mining Company, which owns the Spruce mine where the men are trapped, said one of the rescue teams was attempting to cut a new tunnel to the pair but encountered solid rock. They decided against blasting in fear that it might bring down a new fall of rock, possibly on the men they were seeking to rescue.

Surprise! U. S. Agency To Turn Back Funds

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—A House Appropriations subcommittee asked for a pause to recover from shock when a government official announced his agency would turn back $30,000 to $40,000 of its 1951 appropriation unspent.

J. M. Mehl, administrator of the Commodity Exchange Authority, made the announcement during hearings on the agriculture appropriations bill, released for publication today. The agency's appropriation was $650,000.

Marines To Launch Attack On Capitol Hill This Week

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Those famed fighting men, the U. S. Marines, are set to launch a big attack in Congress this week, probably starting Friday.

And their shots may hit that old artillery man, Harry S. Truman, and nearly all the top brass in the Pentagon.

Led by a battle-scarred Marine of World War II, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), the leathernecks want Congress to order by law:

1. An authorized strength of 400,000, or about double the present manpower total.

2. A place at the top table of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for the Marine Corps commandant. The corps now gets representation only through the chief of naval operations, Adm. Forrest P. Sherman.

Douglas already has lined up 44 senators of both parties for the measure and Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont) has 65 House members backing identical legislation there.

The Marines have staged similar skirmishes before in Congress but appear to have a better chance for success this time.

Douglas told a reporter that the Senate Armed Services Committee expects to begin hearings Friday. He joined the Marines as a private in the last war and emerged a much-decorated and severely-wounded lieutenant colonel.

C-47 Plunges Into W. Va. Hill And Explodes

2 Survive Crackup Near Charleston

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 8 (AP)—Nineteen airmen bound for the funeral of a fellow flier perished today when their Air Force plane crashed and burst into flame on a rugged mountaintop near here. Two others survived.

The twin-engine craft, a C-47, crashed and burned atop a rugged, wooded ridge eight miles north of Charleston as it groped through a misty rain for Kanawha airport.

The nine officers and 12 enlisted men aboard were en route here to participate as an honor guard in the funeral of a fellow flyer killed in an airplane mishap last week.

The two survivors were identified at a Charleston hospital as Maj. Isaac E. Bonifas, Portland, Indiana, and Capt. Harry K. Blackhurst, Charleston. Both were badly burned about the head, face and hands. They were given a 50-50 chance of recovering.

"Awful Explosion" Heard

Most of those killed were members of the 167th Fighter Squadron, which was based here as a West Virginia Air National Guard unit before going into federal service. Most of the victims lived in the Charleston area.

The officer the Air Force group was coming to honor was buried with full military honors some three hours after the mishap. He was Maj. Woodford W. Sutherland, 34, St. Albans, W. Va., operations officer of the 167th, who was killed in a ground collision of two planes last Thursday at Eglin Field, Fla.

The plane carrying his funeral party had left the 167th's station at Godman Air Force Base, near Louisville, Ky., earlier today.

The communications tower at Kanawha airport said it was in contact with the plane at 11:53 a. m., as it approached the field. The next word was a telephone call from a resident near the scene reporting the crash. People living in the area reported hearing a plane, then an "awful explosion."

Woman Assists Survivors

Among the first persons to reach the smashed, flaming wreckage was Mrs. Goldie Seabolt, a farm wife living within a few hundred feet.

One of the survivors was on his feet, walking about in a dazed condition, Mrs. Seabolt said. She assisted both of the survivors to her house and gave them coffee while awaiting arrival of help.

Another resident of the area who reached the scene soon after the crash, Harry Pauley, said the bodies of two of the dead had been hurled some 50 feet from the plane and were burning. Persons on the scene extinguished the flames.

The plane apparently was banking in a turn on its approach to the airport when the crash came.

A wing caught a tall locust tree at the end of a ridge. The ship hit the ground and hurtled about 100 yards along the crest of the ridge before coming to a stop in flames.

Further Espionage Arrests Indicated

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP) — U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol said tonight his office is starting a whole new series of arrests for espionage.

Saypol made the statement in reply to a question on a radio program, station WOR's "This Week On The Communist Front."

Saypol, who prosecuted the recent case which brought death penalties to two convicted spies, was asked if he expected further spy arrests.

"We have gotten now sufficient information so that we are embarking on a series of prosecutions to stamp out this vice," he said.

David Snell, who conducts the radio show, asked Saypol if he meant that he was "embarking on a whole series of arrests."

"Oh, yes," the federal attorney replied.

Salesmanship Under Fire

ONCE I MET a man out West a good many years ago, who was then one of the big shots of his city, being head of the power company and owning most of the street railway lines. Interested in his success, I asked a friend how he got his start. He explained as follows,

"Well, you see, we had a big flood here when he was a young man, and a lot of logs came floating down the river. He told the Mexicans if they would wade in and pull the good-sized trees ashore, he would give them half of what he sold them for. The enterprise turned out fine for him."

Impressed by the opportunities in this country at every hand, it wasn't long before we made deals with several artists and writers to sell their stuff to the newspapers and pay them half of the revenue. So far it has been satisfactory all around. To try to expand the business, I went to the British Isles and was having lunch in the Savoy Hotel with Louis Tracy who wrote one great book called "Wings of the Morning." He was currently employed by his Majesty's Government which at the time was having some trouble with a group called the Sinn Feiners. When I told him I was planning to go to Ireland, he said,

"I'll give you a letter to Sir Basil Clarke in Dublin Castle."

"No thanks," I stated. "I hear those revolutionaries are hotter than a firecracker, and I don't want to be picked up with a letter to Sir Basil in my pocket. I might be dead before I had a chance to explain. Besides, I knew him when he was in the newspaper business."

Documents are dangerous things. If I had accepted, the missive would have been torn up before I had been in Dublin ten minutes, because armored cars were rushing about the streets looking for the Sinn Feiners, and once in a while you could hear the sound of shots. It was the toughest selling I ever encountered in a long career. After climbing a staircase braced with sandbags to see an editor, I found him working in his office with all his windows protected with sand cushions. I started to tell him I was sure his readers would appreciate it if he would put Mutt and Jeff in his paper. He interrupted me.

"Don't look now," he said, "but across the street in that building is a man with a machine gun pointed this way."

Whether he was on the level or not, I don't know. It certainly was an effective way to cool out a salesman. It wasn't long before I packed up my samples and departed—the first time I had tried peddling practically under fire. My next stop was Belfast, a quieter city at that time, and Sir William Baird, publisher of the Belfast Telegraph, invited me to lunch. When I met him in his office, I made the mistake of asking,

"Can you get any good Irish whisky here?"

He rang for a boy and sent out for a bottle, insisting we sample it at once. Between drinks, I managed to do quite a bit of business which, after all, was what I had gone there for. Following a sumptuous meal, he invited me to drive about and see the sights of the city. These were impressive, but he would keep punctuating the tour with a stop at a pub. Suddenly, I remembered Belfast was famous for its linens and decided to get a tablecloth as a present for my wife. Sir William had a friend in the business, but explained in order to get the best bargain, it might be well to take him to a pub for a preliminary discussion. I finally bought one so big we have never been able to spread it out in our dining room. I have thought of trying to sell it to Barnum and Bailey for a circus tent.

My host invited me to have dinner at his home which proved to be up in the hills on the edge of the city. As we drove along, he remarked,

"You know my first wife died, and I got married again about a year ago. Unfortunately, the current Lady Baird is very much opposed to liquor in all forms. But between here and my house is a roadside pub." We stopped.

Our arrival produced a chill in the household, and apparently I was blamed for the whole thing. Dinner was served in stunning silence. Irish hospitality kept coming up in my throat that night, as I crossed the rough Irish Sea.

Use these Powers routines to pick up the pieces of a neglected figure! They'll bring back youthful lines.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

A SPREADING abdomen destroys figure symmetry. It shouts "middle age," which is just another way of saying that its owner is going to pieces. The well-disciplined and properly cared for figure never speaks of its years. Grace and beauty are all that it suggests to the beholder.

I've known many women who have raised families, pursued a successful career and retained their attractive figures in magnificent fashion. This alone is proof enough that there is really no excuse for alowing yourself to grow out of the shape which nature intended for you.

Neglect, The Culprit

Any figure deterioration, especially a too-rounded abdomen, is the result of neglect. When you fail to wear a supporting foundation, when you fail to keep a tight rein on your abdominal muscles, and when you lapse into a routine of comfort and leisure, ignoring the importance of sensible exercise routine, maturity starts showing itself in its least attractive fashion.

You can regain any lost flat lines across the abdomen, if you start following this corrective routine at once. First check your weight. If it has increased even a few pounds above normal, start cutting your calories immediately.

However, only exercise will strengthen the muscles and firm the flesh. If you have not been exercising for some time, start with our easy "toner-upper." Keep at it for several days before you take on the more difficult "firmer-upper." A too-strenuous beginning does more harm than good.

Abdomen Flatteners

Toner-upper: Lie flat on your back on the floor and bend both knees so that your feet rest on the floor. Pull your abdominal muscles in hard until you can make the small of your back touch the floor. Holding this position, take five deep breaths. Relax and repeat five times. Increase gradually to twenty-five times.

Firmer-upper: Lie flat on your back with legs raised straight up. Very, very slowly lower both until you feel the small of your back begin to arch. Then immediately return your legs to starting position and repeat. Three times are enough at the beginning. Increase daily until you can do the exercise fifteen times in succession.

You will be well repaid in the youthful appearance that you regain!

Tomorrow: Formula for easy, beautiful living.

Area Men Will Get Draft Tests

Seventy-four area draft registrants, including 16 inductees and 58 men slated for physical examinations, will report today in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Entering the Army from Cumberland Board No. 28 will be Raymond Edward Allamong, 267 Williams Street; James Leon Davis, 12 Euclid Place; James Joseph Boyle, 212 Polk Street, and James Rummer, Flintstone.

Frostburg Board No. 30 will send Leroy L. Pape, Russell Myers and Joseph N. Klosterman, all of Eckhart; Robert I. Weir, Route 1, Lonaconing; John Johnson, Jr., and Calvin E. Hershberger, also of Lonaconing; Harold E. Wilt, Route 1, Westernport, and Cecil A. Schriver, Barton.

Inductees from Oakland Board No. 49 include Edward E. Steyer, Deer Park; William D. Shank, Kitzmiller; Phillip R. Ferguson, Mt. Lake Park, and Archie L. Warnick, Grantsville.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk co-ordinator here, said the two Allegany County contingents will leave Queen City Station this morning.

Accompanying them will be 17 registrants from Board No. 28 and 23 from the Frostburg board for pre-induction physical tests.

The four selectees of the Oakland board will leave there via train early in the morning. Eighteen other men will accompany them for physicals.

Hughes Hearing Set Wednesday

William J. Hughes, 24-year-old Midland man, will go on trial Wednesday in Washington County Circuit Court at Hagerstown on a charge of manslaughter in the death of a coal mine picket May 3, 1950.

Hughes was indicted by the grand jury last year in the death of Thomas Robertson, 43, of Lonaconing, who was struck by a truck operated by Hughes on the Old Coney Cemetery Road during picketing of mining operations.

A total of 37 witnesses have been summoned for the trial

Engineers Will Open Survey Of C. & O. Parkway

At the instigation of Representative J. Glenn Beall, engineers and police officers of the U. S. Department of the Interior will arrive in Cumberland today to begin a walking survey of the abandoned Chesapeake and Ohio Canal between here and Washington.

Starting at the local intake, immediately south of the Western Maryland Railway station, the U. S. investigators plan a tour of inspection that will last at least two weeks. Particular attention will be given to the accessibility of the canal route in relation to roads, railroads, towns and rivers. Information will be gathered from the residents along the way and engineering data will be assembled. The location of industry along the old waterway; hunting, and fishing statistics, and historical facts will be made part of the report scheduled to follow the inspection tour.

Barnhart Dies In Hospital

Howard Russell Barnhart, 45, of 707 Virginia Avenue, died Saturday in Memorial Hospital as the result of a gunshot wound in the right temple.

A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home.

Use these Powers routines to pick up the pieces of a neglected figure! They'll bring back youthful lines.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

A SPREADING abdomen destroys figure symmetry. It shouts "middle age," which is just another way of saying that its owner is going to pieces. The well-disciplined and properly cared for figure never speaks of its years. Grace and beauty are all that it suggests to the beholder.

I've known many women who have raised families, pursued a successful career and retained their attractive figures in magnificent fashion. This alone is proof enough that there is really no excuse for alowing yourself to grow out of the shape which nature intended for you.

Neglect, The Culprit

Any figure deterioration, especially a too-rounded abdomen, is the result of neglect. When you fail to wear a supporting foundation, when you fail to keep a tight rein on your abdominal muscles, and when you lapse into a routine of comfort and leisure, ignoring the importance of sensible exercise routine, maturity starts showing itself in its least attractive fashion.

You can regain any lost flat lines across the abdomen, if you start following this corrective routine at once. First check your weight. If it has increased even a few pounds above normal, start cutting your calories immediately.

However, only exercise will strengthen the muscles and firm the flesh. If you have not been exercising for some time, start with our easy "toner-upper." Keep at it for several days before you take on the more difficult "firmer-upper." A too-strenuous beginning does more harm than good.

Abdomen Flatteners

Toner-upper: Lie flat on your back on the floor and bend both knees so that your feet rest on the floor. Pull your abdominal muscles in hard until you can make the small of your back touch the floor. Holding this position, take five deep breaths. Relax and repeat five times. Increase gradually to twenty-five times.

Firmer-upper: Lie flat on your back with legs raised straight up. Very, very slowly lower both until you feel the small of your back begin to arch. Then immediately return your legs to starting position and repeat. Three times are enough at the beginning. Increase daily until you can do the exercise fifteen times in succession.

You will be well repaid in the youthful appearance that you regain!

Tomorrow: Formula for easy, beautiful living.

Hughes Hearing Set Wednesday

William J. Hughes, 24-year-old Midland man, will go on trial Wednesday in Washington County Circuit Court at Hagerstown on a charge of manslaughter in the death of a coal mine picket May 3, 1950.

Hughes was indicted by the grand jury last year in the death of Thomas Robertson, 43, of Lonaconing, who was struck by a truck operated by Hughes on the Old Coney Cemetery Road during picketing of mining operations.

A total of 37 witnesses have been summoned for the trial

Engineers Will Open Survey Of C. & O. Parkway

At the instigation of Representative J. Glenn Beall, engineers and police officers of the U. S. Department of the Interior will arrive in Cumberland today to begin a walking survey of the abandoned Chesapeake and Ohio Canal between here and Washington.

Starting at the local intake, immediately south of the Western Maryland Railway station, the U. S. investigators plan a tour of inspection that will last at least two weeks. Particular attention will be given to the accessibility of the canal route in relation to roads, railroads, towns and rivers. Information will be gathered from the residents along the way and engineering data will be assembled. The location of industry along the old waterway; hunting, and fishing statistics, and historical facts will be made part of the report scheduled to follow the inspection tour.

Barnhart Dies In Hospital

Howard Russell Barnhart, 45, of 707 Virginia Avenue, died Saturday in Memorial Hospital as the result of a gunshot wound in the right temple.

A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home.

The Old Second Guesser

By JOHN N. WHEELER

Salesmanship Under Fire

ONCE I MET a man out West a good many years ago, who was then one of the big shots of his city, being head of the power company and owning most of the street railway lines. Interested in his success, I asked a friend how he got his start. He explained as follows,

"Well, you see, we had a big flood here when he was a young man, and a lot of logs came floating down the river. He told the Mexicans if they would wade in and pull the good-sized trees ashore, he would give them half of what he sold them for. The enterprise turned out fine for him."

Impressed by the opportunities in this country at every hand, it wasn't long before we made deals with several artists and writers to sell their stuff to the newspapers and pay them half of the revenue. So far it has been satisfactory all around. To try to expand the business, I went to the British Isles and was having lunch in the Savoy Hotel with Louis Tracy who wrote one great book called "Wings of the Morning." He was currently employed by his Majesty's Government which at the time was having some trouble with a group called the Sinn Feiners. When I told him I was planning to go to Ireland, he said,

"I'll give you a letter to Sir Basil Clarke in Dublin Castle."

"No thanks," I stated. "I hear those revolutionaries are hotter than a firecracker, and I don't want to be picked up with a letter to Sir Basil in my pocket. I might be dead before I had a chance to explain. Besides, I knew him when he was in the newspaper business."

Documents are dangerous things. If I had accepted, the missive would have been torn up before I had been in Dublin ten minutes, because armored cars were rushing about the streets looking for the Sinn Feiners, and once in a while you could hear the sound of shots. It was the toughest selling I ever encountered in a long career. After climbing a staircase braced with sandbags to see an editor, I found him working in his office with all his windows protected with sand cushions. I started to tell him I was sure his readers would appreciate it if he would put Mutt and Jeff in his paper. He interrupted me.

"Don't look now," he said, "but across the street in that building is a man with a machine gun pointed this way."

Whether he was on the level or not, I don't know. It certainly was an effective way to cool out a salesman. It wasn't long before I packed up my samples and departed—the first time I had tried peddling practically under fire. My next stop was Belfast, a quieter city at that time, and Sir William Baird, publisher of the Belfast Telegraph, invited me to lunch. When I met him in his office, I made the mistake of asking,

"Can you get any good Irish whisky here?"

He rang for a boy and sent out for a bottle, insisting we sample it at once. Between drinks, I managed to do quite a bit of business which, after all, was what I had gone there for. Following a sumptuous meal, he invited me to drive about and see the sights of the city. These were impressive, but he would keep punctuating the tour with a stop at a pub. Suddenly, I remembered Belfast was famous for its linens and decided to get a tablecloth as a present for my wife. Sir William had a friend in the business, but explained in order to get the best bargain, it might be well to take him to a pub for a preliminary discussion. I finally bought one so big we have never been able to spread it out in our dining room. I have thought of trying to sell it to Barnum and Bailey for a circus tent.

My host invited me to have dinner at his home which proved to be up in the hills on the edge of the city. As we drove along, he remarked,

"You know my first wife died, and I got married again about a year ago. Unfortunately, the current Lady Baird is very much opposed to liquor in all forms. But between here and my house is a roadside pub." We stopped.

Our arrival produced a chill in the household, and apparently I was blamed for the whole thing. Dinner was served in stunning silence. Irish hospitality kept coming up in my throat that night, as I crossed the rough Irish Sea.

Capt. Krumbach Dies Of Wounds In Korean War

Luke Native Was 10-Year Veteran

LUKE — Captain Anthony Krumpach, 37, who died March 30 of wounds, is Luke's second fatality in the Korean War.

John Krumpach, the captain's brother, has just received a telegram from Mrs. W. B. Painter, Montgomery, Ala., notifying him of Anthony's death. Mrs. Painter is a sister of the captain's wife.

Wounded Good Friday

Mrs. Krumpach recently received a letter from a Red Cross worker that "Tony," as he was best known here, had been wounded on Good Friday, March 23. He was being sent back to Japan for another operation.

A graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport, Capt. Krumpach was employed as a welder at the Luke Plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company for 10 years before he enlisted in the Army at Cumberland in October, 1941.

During World War II Capt. Krumpach served in Africa, Sicily and Italy with the 36th Infantry and after the war he was promoted to first lieutenant.

Reenlists In 1945

After reenlisting in 1945 Capt. Krumpach was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.; Fort McClellan, Ala. and Fort Bragg, N. C. He visited his home here in November, 1949, after which he was assigned to the Panama Canal Zone where he was stationed nine months. He was transferred directly from there to Korea and while enroute to the latter place on the boat was promoted to captain September 27, last. He was a member of Company L, 56th Infantry known as the Puerto Rican Division.

Capt. Krumpach, who is a native of here, is a son of John Krumpach, Pratt Street, and the late Mrs. Romanna (Keiss) Krumpach. Survivors beside his wife, the former Agnes Culbert, who is employed in Anniston, Ala.; his father, and two brothers, John Krumpach, Keyser, W. Va., and Joseph Krumpach, Luke; also four sisters, Mrs. Rose Hall, Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Margaret Brandlen, Luke; Mrs. Elsie Reeves, Westernport-McCoole Road, and Mrs. Frances Morse, Cleveland, Ohio.

Tri-Town Stores May Alter Hours

PIEDMONT, W. Va., April 8 — The Tri-Towns merchants will meet at the Piedmont Library at 8 p. m. Wednesday to discuss whether to stay open on either Wednesday or Thursday evenings instead of the present Saturday evenings.

Ormal Hoover, manager of Lou's Auto Store, made the suggestion at a recent meeting of the Tri-Towns Chamber of Commerce.

Pay day at local industries occurs on Wednesday and Thursday, Hoover explained, and people would be encouraged to do more shopping locally if the stores were open on either of the two nights proposed.

A lot of the people go out of town on weekends and there is a decrease in Saturday night shopping, Hoover stated.

Reports were made on efforts by the chamber to have the West Virginia State Roads Commission improve the road from Piedmont to Shaw.

Miss Gleeson Heads Piedmont Women

PIEDMONT, W. Va — Miss Sue Gleeson was elected president of the Piedmont Woman's Club at a recent evening in the Piedmont Library. She succeeds Mrs. John E. Grindle.

Others selected were Mrs. Catherine Ledlow, first vice president; Mrs. E. J. Shaver, second vice president; Mrs. Larry Dimasi, treasurer, and Mrs. Carleton Bell, secretary.

Following the report of the nominating committee and election, the officers were installed by Mrs. J. E. Suter, a former president.

Mrs. Virgil Raines, chairman of the education committee, presided during the program. Miss Jane Botsford, supervisor of elementary education in Allegany county schools, was the speaker. She discussed "Adult Education".

Two piano selections were presented by Helen Metcalfe. Refreshments were served.

Frostburg Personals

Miss Ina K. Spitznas, a member of the faculty of Beall High School, is home after visiting friends and relatives in Baltimore during the spring vacation.

Miss Edna M. Miller, East Main Street, is home after spending her vacation with relatives in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, ill for the past ten days, is reported improving at her home, Ormond Street.

Mrs. Orgie Norris, this city, who teaches school in Prince Georges County, near Washington, D. C., spent the weekend here with relatives.

Mrs. James B. Lewis, Ormond Street, is a patient in Miners Hospital, where she was received Saturday after suffering a heart attack.

Thirty-two children have been enrolled to enter the first grade at Hill Street School and 32 were present for the pre-school clinic last week.

Tour Planned At Charles Town

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — Jefferson County's first historical tour is scheduled to take place Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 27, 28, and 29.

During that three day period the county's most historic homes, gardens and public buildings will be thrown open to the general public for the nominal price of a block ticket. Residents of Jefferson County, in colonial costumes, will be on hand at all points of interest to serve as hostesses to the hundreds of visitors expected to throng Jefferson County during the tour dates. Coming as it does at an advantageous time between Virginia Garden Week and the Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage, Jefferson County's historic tour seems assured of success.

Houses will be open each day of the tour between 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. Guides will be available and Information Booths are to be located on all principal highways leading into Jefferson County. Lunches and light refreshments will be available at several points.

Points of interest to be visited include the Jefferson County Court House and Happy Retreat in Charles Town; McMurran Hall, Rose Brake, Falling Springs and the Rumsey Monument in Shepherdstown; and the following historic mansions in the County: Harewood, Piedmont, Claymont Court, Blakeley, Cedar Lawn and Locust Hill.

Capt. Krumbach Dies Of Wounds In Korean War

Luke Native Was 10-Year Veteran

LUKE — Captain Anthony Krumpach, 37, who died March 30 of wounds, is Luke's second fatality in the Korean War.

John Krumpach, the captain's brother, has just received a telegram from Mrs. W. B. Painter, Montgomery, Ala., notifying him of Anthony's death. Mrs. Painter is a sister of the captain's wife.

Wounded Good Friday

Mrs. Krumpach recently received a letter from a Red Cross worker that "Tony," as he was best known here, had been wounded on Good Friday, March 23. He was being sent back to Japan for another operation.

A graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport, Capt. Krumpach was employed as a welder at the Luke Plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company for 10 years before he enlisted in the Army at Cumberland in October, 1941.

During World War II Capt. Krumpach served in Africa, Sicily and Italy with the 36th Infantry and after the war he was promoted to first lieutenant.

Reenlists In 1945

After reenlisting in 1945 Capt. Krumpach was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.; Fort McClellan, Ala. and Fort Bragg, N. C. He visited his home here in November, 1949, after which he was assigned to the Panama Canal Zone where he was stationed nine months. He was transferred directly from there to Korea and while enroute to the latter place on the boat was promoted to captain September 27, last. He was a member of Company L, 56th Infantry known as the Puerto Rican Division.

Capt. Krumpach, who is a native of here, is a son of John Krumpach, Pratt Street, and the late Mrs. Romanna (Keiss) Krumpach. Survivors beside his wife, the former Agnes Culbert, who is employed in Anniston, Ala.; his father, and two brothers, John Krumpach, Keyser, W. Va., and Joseph Krumpach, Luke; also four sisters, Mrs. Rose Hall, Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Margaret Brandlen, Luke; Mrs. Elsie Reeves, Westernport-McCoole Road, and Mrs. Frances Morse, Cleveland, Ohio.

Tri-Town Stores May Alter Hours

PIEDMONT, W. Va., April 8 — The Tri-Towns merchants will meet at the Piedmont Library at 8 p. m. Wednesday to discuss whether to stay open on either Wednesday or Thursday evenings instead of the present Saturday evenings.

Ormal Hoover, manager of Lou's Auto Store, made the suggestion at a recent meeting of the Tri-Towns Chamber of Commerce.

Pay day at local industries occurs on Wednesday and Thursday, Hoover explained, and people would be encouraged to do more shopping locally if the stores were open on either of the two nights proposed.

A lot of the people go out of town on weekends and there is a decrease in Saturday night shopping, Hoover stated.

Reports were made on efforts by the chamber to have the West Virginia State Roads Commission improve the road from Piedmont to Shaw.

Miss Gleeson Heads Piedmont Women

PIEDMONT, W. Va — Miss Sue Gleeson was elected president of the Piedmont Woman's Club at a recent evening in the Piedmont Library. She succeeds Mrs. John E. Grindle.

Others selected were Mrs. Catherine Ledlow, first vice president; Mrs. E. J. Shaver, second vice president; Mrs. Larry Dimasi, treasurer, and Mrs. Carleton Bell, secretary.

Following the report of the nominating committee and election, the officers were installed by Mrs. J. E. Suter, a former president.

Mrs. Virgil Raines, chairman of the education committee, presided during the program. Miss Jane Botsford, supervisor of elementary education in Allegany county schools, was the speaker. She discussed "Adult Education".

Two piano selections were presented by Helen Metcalfe. Refreshments were served.

Frostburg Personals

Miss Ina K. Spitznas, a member of the faculty of Beall High School, is home after visiting friends and relatives in Baltimore during the spring vacation.

Miss Edna M. Miller, East Main Street, is home after spending her vacation with relatives in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, ill for the past ten days, is reported improving at her home, Ormond Street.

Mrs. Orgie Norris, this city, who teaches school in Prince Georges County, near Washington, D. C., spent the weekend here with relatives.

Mrs. James B. Lewis, Ormond Street, is a patient in Miners Hospital, where she was received Saturday after suffering a heart attack.

Thirty-two children have been enrolled to enter the first grade at Hill Street School and 32 were present for the pre-school clinic last week.

Tour Planned At Charles Town

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — Jefferson County's first historical tour is scheduled to take place Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 27, 28, and 29.

During that three day period the county's most historic homes, gardens and public buildings will be thrown open to the general public for the nominal price of a block ticket. Residents of Jefferson County, in colonial costumes, will be on hand at all points of interest to serve as hostesses to the hundreds of visitors expected to throng Jefferson County during the tour dates. Coming as it does at an advantageous time between Virginia Garden Week and the Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage, Jefferson County's historic tour seems assured of success.

Houses will be open each day of the tour between 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. Guides will be available and Information Booths are to be located on all principal highways leading into Jefferson County. Lunches and light refreshments will be available at several points.

Points of interest to be visited include the Jefferson County Court House and Happy Retreat in Charles Town; McMurran Hall, Rose Brake, Falling Springs and the Rumsey Monument in Shepherdstown; and the following historic mansions in the County: Harewood, Piedmont, Claymont Court, Blakeley, Cedar Lawn and Locust Hill.

Capt. Krumbach Dies Of Wounds In Korean War

Luke Native Was 10-Year Veteran

LUKE — Captain Anthony Krumpach, 37, who died March 30 of wounds, is Luke's second fatality in the Korean War.

John Krumpach, the captain's brother, has just received a telegram from Mrs. W. B. Painter, Montgomery, Ala., notifying him of Anthony's death. Mrs. Painter is a sister of the captain's wife.

Wounded Good Friday

Mrs. Krumpach recently received a letter from a Red Cross worker that "Tony," as he was best known here, had been wounded on Good Friday, March 23. He was being sent back to Japan for another operation.

A graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport, Capt. Krumpach was employed as a welder at the Luke Plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company for 10 years before he enlisted in the Army at Cumberland in October, 1941.

During World War II Capt. Krumpach served in Africa, Sicily and Italy with the 36th Infantry and after the war he was promoted to first lieutenant.

Reenlists In 1945

After reenlisting in 1945 Capt. Krumpach was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.; Fort McClellan, Ala. and Fort Bragg, N. C. He visited his home here in November, 1949, after which he was assigned to the Panama Canal Zone where he was stationed nine months. He was transferred directly from there to Korea and while enroute to the latter place on the boat was promoted to captain September 27, last. He was a member of Company L, 56th Infantry known as the Puerto Rican Division.

Capt. Krumpach, who is a native of here, is a son of John Krumpach, Pratt Street, and the late Mrs. Romanna (Keiss) Krumpach. Survivors beside his wife, the former Agnes Culbert, who is employed in Anniston, Ala.; his father, and two brothers, John Krumpach, Keyser, W. Va., and Joseph Krumpach, Luke; also four sisters, Mrs. Rose Hall, Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Margaret Brandlen, Luke; Mrs. Elsie Reeves, Westernport-McCoole Road, and Mrs. Frances Morse, Cleveland, Ohio.

Tri-Town Stores May Alter Hours

PIEDMONT, W. Va., April 8 — The Tri-Towns merchants will meet at the Piedmont Library at 8 p. m. Wednesday to discuss whether to stay open on either Wednesday or Thursday evenings instead of the present Saturday evenings.

Ormal Hoover, manager of Lou's Auto Store, made the suggestion at a recent meeting of the Tri-Towns Chamber of Commerce.

Pay day at local industries occurs on Wednesday and Thursday, Hoover explained, and people would be encouraged to do more shopping locally if the stores were open on either of the two nights proposed.

A lot of the people go out of town on weekends and there is a decrease in Saturday night shopping, Hoover stated.

Reports were made on efforts by the chamber to have the West Virginia State Roads Commission improve the road from Piedmont to Shaw.

Miss Gleeson Heads Piedmont Women

PIEDMONT, W. Va — Miss Sue Gleeson was elected president of the Piedmont Woman's Club at a recent evening in the Piedmont Library. She succeeds Mrs. John E. Grindle.

Others selected were Mrs. Catherine Ledlow, first vice president; Mrs. E. J. Shaver, second vice president; Mrs. Larry Dimasi, treasurer, and Mrs. Carleton Bell, secretary.

Following the report of the nominating committee and election, the officers were installed by Mrs. J. E. Suter, a former president.

Mrs. Virgil Raines, chairman of the education committee, presided during the program. Miss Jane Botsford, supervisor of elementary education in Allegany county schools, was the speaker. She discussed "Adult Education".

Two piano selections were presented by Helen Metcalfe. Refreshments were served.

Frostburg Personals

Miss Ina K. Spitznas, a member of the faculty of Beall High School, is home after visiting friends and relatives in Baltimore during the spring vacation.

Miss Edna M. Miller, East Main Street, is home after spending her vacation with relatives in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, ill for the past ten days, is reported improving at her home, Ormond Street.

Mrs. Orgie Norris, this city, who teaches school in Prince Georges County, near Washington, D. C., spent the weekend here with relatives.

Mrs. James B. Lewis, Ormond Street, is a patient in Miners Hospital, where she was received Saturday after suffering a heart attack.

Thirty-two children have been enrolled to enter the first grade at Hill Street School and 32 were present for the pre-school clinic last week.

Tour Planned At Charles Town

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — Jefferson County's first historical tour is scheduled to take place Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 27, 28, and 29.

During that three day period the county's most historic homes, gardens and public buildings will be thrown open to the general public for the nominal price of a block ticket. Residents of Jefferson County, in colonial costumes, will be on hand at all points of interest to serve as hostesses to the hundreds of visitors expected to throng Jefferson County during the tour dates. Coming as it does at an advantageous time between Virginia Garden Week and the Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage, Jefferson County's historic tour seems assured of success.

Houses will be open each day of the tour between 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. Guides will be available and Information Booths are to be located on all principal highways leading into Jefferson County. Lunches and light refreshments will be available at several points.

Points of interest to be visited include the Jefferson County Court House and Happy Retreat in Charles Town; McMurran Hall, Rose Brake, Falling Springs and the Rumsey Monument in Shepherdstown; and the following historic mansions in the County: Harewood, Piedmont, Claymont Court, Blakeley, Cedar Lawn and Locust Hill.

Farm Manpower

The government's call upon American farmers to bring in during 1951 the largest quantities of food and fiber ever produced in the United States in any one year has raised the question of whether enough farm workers will be at hand at the end of the growing season to harvest the expanded crops. As sons are taken into the armed services and hired hands are attracted in increasing numbers to higher paying jobs in industry, farm operators hesitate to take on the costs of putting additional land under cultivation without assurance of adequate labor supplies.

A survey of farmers' planting plans made public in mid-March by the Department of Agriculture indicated that this year's farm production may fall considerably short of the national goals announced by the government six weeks earlier. The uncertainty of farmers over future labor supply has been assigned as the chief reason behind planned reductions in acreage.

Government officials have been reluctant to advance any specific estimates as to just how many farm workers will be needed this year because they say farm labor requirements as of any given time are affected by too many imponderables. But the National Grange estimates that one million additional workers will have to be recruited to attain full production on the farms. The figure is based on estimates of the number of agricultural workers going into the military services and the number leaving for city employment, plus the additional workers needed this year to harvest some 20 million more acres.

The present emergency period shows basic differences in farm production and employment, and in the national economy as a whole, from the conditions which existed in the defense period just before World War II. The country's labor force is now almost fully employed while in 1941 there were 5½ million unemployed. And the farm working force at this time can spare fewer men for defense industry and the armed forces because, in the first place, it is smaller, and, in the second, it is more difficult for farmers to replace men experienced in handling modern farm equipment.

Since the farmer can't meet the high wages of industry, his main attack has been aimed against the working of the Selective Service system. Farm people assert that taking a large number of farm boys into the service now will put brakes on farm production over a long period. In the immediate situation, they ask that special consideration be given to retaining on the farm a corps of highly experienced workers including equipment repairmen and other specialized personnel.

Most promising means of overcoming farm labor shortages are believed to be the recruitment of persons not now in the labor force and more efficient use of the migratory labor force for work on the farm at peak seasons. Fuller use of the services of people not normally engaged in agriculture including students, older persons, odd-job men and even housewives is recommended by farm manpower experts as the first resort. The United States Employment Service will undertake to see that migrant workers are kept at work continuously after they reach a community, and, when the peak of demand has passed in one community, that the migrants are routed to other areas with the least possible delay in order to hold loss of working time to a minimum.

In addition, provision for government importation of large numbers of foreign field workers to supplement domestic farm manpower is being urged upon Congress by areas with large-scale farming operations. Legislation to extend and supplement the United States-Mexican farm labor agreement of 1949 is now under consideration by committees of both houses.

Striking evidence of the gains in agricultural production that would be possible if the presently available farm labor force was used with greater efficiency has been presented in a report to the Joint Committee on the Economic Report by Sen. Sparkman's subcommittee on low-income families. The report cites figures to show that the equivalent of 2.5 million workers could be added to present farm manpower if the work capacity of all underemployed rural people were fully utilized.

Permanent ECA?

Although economic recovery in Western Europe has been "substantially achieved," President Truman will recommend to Congress that the ECA be maintained on a continuing basis "to help carry out the programs essential to the security of the free world." This proposal illustrates anew and in startling outline the Washington habit of never scrapping an agency that once has become a part of the government.

It may be conceded that the ECA has done a good job. The fact that it has finished its work a year ahead of its time table is testimony to that effect. It may even be admitted that it contains within its ranks men of outstanding ability who can perform a public service of high importance.

But the suggestion that the whole organization be kept alive reflects the kind of thinking which has fastened a tremendous bureaucracy upon the nation and caused a constant rise in the cost of running the government.

Before accepting Mr. Truman's recommendation that the ECA be continued—lock, stock and barrel—Congress should demand that he spell out, letter by letter, the new duties he has in mind. He should be asked to do better than to say merely that "new tasks have been forced upon us."

Toward European Unity

The Schuman plan for pooling the steel and coal of France, Germany and four other European nations, under international control, is now up to the signatory nations. If adopted, it should do much toward lessening the economic rivalries of Europe.

Approval of the Schuman formula is now leading to the next step, the formation of a unified agricultural market, with 16 countries as members, all the way from Ireland to Turkey. This is expected to increase production and stabilize prices. So far the idea has got no further than invitations by France, to the other nations involved, to join in working out a plan.

Just a few years ago these steps toward the unification of Europe would have seemed impossible, or at least unattainable for many years. The present activity testifies to a realistic appreciation of the necessity of scrapping the old national rivalries if Europe is to survive.

Being sent to bed by a bothersome case of flu is neither comfortable nor cheering for the bustling, active man. But at least he has an excuse to avoid shaving for a while.

It's Time To Think About Camps

AT THIS TIME of the year many children begin to look forward to going to a summer camp. It will be a new adventure for some and for others a renewal of old acquaintances and haunts. Such vacations have become an old American custom for boys and girls between the ages of 3 and 16.

The success of the venture depends largely upon the ability of the child to adjust when away home. Those who are secure in their family life do best. But this does not mean that the majority do not need some encouragement on separating from their parents. Furthermore, there is likely to be anxiety on both sides which as a rule escapes detection because it is well hidden.

There is one thing for certain, however, and that is that the youngster never should be led to believe that he is being sent away for the convenience of the family. Moreover, the attitude of the parents often governs the amount of apprehension. When the question of sickness enters the discussion, for example, the mother sometimes makes matters worse by taking a pessimistic attitude or saying, "Let's not worry about that, too." Everything will be fine if she tells the lad that a physician will be called should he become ill. It is poor policy also to build up the camp as a place where the boy or girl will learn to behave; "you wait and see what they will do if you won't eat, make your bed, or pick up your clothes." As a matter of fact the routine of the camp is not set up to correct bad habits or to handle a child as a trainer does in teaching obedience to animals.

Difficulty may arise in evaluating a camp and fitting it to the individual child. A timid youngster may have a hard time in a place where the going is rough. The reverse also is true. It has been said that most camps fall into one of two categories. The first is the competitive type that emphasizes teamwork and group rivalry; the guest is encouraged to develop a strong sense of loyalty to his cabin mates, troop, and den. This is the camp for the child who likes to overcome all competition and rivalry. The second is noncompetitive; more emphasis is placed upon individual freedom and intuition. This varety resembles so-called progressive schools.

• — • — •

In the past only the healthy were permitted to go to camp. Nowadays more and more organizations are providing such opportunities for children with heart troubles and diabetes. Similar camps also are available for little ones who are physically handicapped or emotionally disturbed. Some are day camps located in parks or forest preserves near the city. They are less expensive because they do not provide constant 24 hours a day care. They do require counselors who are specially trained to handle the type of incapacity present. Here the youngster is taught new skills and learns to live and play with other children to encourage adaptability, reliance, and independence.

Camps are available for the entire family. These are more suitable when the offspring are too young to be left alone or the family is unable to afford a vacation for themselves as well as camp for the sons and daughters.

BAD TEMPERED

Mrs. G. P. writes: What's wrong with a man of 47 with such a violent temper that he will damage his own property if frustrated? Is it high blood pressure?

REPLY

No. Formerly, we said that such outbursts were caused by getting up on the wrong side of the bed. Nowadays we say these people are temperamental. High blood pressure is likely to be a result rather than a cause of this type of behavior, consequently this man is doing more harm to himself than to the furniture.

LEUKEMIA

R. T. writes: What is lymphatic leukemia and what is being done for it?

REPLY

In this disease the lymph tissues thruout the body become overactive and manufacture excessive amounts of white blood cells [lymphocytes]. The output may be so large that the blood becomes milky in appearance. Leukemia has been referred to as "cancer of the blood." The condition often is helped by X-ray treatments or utilizing aminopterin or nitrogen mustard. An absolute cure still is lacking.

SWEETS AND THE SKIN

L. D. writes: I started to eat candy and cake in between meals to gain weight but now I have pimples. Could the sweets be responsible?

REPLY

Yes. Many individuals are forced to limit their intake of chocolate and other confections if they want to preserve a clear complexion. Why not try a glass of milk between meals?

Allied Troops Plan Demonstration Of Solidarity; GOP Leaders Dodge Corrupt Practices Charge; Cruisers Mar Latin-American Friendship

WASHINGTON—At General Eisenhower's headquarters in Paris last month plans were being made to land the 4th Infantry Division at Cherbourg or Havre in a sort of peacetime Normandy beachhead operation and march it up the Champs Elysees as a symbol of American-Allied solidarity. At that time the division was scheduled to arrive about the first week in April.

The Senate debate delayed these plans, of course, but this may have been a blessing in disguise. For plans were also under discussion to have the British land their 11th Armored Division in France on the same day that the first American troops arrived; and to have a French division prepared simultaneously to meet them.

This show of solidarity is one of the most important things needed in Europe today. There has been too much arguing over who would supply what; over how many troops this country would furnish against that country.

What Europe and the United States need most is confidence—confidence in each other and confidence in themselves.

The arrival of three divisions—French, British and American—in France for entrainment to Germany at exactly the same time, would give a greater feeling of confidence than any other single gesture.

It is a mistake for the United States to send too many troops to Europe in a hurry, for the Europeans have the impression anyway that we are pushing them into war. It would also be a mistake for France and England not to match our 4th Division immediately, because many Americans have the impression that we are shouldering the whole arms burden.

Therefore, when the 4th Division hits Normandy sometime in late April or early May, it should be the occasion of a great and simultaneous show of mutual confidence—with new French and British divisions joining in a gigantic Allied parade up the Champs Elysees.

Campaign Violations

There is a good reason why Republican leaders are suddenly demanding that the Senate probe of the Maryland senatorial campaign be terminated forthwith. Reason is that the sluggish Justice Department is beginning to prick up its ears about possible violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

This was an act put on the statute books in order to keep huge amounts of money from being dumped into congressional and presidential campaigns. The law was written for the excellent reason that when a candidate or political party receives too much dough from any one source—whether big corporation, executive or labor union—that senator tends to be owned by his financial backer.

He votes in the Senate not for the people who voted for him, but for those who contributed to him.

In recent years both Democrats and Republicans have been thumbing their noses at this law. But with the recent cleanups of Democratic Senators Fulbright, Kefauver et al, which have hit the Democrats, there is increasing sentiment for enforcing the Corrupt Practices Act—which may also hit some Republicans.

In Maryland for instance, Charles Tuttle of Rustless Steel gave $8,000 to the GOP-Butler campaign against Senator Tydings. This was in violation of the law, because $5,000 is the top limit of any single contribution. But after the $8,000 item was filed and Butler's headquarters realized that this violated the law, they hurriedly claimed that part of the $8,000 was "just a loan."

Then, on February 27, long after the November election, Jon Jonkel, Chicago-loaned manager for Butler's campaign, suddenly discovered that he had forgot to file around $27,000 in contributions.

It is significant that Jonkel's memory was jogged—five months after the elections—by the fact that a Democratic investigator for the Monroney Committee had discovered $27,300 worth of expenditures which the Republicans failed to report. This was on February 17. On February 18 a meeting was held in the hotel apartment of Senator Brewster, chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, attended by Senator Butler, his attorney, and an attorney for the Chicago Tribune's Washington Times-Herald. The latter newspaper was masterminding the anti-Tydings campaign.

It was just after this that Butler's campaign manager (also supplied him by the Chicago Tribune group) suddenly remembered $27,000 of contributions that had slipped his mind back in November. Hurriedly he filed them.

That is why Senators Wherry of Nebraska and Welker of Idaho are vigorously demanding the end of the Maryland probe. But they too seem to have bad memories. For during the 80th GOP-controlled Congress, the Senate held an election probe in Maryland which lasted two years. That time, however, they were investigating Senator O'Conor, a Democrat. Now the Democrats are investigating a Republican—though for only three months, not two years.

Cruisers Win Enemies

Latin-American diplomats are too polite to talk about it publicly, but there has been a lot of private grousing over American stupidity in sending two American cruisers to Argentina just at a time when Dictator Peron was consistently and vigorously kicking Uncle Sam on the shins.

While the State Department also sold two cruisers each to two old friends, Chile and Brazil, unfortunately the two cruisers which Argentina got not only completely nullified the effect of the gestures to Brazil and Chile but made them sore as blazes.

In fact, public opinion in both Brazil and Chile today is probably more critical of the U.S.A. than at any other time, partly because of these cruisers.

"If the United States rewards its critics, as it did Argentina," say a lot of Brazilians, "then perhaps we should be critics too. Apparently the State Department believes in kicking its friends and helping its enemies."

Self-Protection

By ROGER W. BABSON

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8—For some time, I have been advising my readers who live in large cities to have—as insurance—a small house with enough land to feed one's family and far enough away from the large city to be safe in case of World War III. I am not recommending farming as a small business, as it is fast becoming a 'big business" operation. It is very difficult for an inexperienced person, without much capital, to compete with big farmers. As insurance, however, I believe such a small place in the country is the cheapest, safest and most sensible insurance a family can buy, after being insured against fire.

Being Smug Will Not Pay

I am now getting letters from readers saying: "We already have a house to which we can flee in an emergency. Hence, we are okay whatever happens." This week I wish to remind such readers that they have forgotten the "refugee problem." It is very possible that when you reach your "hide-away" you will find it already occupied by others who have fled from a large city and—by permission of the Red Cross or some state official—have already taken possession. The rule may be that the first refugees who reach an unoccupied house—or an occupied house with empty rooms—can take possession, whoever the owner may be.

Hence, it is important that we (who think we are well provided with a safe refuge) should wake up and do something now, to prepare for an abrupt surprise! This applies not only to those who are planning to flee to a summer place in the country, but also to those who now live smugly in the quiet suburbs of some city which may be bombed. Such houses will be occupied by strangers if we leave them vacant—while we must share them with strangers if we remain in them. In case of enemy bombing, refugees will be given any empty beds whenever needed.

"What shall we home owners do?" you ask. Let me reply that our future safety depends upon getting interested now in helping the other fellow. If a city within 75 miles is bombed, only those who are truly unselfishly interested in helping the refugees will save their own homes, whether in a city suburb or in a little farm or village. This means we should now become an active Red Cross or refugee worker. We should now study first-aid nursing and emergency diet. We should now definitely plan to take strange people into our homes either in entirety or in part, in case of need. If we have a barn or garage or empty building, we should now fix it up for refugees. Our personal safety will then depend not upon how much money we have, but how much we are doing for other people who have lost everything. Only our generosity will save us. Smugness and the feeling that we will get preferential treatment because of our houses, our money, our social standing or our political pull could land us in a concentration camp.

Cease Being An "Anti"

It is very important that we at once quit being an "anti" and now train ourselves and our children to care and share with others. It seems as if everyone with whom I talk is "anti-something." Some families are anti-Jewish, others anti-Negroes, others anti-Catholics and others anti-Protestants, or anti-Labor or anti-Capital! Then, I find one family is anti-Truman and the family next door is anti-Taft, or anti-something else. Some are for World Federation, in which I believe, and others laugh at me. To save our own necks we must forget this "anti-stuff" and remember Jesus' profound statement: "If we are to save our lives we must be willing to lose our lives."

All of us are more or less "anti" on our foreign policy—whether to follow Hoover or Dewey, or Acheson. I especially wish the United Nations could quit its childish debating about "who cast the first stone." It should unite on some constructive policy providing all countries with their just peace needs of oil, food and other necessary raw materials. This is the only way War III can be prevented. Our hope and safety lies not with more bombers, more ships and more ground troops, but in assuring the world of the Four Freedoms which we offered them nearly ten years ago. But, in the meantime, let all of us plan something for the refugees in case some city near us is bombed.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The National Police Force

J. EDGAR HOOVER has an opportunity to extend his authority, to build his empire hugely, to obtain increased funds from Congress for the FBI. Astonishingly, he rejects the prospects. No one ever heard of a Washington bureaucrat refusing more power and more money.

Yet in the face of a great demand that something should be done to rescue the country from racketeers, dope peddlers, fixers, crooked politicians and money-hungry middlemen, Hoover said this to the Kefauver Committee:

"This nation has no need for a national police force. Cries frequently are heard that America, to meet 'the problems of the day,' must create a master, over-all law enforcement agency, whose authority would extend to every nook and cranny of the nation. I disagree with this attitude. My experience has demonstrated that the present system of law enforcement, national, state and local, is the best system. The peace officer must be the servant of the people—protecting their interests and responding to their will. The law enforcement agency must be an integral part of the community. Otherwise, the American system of democratic government would be defiled."

In all the excitement engendered by the Kefauver investigation, three facts stand out:

1. The law must be enforced, but no matter what the urgency, our civil liberties must not be imperiled and our structural relations between the federal, the state and municipal governments must not be altered.

For many years, many reformers have tried to abolish state governments. At one time, the new dealers tried to cut the United States into regions which would override the states. These efforts failed, but we can destroy our structure by the careless use of our own enthusiasms. J. Edgar Hoover is to be praised for rejecting a trap which would put him at the head of a gestapo.

2. It is true that the Mafia does operate in the United States as the Communist party operates in the United States. Neither of them could operate if the American people were alert and if our officials enforced the law, Hoover said:

"There can be no concealment of the fact that law enforcement has not always performed at peak expectations. The fault is not in the system but in the way it works. The American people, if they desire competent, efficient and effective administration of justice, must be willing to provide financial means; moral support; and a practical realization of the responsibilities of citizenship. A police department, understaffed, underpaid, and ill-equipped, cannot properly fulfill its duties. Lack of public interest may allow a small minority of peace officers, aided and abetted by corrupt politicians, crooked prosecutors and underworld 'fixers,' to bring shame upon the profession. Action is needed, not to revamp the fundamental structure of American law enforcement, but to strengthen, in technical skill, character and esprit de corps, the existing institutions."

In the shift from a rural to an urban population, a serious change took place in the attitude of the American people to civic responsibilities. Shifting populations add to that the characteristics of a rootless people. Public standards toboggan when the public lacks concern.

It is perhaps a pity that, in recent years, we have become so concerned with foreign affairs and wars and the fears of wars that interest in our own affairs has unfortunately shifted, particularly in metropolitan areas where little attention is paid to what is done by public officials.

In fact, in cities like New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, to mention three, elections often hinge on extraneous issues which are in no manner related to a candidate's fitness for the office for which he is running. As long as the people elect an official that way, we shall have poor officials.

3. We have a way of regarding any successful man as a celebrity—even a successful ex-bootlegger or a successful current fixer. J. Edgar Hoover said of this:

". . . Too frequently, when pressures mount in local communities by reason of dissatisfaction with conditions, leaders, either to escape the wrath of citizens or to conceal their own inability to cope with situations, have advanced the alibi that 'this is a job for the federal government.' The time has come to take stock. The federal government can never be a satisfactory substitute for local self-government in the enforcement field."

Matter Of Fact

Time Table For Strength

WASHINGTON,

IT MAY BE, as Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn broadly hinted to his hair-raising statement in the House on Wednesday, that Soviet intervention in Korea, the perlude to a third world war, is imminent. But there is no really new or really firm evidence that this is so. And there are reasons for believing that Rayburn was consciously employing a sort of shock treatment, in order to puncture the complacency, which, as he said, is "lulling the American people to sleep."

This complacency, which you can almost smell on Capitol Hill, now worries responsible leaders like Rayburn as much as the fear of immediate war. One trouble certainly is that no national leader has yet really spelled out, in terms of money spent, arms produced and men at work, the true nature of the long and terribly hard task which lies ahead, if Soviet imperialism is not to triumph.

Yet there exists a detailed, well-thought-out program, with a single objective—so to strengthen the free world that the Soviets will not be tempted to risk war, even when they have built a decisive stockpile of atomic bombs. It is worth trying to understand just what this program is. For, if there is no war, or if Congress does not invite war by hacking it to pieces, this long-range plan will set the whole pattern of life in this country for the next three or four years. The time table for recreating strength is as follows:

Increase Not Immediate

By June, 30, 1951, the end of the present fiscal year, Congress will have appropriated $57,000,000,000 for rearmament, including foreign military aid, according to present plans. Yet this great sum of money will not and cannot result in a immediate comparable increase in armed strength. Only about $12,000,000,000 can be spent for arms and for other goods which the free world must have to survive, simply because it takes time to get American defense production, slowed to a crawl in the Johnson era, into high gear. Even so, by this summer, 7,000,000 Americans will either be in uniform or directly engaged in defense work.

Plans call for the appropriation of another $66,000,000,000 for American and European defense by the end of fiscal 1952. By this time, defense production will be hitting its stride, and almost $40,000,000,000 of this money will be translated into defense goods, from B-36s to chow for the GIs. Almost 11,000,000 people will be engaged in national defense.

By June 30, 1953, some $60,000,000,000 more will have been appropriated, well over $11,000,000 Americans will be working to strengthen our defenses, and a full $50,000,000,000 war goods will come out of the machines. After this, according to the program, the leveling-off period will begin. In fiscal 1954, appropriations of $40,000,000,000 will produce almost the same value in war goods, because of carryovers from previous years. By 1955, this country and its allies will have reached a really formidable level of military strength.

Then it will no longer be a question of a rapid build-up, but rather of maintaining the strength that has been built. Defense appropriations of $35,000,000,000 a year, which this country's economy can carry quite easily, and the production of about $20,000,000,000 of defense goods yearly, should then be enough.

Truman Does Not Enspire

Thus this plan for preventing war by removing from the Soviets the temptation to make war calls for the spending of a staggering $260,000,000,000 by 1955 for rearmament purposes alone. Even this may not be enough to achieve the object. Yet surely it is sheer chuckleheaded nonsense to talk as though a temporary budget surplus of $2,000,000,000 or $3,000,000,000 gives grounds for complacency. Surely it is insanity to talk as though this sort of program could be overlaid on a

Try And Stop Me

Mr. Malcolm's wife was dead for a full year, and still the bereaved widower showed no signs of recovering his spirits. Alarmed friends persuaded him to consult an analyst. After a long talk, the analyst said, "No wonder you're melancholy! A man of your age needs some female companionship."

Malcolm protested this would be unfaithful to the memory of his departed wife, but the analyst scoffed, "Nonsense! The living cannot exist on memories. Take a girl out. I prescribe this as your doctor." Half convinced, Malcolm announced sheepishly that he didn't even know a girl. "That's easily remedied," said the analyst, reaching for a pad and pencil. "Just take this slip to Mary Blank at this address on East 61st Street, and she'll be glad to go out with you."

Mr. Malcolm found Miss Blank's company satisfactory in every respect. As he was bidding her an affectionate adieu, she reminded him, "Most of my boy friends leave a little token of their esteem. Shall we say twenty-five dollars?" Mr. Malcolm was rather taken aback, but rallied quickly. ""Okay," he said, "here's the twenty-five, but I'd like a written receipt if you don't mind. I belong to the Blue Shield Health Plan, and they take care of all my medical expenses."

Farm Manpower

The government's call upon American farmers to bring in during 1951 the largest quantities of food and fiber ever produced in the United States in any one year has raised the question of whether enough farm workers will be at hand at the end of the growing season to harvest the expanded crops. As sons are taken into the armed services and hired hands are attracted in increasing numbers to higher paying jobs in industry, farm operators hesitate to take on the costs of putting additional land under cultivation without assurance of adequate labor supplies.

A survey of farmers' planting plans made public in mid-March by the Department of Agriculture indicated that this year's farm production may fall considerably short of the national goals announced by the government six weeks earlier. The uncertainty of farmers over future labor supply has been assigned as the chief reason behind planned reductions in acreage.

Government officials have been reluctant to advance any specific estimates as to just how many farm workers will be needed this year because they say farm labor requirements as of any given time are affected by too many imponderables. But the National Grange estimates that one million additional workers will have to be recruited to attain full production on the farms. The figure is based on estimates of the number of agricultural workers going into the military services and the number leaving for city employment, plus the additional workers needed this year to harvest some 20 million more acres.

The present emergency period shows basic differences in farm production and employment, and in the national economy as a whole, from the conditions which existed in the defense period just before World War II. The country's labor force is now almost fully employed while in 1941 there were 5½ million unemployed. And the farm working force at this time can spare fewer men for defense industry and the armed forces because, in the first place, it is smaller, and, in the second, it is more difficult for farmers to replace men experienced in handling modern farm equipment.

Since the farmer can't meet the high wages of industry, his main attack has been aimed against the working of the Selective Service system. Farm people assert that taking a large number of farm boys into the service now will put brakes on farm production over a long period. In the immediate situation, they ask that special consideration be given to retaining on the farm a corps of highly experienced workers including equipment repairmen and other specialized personnel.

Most promising means of overcoming farm labor shortages are believed to be the recruitment of persons not now in the labor force and more efficient use of the migratory labor force for work on the farm at peak seasons. Fuller use of the services of people not normally engaged in agriculture including students, older persons, odd-job men and even housewives is recommended by farm manpower experts as the first resort. The United States Employment Service will undertake to see that migrant workers are kept at work continuously after they reach a community, and, when the peak of demand has passed in one community, that the migrants are routed to other areas with the least possible delay in order to hold loss of working time to a minimum.

In addition, provision for government importation of large numbers of foreign field workers to supplement domestic farm manpower is being urged upon Congress by areas with large-scale farming operations. Legislation to extend and supplement the United States-Mexican farm labor agreement of 1949 is now under consideration by committees of both houses.

Striking evidence of the gains in agricultural production that would be possible if the presently available farm labor force was used with greater efficiency has been presented in a report to the Joint Committee on the Economic Report by Sen. Sparkman's subcommittee on low-income families. The report cites figures to show that the equivalent of 2.5 million workers could be added to present farm manpower if the work capacity of all underemployed rural people were fully utilized.

Permanent ECA?

Although economic recovery in Western Europe has been "substantially achieved," President Truman will recommend to Congress that the ECA be maintained on a continuing basis "to help carry out the programs essential to the security of the free world." This proposal illustrates anew and in startling outline the Washington habit of never scrapping an agency that once has become a part of the government.

It may be conceded that the ECA has done a good job. The fact that it has finished its work a year ahead of its time table is testimony to that effect. It may even be admitted that it contains within its ranks men of outstanding ability who can perform a public service of high importance.

But the suggestion that the whole organization be kept alive reflects the kind of thinking which has fastened a tremendous bureaucracy upon the nation and caused a constant rise in the cost of running the government.

Before accepting Mr. Truman's recommendation that the ECA be continued—lock, stock and barrel—Congress should demand that he spell out, letter by letter, the new duties he has in mind. He should be asked to do better than to say merely that "new tasks have been forced upon us."

Toward European Unity

The Schuman plan for pooling the steel and coal of France, Germany and four other European nations, under international control, is now up to the signatory nations. If adopted, it should do much toward lessening the economic rivalries of Europe.

Approval of the Schuman formula is now leading to the next step, the formation of a unified agricultural market, with 16 countries as members, all the way from Ireland to Turkey. This is expected to increase production and stabilize prices. So far the idea has got no further than invitations by France, to the other nations involved, to join in working out a plan.

Just a few years ago these steps toward the unification of Europe would have seemed impossible, or at least unattainable for many years. The present activity testifies to a realistic appreciation of the necessity of scrapping the old national rivalries if Europe is to survive.

Being sent to bed by a bothersome case of flu is neither comfortable nor cheering for the bustling, active man. But at least he has an excuse to avoid shaving for a while.

It's Time To Think About Camps

AT THIS TIME of the year many children begin to look forward to going to a summer camp. It will be a new adventure for some and for others a renewal of old acquaintances and haunts. Such vacations have become an old American custom for boys and girls between the ages of 3 and 16.

The success of the venture depends largely upon the ability of the child to adjust when away home. Those who are secure in their family life do best. But this does not mean that the majority do not need some encouragement on separating from their parents. Furthermore, there is likely to be anxiety on both sides which as a rule escapes detection because it is well hidden.

There is one thing for certain, however, and that is that the youngster never should be led to believe that he is being sent away for the convenience of the family. Moreover, the attitude of the parents often governs the amount of apprehension. When the question of sickness enters the discussion, for example, the mother sometimes makes matters worse by taking a pessimistic attitude or saying, "Let's not worry about that, too." Everything will be fine if she tells the lad that a physician will be called should he become ill. It is poor policy also to build up the camp as a place where the boy or girl will learn to behave; "you wait and see what they will do if you won't eat, make your bed, or pick up your clothes." As a matter of fact the routine of the camp is not set up to correct bad habits or to handle a child as a trainer does in teaching obedience to animals.

Difficulty may arise in evaluating a camp and fitting it to the individual child. A timid youngster may have a hard time in a place where the going is rough. The reverse also is true. It has been said that most camps fall into one of two categories. The first is the competitive type that emphasizes teamwork and group rivalry; the guest is encouraged to develop a strong sense of loyalty to his cabin mates, troop, and den. This is the camp for the child who likes to overcome all competition and rivalry. The second is noncompetitive; more emphasis is placed upon individual freedom and intuition. This varety resembles so-called progressive schools.

• — • — •

In the past only the healthy were permitted to go to camp. Nowadays more and more organizations are providing such opportunities for children with heart troubles and diabetes. Similar camps also are available for little ones who are physically handicapped or emotionally disturbed. Some are day camps located in parks or forest preserves near the city. They are less expensive because they do not provide constant 24 hours a day care. They do require counselors who are specially trained to handle the type of incapacity present. Here the youngster is taught new skills and learns to live and play with other children to encourage adaptability, reliance, and independence.

Camps are available for the entire family. These are more suitable when the offspring are too young to be left alone or the family is unable to afford a vacation for themselves as well as camp for the sons and daughters.

BAD TEMPERED

Mrs. G. P. writes: What's wrong with a man of 47 with such a violent temper that he will damage his own property if frustrated? Is it high blood pressure?

REPLY

No. Formerly, we said that such outbursts were caused by getting up on the wrong side of the bed. Nowadays we say these people are temperamental. High blood pressure is likely to be a result rather than a cause of this type of behavior, consequently this man is doing more harm to himself than to the furniture.

LEUKEMIA

R. T. writes: What is lymphatic leukemia and what is being done for it?

REPLY

In this disease the lymph tissues thruout the body become overactive and manufacture excessive amounts of white blood cells [lymphocytes]. The output may be so large that the blood becomes milky in appearance. Leukemia has been referred to as "cancer of the blood." The condition often is helped by X-ray treatments or utilizing aminopterin or nitrogen mustard. An absolute cure still is lacking.

SWEETS AND THE SKIN

L. D. writes: I started to eat candy and cake in between meals to gain weight but now I have pimples. Could the sweets be responsible?

REPLY

Yes. Many individuals are forced to limit their intake of chocolate and other confections if they want to preserve a clear complexion. Why not try a glass of milk between meals?

Allied Troops Plan Demonstration Of Solidarity; GOP Leaders Dodge Corrupt Practices Charge; Cruisers Mar Latin-American Friendship

WASHINGTON—At General Eisenhower's headquarters in Paris last month plans were being made to land the 4th Infantry Division at Cherbourg or Havre in a sort of peacetime Normandy beachhead operation and march it up the Champs Elysees as a symbol of American-Allied solidarity. At that time the division was scheduled to arrive about the first week in April.

The Senate debate delayed these plans, of course, but this may have been a blessing in disguise. For plans were also under discussion to have the British land their 11th Armored Division in France on the same day that the first American troops arrived; and to have a French division prepared simultaneously to meet them.

This show of solidarity is one of the most important things needed in Europe today. There has been too much arguing over who would supply what; over how many troops this country would furnish against that country.

What Europe and the United States need most is confidence—confidence in each other and confidence in themselves.

The arrival of three divisions—French, British and American—in France for entrainment to Germany at exactly the same time, would give a greater feeling of confidence than any other single gesture.

It is a mistake for the United States to send too many troops to Europe in a hurry, for the Europeans have the impression anyway that we are pushing them into war. It would also be a mistake for France and England not to match our 4th Division immediately, because many Americans have the impression that we are shouldering the whole arms burden.

Therefore, when the 4th Division hits Normandy sometime in late April or early May, it should be the occasion of a great and simultaneous show of mutual confidence—with new French and British divisions joining in a gigantic Allied parade up the Champs Elysees.

Campaign Violations

There is a good reason why Republican leaders are suddenly demanding that the Senate probe of the Maryland senatorial campaign be terminated forthwith. Reason is that the sluggish Justice Department is beginning to prick up its ears about possible violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

This was an act put on the statute books in order to keep huge amounts of money from being dumped into congressional and presidential campaigns. The law was written for the excellent reason that when a candidate or political party receives too much dough from any one source—whether big corporation, executive or labor union—that senator tends to be owned by his financial backer.

He votes in the Senate not for the people who voted for him, but for those who contributed to him.

In recent years both Democrats and Republicans have been thumbing their noses at this law. But with the recent cleanups of Democratic Senators Fulbright, Kefauver et al, which have hit the Democrats, there is increasing sentiment for enforcing the Corrupt Practices Act—which may also hit some Republicans.

In Maryland for instance, Charles Tuttle of Rustless Steel gave $8,000 to the GOP-Butler campaign against Senator Tydings. This was in violation of the law, because $5,000 is the top limit of any single contribution. But after the $8,000 item was filed and Butler's headquarters realized that this violated the law, they hurriedly claimed that part of the $8,000 was "just a loan."

Then, on February 27, long after the November election, Jon Jonkel, Chicago-loaned manager for Butler's campaign, suddenly discovered that he had forgot to file around $27,000 in contributions.

It is significant that Jonkel's memory was jogged—five months after the elections—by the fact that a Democratic investigator for the Monroney Committee had discovered $27,300 worth of expenditures which the Republicans failed to report. This was on February 17. On February 18 a meeting was held in the hotel apartment of Senator Brewster, chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, attended by Senator Butler, his attorney, and an attorney for the Chicago Tribune's Washington Times-Herald. The latter newspaper was masterminding the anti-Tydings campaign.

It was just after this that Butler's campaign manager (also supplied him by the Chicago Tribune group) suddenly remembered $27,000 of contributions that had slipped his mind back in November. Hurriedly he filed them.

That is why Senators Wherry of Nebraska and Welker of Idaho are vigorously demanding the end of the Maryland probe. But they too seem to have bad memories. For during the 80th GOP-controlled Congress, the Senate held an election probe in Maryland which lasted two years. That time, however, they were investigating Senator O'Conor, a Democrat. Now the Democrats are investigating a Republican—though for only three months, not two years.

Cruisers Win Enemies

Latin-American diplomats are too polite to talk about it publicly, but there has been a lot of private grousing over American stupidity in sending two American cruisers to Argentina just at a time when Dictator Peron was consistently and vigorously kicking Uncle Sam on the shins.

While the State Department also sold two cruisers each to two old friends, Chile and Brazil, unfortunately the two cruisers which Argentina got not only completely nullified the effect of the gestures to Brazil and Chile but made them sore as blazes.

In fact, public opinion in both Brazil and Chile today is probably more critical of the U.S.A. than at any other time, partly because of these cruisers.

"If the United States rewards its critics, as it did Argentina," say a lot of Brazilians, "then perhaps we should be critics too. Apparently the State Department believes in kicking its friends and helping its enemies."

Self-Protection

By ROGER W. BABSON

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8—For some time, I have been advising my readers who live in large cities to have—as insurance—a small house with enough land to feed one's family and far enough away from the large city to be safe in case of World War III. I am not recommending farming as a small business, as it is fast becoming a 'big business" operation. It is very difficult for an inexperienced person, without much capital, to compete with big farmers. As insurance, however, I believe such a small place in the country is the cheapest, safest and most sensible insurance a family can buy, after being insured against fire.

Being Smug Will Not Pay

I am now getting letters from readers saying: "We already have a house to which we can flee in an emergency. Hence, we are okay whatever happens." This week I wish to remind such readers that they have forgotten the "refugee problem." It is very possible that when you reach your "hide-away" you will find it already occupied by others who have fled from a large city and—by permission of the Red Cross or some state official—have already taken possession. The rule may be that the first refugees who reach an unoccupied house—or an occupied house with empty rooms—can take possession, whoever the owner may be.

Hence, it is important that we (who think we are well provided with a safe refuge) should wake up and do something now, to prepare for an abrupt surprise! This applies not only to those who are planning to flee to a summer place in the country, but also to those who now live smugly in the quiet suburbs of some city which may be bombed. Such houses will be occupied by strangers if we leave them vacant—while we must share them with strangers if we remain in them. In case of enemy bombing, refugees will be given any empty beds whenever needed.

"What shall we home owners do?" you ask. Let me reply that our future safety depends upon getting interested now in helping the other fellow. If a city within 75 miles is bombed, only those who are truly unselfishly interested in helping the refugees will save their own homes, whether in a city suburb or in a little farm or village. This means we should now become an active Red Cross or refugee worker. We should now study first-aid nursing and emergency diet. We should now definitely plan to take strange people into our homes either in entirety or in part, in case of need. If we have a barn or garage or empty building, we should now fix it up for refugees. Our personal safety will then depend not upon how much money we have, but how much we are doing for other people who have lost everything. Only our generosity will save us. Smugness and the feeling that we will get preferential treatment because of our houses, our money, our social standing or our political pull could land us in a concentration camp.

Cease Being An "Anti"

It is very important that we at once quit being an "anti" and now train ourselves and our children to care and share with others. It seems as if everyone with whom I talk is "anti-something." Some families are anti-Jewish, others anti-Negroes, others anti-Catholics and others anti-Protestants, or anti-Labor or anti-Capital! Then, I find one family is anti-Truman and the family next door is anti-Taft, or anti-something else. Some are for World Federation, in which I believe, and others laugh at me. To save our own necks we must forget this "anti-stuff" and remember Jesus' profound statement: "If we are to save our lives we must be willing to lose our lives."

All of us are more or less "anti" on our foreign policy—whether to follow Hoover or Dewey, or Acheson. I especially wish the United Nations could quit its childish debating about "who cast the first stone." It should unite on some constructive policy providing all countries with their just peace needs of oil, food and other necessary raw materials. This is the only way War III can be prevented. Our hope and safety lies not with more bombers, more ships and more ground troops, but in assuring the world of the Four Freedoms which we offered them nearly ten years ago. But, in the meantime, let all of us plan something for the refugees in case some city near us is bombed.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The National Police Force

J. EDGAR HOOVER has an opportunity to extend his authority, to build his empire hugely, to obtain increased funds from Congress for the FBI. Astonishingly, he rejects the prospects. No one ever heard of a Washington bureaucrat refusing more power and more money.

Yet in the face of a great demand that something should be done to rescue the country from racketeers, dope peddlers, fixers, crooked politicians and money-hungry middlemen, Hoover said this to the Kefauver Committee:

"This nation has no need for a national police force. Cries frequently are heard that America, to meet 'the problems of the day,' must create a master, over-all law enforcement agency, whose authority would extend to every nook and cranny of the nation. I disagree with this attitude. My experience has demonstrated that the present system of law enforcement, national, state and local, is the best system. The peace officer must be the servant of the people—protecting their interests and responding to their will. The law enforcement agency must be an integral part of the community. Otherwise, the American system of democratic government would be defiled."

In all the excitement engendered by the Kefauver investigation, three facts stand out:

1. The law must be enforced, but no matter what the urgency, our civil liberties must not be imperiled and our structural relations between the federal, the state and municipal governments must not be altered.

For many years, many reformers have tried to abolish state governments. At one time, the new dealers tried to cut the United States into regions which would override the states. These efforts failed, but we can destroy our structure by the careless use of our own enthusiasms. J. Edgar Hoover is to be praised for rejecting a trap which would put him at the head of a gestapo.

2. It is true that the Mafia does operate in the United States as the Communist party operates in the United States. Neither of them could operate if the American people were alert and if our officials enforced the law, Hoover said:

"There can be no concealment of the fact that law enforcement has not always performed at peak expectations. The fault is not in the system but in the way it works. The American people, if they desire competent, efficient and effective administration of justice, must be willing to provide financial means, moral support; and a practical realization of the responsibilities of citizenship. A police department, understaffed, underpaid, and ill-equipped, cannot properly fulfill its duties. Lack of public interest may allow a small minority of peace officers, aided and abetted by corrupt politicians, crooked prosecutors and underworld 'fixers,' to bring shame upon the profession. Action is needed, not to revamp the fundamental structure of American law enforcement, but to strengthen, in technical skill, character and esprit de corps, the existing institutions."

In the shift from a rural to an urban population, a serious change took place in the attitude of the American people to civic responsibilities. Shifting populations add to that the characteristics of a rootless people. Public standards toboggan when the public lacks concern.

It is perhaps a pity that, in recent years, we have become so concerned with foreign affairs and wars and the fears of wars that interest in our own affairs has unfortunately shifted, particularly in metropolitan areas where little attention is paid to what is done by public officials.

In fact, in cities like New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, to mention three, elections often hinge on extraneous issues which are in no manner related to a candidate's fitness for the office for which he is running. As long as the people elect an official that way, we shall have poor officials.

3. We have a way of regarding any successful man as a celebrity—even a successful ex-bootlegger or a successful current fixer. J. Edgar Hoover said of this:

". . . Too frequently, when pressures mount in local communities by reason of dissatisfaction with conditions, leaders, either to escape the wrath of citizens or to conceal their own inability to cope with situations, have advanced the alibi that 'this is a job for the federal government.' The time has come to take stock. The federal government can never be a satisfactory substitute for local self-government in the enforcement field."

Matter Of Fact

WASHINGTON,

IT MAY BE, as Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn broadly hinted to his hair-raising statement in the House on Wednesday, that Soviet intervention in Korea, the perlude to a third world war, is imminent. But there is no really new or really firm evidence that this is so. And there are reasons for believing that Rayburn was consciously employing a sort of shock treatment, in order to puncture the complacency, which, as he said, is "lulling the American people to sleep."

This complacency, which you can almost smell on Capitol Hill, now worries responsible leaders like Rayburn as much as the fear of immediate war. One trouble certainly is that no national leader has yet really spelled out, in terms of money spent, arms produced and men at work, the true nature of the long and terribly hard task which lies ahead, if Soviet imperialism is not to triumph.

Yet there exists a detailed, well-thought-out program, with a single objective—so to strengthen the free world that the Soviets will not be tempted to risk war, even when they have built a decisive stockpile of atomic bombs. It is worth trying to understand just what this program is. For, if there is no war, or if Congress does not invite war by hacking it to pieces, this long-range plan will set the whole pattern of life in this country for the next three or four years. The time table for recreating strength is as follows:

Increase Not Immediate

By June, 30, 1951, the end of the present fiscal year, Congress will have appropriated $57,000,000,000 for rearmament, including foreign military aid, according to present plans. Yet this great sum of money will not and cannot result in a immediate comparable increase in armed strength. Only about $12,000,000,000 can be spent for arms and for other goods which the free world must have to survive, simply because it takes time to get American defense production, slowed to a crawl in the Johnson era, into high gear. Even so, by this summer, 7,000,000 Americans will either be in uniform or directly engaged in defense work.

Plans call for the appropriation of another $66,000,000,000 for American and European defense by the end of fiscal 1952. By this time, defense production will be hitting its stride, and almost $40,000,000,000 of this money will be translated into defense goods, from B-36s to chow for the GIs. Almost 11,000,000 people will be engaged in national defense.

By June 30, 1953, some $60,000,000,000 more will have been appropriated, well over $11,000,000 Americans will be working to strengthen our defenses, and a full $50,000,000,000 war goods will come out of the machines. After this, according to the program, the leveling-off period will begin. In fiscal 1954, appropriations of $40,000,000,000 will produce almost the same value in war goods, because of carryovers from previous years. By 1955, this country and its allies will have reached a really formidable level of military strength.

Then it will no longer be a question of a rapid build-up, but rather of maintaining the strength that has been built. Defense appropriations of $35,000,000,000 a year, which this country's economy can carry quite easily, and the production of about $20,000,000,000 of defense goods yearly, should then be enough.

Truman Does Not Enspire

Thus this plan for preventing war by removing from the Soviets the temptation to make war calls for the spending of a staggering $260,000,000,000 by 1955 for rearmament purposes alone. Even this may not be enough to achieve the object. Yet surely it is sheer chuckleheaded nonsense to talk as though a temporary budget surplus of $2,000,000,000 or $3,000,000,000 gives grounds for complacency. Surely it is insanity to talk as though this sort of program could be overlaid on a

Farm Manpower

The government's call upon American farmers to bring in during 1951 the largest quantities of food and fiber ever produced in the United States in any one year has raised the question of whether enough farm workers will be at hand at the end of the growing season to harvest the expanded crops. As sons are taken into the armed services and hired hands are attracted in increasing numbers to higher paying jobs in industry, farm operators hesitate to take on the costs of putting additional land under cultivation without assurance of adequate labor supplies.

A survey of farmers' planting plans made public in mid-March by the Department of Agriculture indicated that this year's farm production may fall considerably short of the national goals announced by the government six weeks earlier. The uncertainty of farmers over future labor supply has been assigned as the chief reason behind planned reductions in acreage.

Government officials have been reluctant to advance any specific estimates as to just how many farm workers will be needed this year because they say farm labor requirements as of any given time are affected by too many imponderables. But the National Grange estimates that one million additional workers will have to be recruited to attain full production on the farms. The figure is based on estimates of the number of agricultural workers going into the military services and the number leaving for city employment, plus the additional workers needed this year to harvest some 20 million more acres.

The present emergency period shows basic differences in farm production and employment, and in the national economy as a whole, from the conditions which existed in the defense period just before World War II. The country's labor force is now almost fully employed while in 1941 there were 5½ million unemployed. And the farm working force at this time can spare fewer men for defense industry and the armed forces because, in the first place, it is smaller, and, in the second, it is more difficult for farmers to replace men experienced in handling modern farm equipment.

Since the farmer can't meet the high wages of industry, his main attack has been aimed against the working of the Selective Service system. Farm people assert that taking a large number of farm boys into the service now will put brakes on farm production over a long period. In the immediate situation, they ask that special consideration be given to retaining on the farm a corps of highly experienced workers including equipment repairmen and other specialized personnel.

Most promising means of overcoming farm labor shortages are believed to be the recruitment of persons not now in the labor force and more efficient use of the migratory labor force for work on the farm at peak seasons. Fuller use of the services of people not normally engaged in agriculture including students, older persons, odd-job men and even housewives is recommended by farm manpower experts as the first resort. The United States Employment Service will undertake to see that migrant workers are kept at work continuously after they reach a community, and, when the peak of demand has passed in one community, that the migrants are routed to other areas with the least possible delay in order to hold loss of working time to a minimum.

In addition, provision for government importation of large numbers of foreign field workers to supplement domestic farm manpower is being urged upon Congress by areas with large-scale farming operations. Legislation to extend and supplement the United States-Mexican farm labor agreement of 1949 is now under consideration by committees of both houses.

Striking evidence of the gains in agricultural production that would be possible if the presently available farm labor force was used with greater efficiency has been presented in a report to the Joint Committee on the Economic Report by Sen. Sparkman's subcommittee on low-income families. The report cites figures to show that the equivalent of 2.5 million workers could be added to present farm manpower if the work capacity of all underemployed rural people were fully utilized.

Permanent ECA?

Although economic recovery in Western Europe has been "substantially achieved," President Truman will recommend to Congress that the ECA be maintained on a continuing basis "to help carry out the programs essential to the security of the free world." This proposal illustrates anew and in startling outline the Washington habit of never scrapping an agency that once has become a part of the government.

It may be conceded that the ECA has done a good job. The fact that it has finished its work a year ahead of its time table is testimony to that effect. It may even be admitted that it contains within its ranks men of outstanding ability who can perform a public service of high importance.

But the suggestion that the whole organization be kept alive reflects the kind of thinking which has fastened a tremendous bureaucracy upon the nation and caused a constant rise in the cost of running the government.

Before accepting Mr. Truman's recommendation that the ECA be continued—lock, stock and barrel—Congress should demand that he spell out, letter by letter, the new duties he has in mind. He should be asked to do better than to say merely that "new tasks have been forced upon us."

Toward European Unity

The Schuman plan for pooling the steel and coal of France, Germany and four other European nations, under international control, is now up to the signatory nations. If adopted, it should do much toward lessening the economic rivalries of Europe.

Approval of the Schuman formula is now leading to the next step, the formation of a unified agricultural market, with 16 countries as members, all the way from Ireland to Turkey. This is expected to increase production and stabilize prices. So far the idea has got no further than invitations by France, to the other nations involved, to join in working out a plan.

Just a few years ago these steps toward the unification of Europe would have seemed impossible, or at least unattainable for many years. The present activity testifies to a realistic appreciation of the necessity of scrapping the old national rivalries if Europe is to survive.

Being sent to bed by a bothersome case of flu is neither comfortable nor cheering for the bustling, active man. But at least he has an excuse to avoid shaving for a while.

How To Keep Well

It's Time To Think About Camps

AT THIS TIME of the year many children begin to look forward to going to a summer camp. It will be a new adventure for some and for others a renewal of old acquaintances and haunts. Such vacations have become an old American custom for boys and girls between the ages of 3 and 16.

The success of the venture depends largely upon the ability of the child to adjust when away home. Those who are secure in their family life do best. But this does not mean that the majority do not need some encouragement on separating from their parents. Furthermore, there is likely to be anxiety on both sides which as a rule escapes detection because it is well hidden.

There is one thing for certain, however, and that is that the youngster never should be led to believe that he is being sent away for the convenience of the family. Moreover, the attitude of the parents often governs the amount of apprehension. When the question of sickness enters the discussion, for example, the mother sometimes makes matters worse by taking a pessimistic attitude or saying, "Let's not worry about that, too." Everything will be fine if she tells the lad that a physician will be called should he become ill. It is poor policy also to build up the camp as a place where the boy or girl will learn to behave; "you wait and see what they will do if you won't eat, make your bed, or pick up your clothes." As a matter of fact the routine of the camp is not set up to correct bad habits or to handle a child as a trainer does in teaching obedience to animals.

Difficulty may arise in evaluating a camp and fitting it to the individual child. A timid youngster may have a hard time in a place where the going is rough. The reverse also is true. It has been said that most camps fall into one of two categories. The first is the competitive type that emphasizes teamwork and group rivalry; the guest is encouraged to develop a strong sense of loyalty to his cabin mates, troop, and den. This is the camp for the child who likes to overcome all competition and rivalry. The second is noncompetitive; more emphasis is placed upon individual freedom and intuition. This varety resembles so-called progressive schools.

In the past only the healthy were permitted to go to camp. Nowadays more and more organizations are providing such opportunities for children with heart troubles and diabetes. Similar camps also are available for little ones who are physically handicapped or emotionally disturbed. Some are day camps located in parks or forest preserves near the city. They are less expensive because they do not provide constant 24 hours a day care. They do require counselors who are specially trained to handle the type of incapacity present. Here the youngster is taught new skills and learns to live and play with other children to encourage adaptability, reliance, and independence.

Camps are available for the entire family. These are more suitable when the offspring are too young to be left alone or the family is unable to afford a vacation for themselves as well as camp for the sons and daughters.

BAD TEMPERED

Mrs. G. P. writes: What's wrong with a man of 47 with such a violent temper that he will damage his own property if frustrated? Is it high blood pressure?

REPLY

No. Formerly, we said that such outbursts were caused by getting up on the wrong side of the bed. Nowadays we say these people are temperamental. High blood pressure is likely to be a result rather than a cause of this type of behavior, consequently this man is doing more harm to himself than to the furniture.

LEUKEMIA

R. T. writes: What is lymphatic leukemia and what is being done for it?

REPLY

In this disease the lymph tissues thruout the body become overactive and manufacture excessive amounts of white blood cells [lymphocytes]. The output may be so large that the blood becomes milky in appearance. Leukemia has been referred to as "cancer of the blood." The condition often is helped by X-ray treatments or utilizing aminopterin or nitrogen mustard. An absolute cure still is lacking.

SWEETS AND THE SKIN

L. D. writes: I started to eat candy and cake in between meals to gain weight but now I have pimples. Could the sweets be responsible?

REPLY

Yes. Many individuals are forced to limit their intake of chocolate and other confections if they want to preserve a clear complexion. Why not try a glass of milk between meals?

Allied Troops Plan Demonstration Of Solidarity; GOP Leaders Dodge Corrupt Practices Charge; Cruisers Mar Latin-American Friendship

WASHINGTON—At General Eisenhower's headquarters in Paris last month plans were being made to land the 4th Infantry Division at Cherbourg or Havre in a sort of peacetime Normandy beachhead operation and march it up the Champs Elysees as a symbol of American-Allied solidarity. At that time the division was scheduled to arrive about the first week in April.

The Senate debate delayed these plans, of course, but this may have been a blessing in disguise. For plans were also under discussion to have the British land their 11th Armored Division in France on the same day that the first American troops arrived; and to have a French division prepared simultaneously to meet them.

This show of solidarity is one of the most important things needed in Europe today. There has been too much arguing over who would supply what; over how many troops this country would furnish against that country.

What Europe and the United States need most is confidence—confidence in each other and confidence in themselves.

The arrival of three divisions—French, British and American—in France for entrainment to Germany at exactly the same time, would give a greater feeling of confidence than any other single gesture.

It is a mistake for the United States to send too many troops to Europe in a hurry, for the Europeans have the impression anyway that we are pushing them into war. It would also be a mistake for France and England not to match our 4th Division immediately, because many Americans have the impression that we are shouldering the whole arms burden.

Therefore, when the 4th Division hits Normandy sometime in late April or early May, it should be the occasion of a great and simultaneous show of mutual confidence—with new French and British divisions joining in a gigantic Allied parade up the Champs Elysees.

Campaign Violations

There is a good reason why Republican leaders are suddenly demanding that the Senate probe of the Maryland senatorial campaign be terminated forthwith. Reason is that the sluggish Justice Department is beginning to prick up its ears about possible violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

This was an act put on the statute books in order to keep huge amounts of money from being dumped into congressional and presidential campaigns. The law was written for the excellent reason that when a candidate or political party receives too much dough from any one source—whether big corporation, executive or labor union—that senator tends to be owned by his financial backer.

He votes in the Senate not for the people who voted for him, but for those who contributed to him.

In recent years both Democrats and Republicans have been thumbing their noses at this law. But with the recent cleanups of Democratic Senators Fulbright, Kefauver et al, which have hit the Democrats, there is increasing sentiment for enforcing the Corrupt Practices Act—which may also hit some Republicans.

In Maryland for instance, Charles Tuttle of Rustless Steel gave $8,000 to the GOP-Butler campaign against Senator Tydings. This was in violation of the law, because $5,000 is the top limit of any single contribution. But after the $8,000 item was filed and Butler's headquarters realized that this violated the law, they hurriedly claimed that part of the $8,000 was "just a loan."

Then, on February 27, long after the November election, Jon Jonkel, Chicago-loaned manager for Butler's campaign, suddenly discovered that he had forgot to file around $27,000 in contributions.

It is significant that Jonkel's memory was jogged—five months after the elections—by the fact that a Democratic investigator for the Monroney Committee had discovered $27,300 worth of expenditures which the Republicans failed to report. This was on February 17. On February 18 a meeting was held in the hotel apartment of Senator Brewster, chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, attended by Senator Butler, his attorney, and an attorney for the Chicago Tribune's Washington Times-Herald. The latter newspaper was masterminding the anti-Tydings campaign.

It was just after this that Butler's campaign manager (also supplied him by the Chicago Tribune group) suddenly remembered $27,000 of contributions that had slipped his mind back in November. Hurriedly he filed them.

That is why Senators Wherry of Nebraska and Welker of Idaho are vigorously demanding the end of the Maryland probe. But they too seem to have bad memories. For during the 80th GOP-controlled Congress, the Senate held an election probe in Maryland which lasted two years. That time, however, they were investigating Senator O'Conor, a Democrat. Now the Democrats are investigating a Republican—though for only three months, not two years.

Cruisers Win Enemies

Latin-American diplomats are too polite to talk about it publicly, but there has been a lot of private grousing over American stupidity in sending two American cruisers to Argentina just at a time when Dictator Peron was consistently and vigorously kicking Uncle Sam on the shins.

While the State Department also sold two cruisers each to two old friends, Chile and Brazil, unfortunately the two cruisers which Argentina got not only completely nullified the effect of the gestures to Brazil and Chile but made them sore as blazes.

In fact, public opinion in both Brazil and Chile today is probably more critical of the U.S.A. than at any other time, partly because of these cruisers.

"If the United States rewards its critics, as it did Argentina," say a lot of Brazilians, "then perhaps we should be critics too. Apparently the State Department believes in kicking its friends and helping its enemies."

Self-Protection

By ROGER W. BABSON

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8—For some time, I have been advising my readers who live in large cities to have—as insurance—a small house with enough land to feed one's family and far enough away from the large city to be safe in case of World War III. I am not recommending farming as a small business, as it is fast becoming a 'big business" operation. It is very difficult for an inexperienced person, without much capital, to compete with big farmers. As insurance, however, I believe such a small place in the country is the cheapest, safest and most sensible insurance a family can buy, after being insured against fire.

Being Smug Will Not Pay

I am now getting letters from readers saying: "We already have a house to which we can flee in an emergency. Hence, we are okay whatever happens." This week I wish to remind such readers that they have forgotten the "refugee problem." It is very possible that when you reach your "hide-away" you will find it already occupied by others who have fled from a large city and—by permission of the Red Cross or some state official—have already taken possession. The rule may be that the first refugees who reach an unoccupied house—or an occupied house with empty rooms—can take possession, whoever the owner may be.

Hence, it is important that we (who think we are well provided with a safe refuge) should wake up and do something now, to prepare for an abrupt surprise! This applies not only to those who are planning to flee to a summer place in the country, but also to those who now live smugly in the quiet suburbs of some city which may be bombed. Such houses will be occupied by strangers if we leave them vacant—while we must share them with strangers if we remain in them. In case of enemy bombing, refugees will be given any empty beds whenever needed.

"What shall we home owners do?" you ask. Let me reply that our future safety depends upon getting interested now in helping the other fellow. If a city within 75 miles is bombed, only those who are truly unselfishly interested in helping the refugees will save their own homes, whether in a city suburb or in a little farm or village. This means we should now become an active Red Cross or refugee worker. We should now study first-aid nursing and emergency diet. We should now definitely plan to take strange people into our homes either in entirety or in part, in case of need. If we have a barn or garage or empty building, we should now fix it up for refugees. Our personal safety will then depend not upon how much money we have, but how much we are doing for other people who have lost everything. Only our generosity will save us. Smugness and the feeling that we will get preferential treatment because of our houses, our money, our social standing or our political pull could land us in a concentration camp.

Cease Being An "Anti"

It is very important that we at once quit being an "anti" and now train ourselves and our children to care and share with others. It seems as if everyone with whom I talk is "anti-something." Some families are anti-Jewish, others anti-Negroes, others anti-Catholics and others anti-Protestants, or anti-Labor or anti-Capital! Then, I find one family is anti-Truman and the family next door is anti-Taft, or anti-something else. Some are for World Federation, in which I believe, and others laugh at me. To save our own necks we must forget this "anti-stuff" and remember Jesus' profound statement: "If we are to save our lives we must be willing to lose our lives."

All of us are more or less "anti" on our foreign policy—whether to follow Hoover or Dewey, or Acheson. I especially wish the United Nations could quit its childish debating about "who cast the first stone." It should unite on some constructive policy providing all countries with their just peace needs of oil, food and other necessary raw materials. This is the only way War III can be prevented. Our hope and safety lies not with more bombers, more ships and more ground troops, but in assuring the world of the Four Freedoms which we offered them nearly ten years ago. But, in the meantime, let all of us plan something for the refugees in case some city near us is bombed.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The National Police Force

J. EDGAR HOOVER has an opportunity to extend his authority, to build his empire hugely, to obtain increased funds from Congress for the FBI. Astonishingly, he rejects the prospects. No one ever heard of a Washington bureaucrat refusing more power and more money.

Yet in the face of a great demand that something should be done to rescue the country from racketeers, dope peddlers, fixers, crooked politicians and money-hungry middlemen, Hoover said this to the Kefauver Committee:

"This nation has no need for a national police force. Cries frequently are heard that America, to meet 'the problems of the day,' must create a master, over-all law enforcement agency, whose authority would extend to every nook and cranny of the nation. I disagree with this attitude. My experience has demonstrated that the present system of law enforcement, national, state and local, is the best system. The peace officer must be the servant of the people—protecting their interests and responding to their will. The law enforcement agency must be an integral part of the community. Otherwise, the American system of democratic government would be defiled."

In all the excitement engendered by the Kefauver investigation, three facts stand out:

1. The law must be enforced, but no matter what the urgency, our civil liberties must not be imperiled and our structural relations between the federal, the state and municipal governments must not be altered.

For many years, many reformers have tried to abolish state governments. At one time, the new dealers tried to cut the United States into regions which would override the states. These efforts failed, but we can destroy our structure by the careless use of our own enthusiasms. J. Edgar Hoover is to be praised for rejecting a trap which would put him at the head of a gestapo.

2. It is true that the Mafia does operate in the United States as the Communist party operates in the United States. Neither of them could operate if the American people were alert and if our officials enforced the law, Hoover said:

"There can be no concealment of the fact that law enforcement has not always performed at peak expectations. The fault is not in the system but in the way it works. The American people, if they desire competent, efficient and effective administration of justice, must be willing to provide financial means, moral support; and a practical realization of the responsibilities of citizenship. A police department, understaffed, underpaid, and ill-equipped, cannot properly fulfill its duties. Lack of public interest may allow a small minority of peace officers, aided and abetted by corrupt politicians, crooked prosecutors and underworld 'fixers,' to bring shame upon the profession. Action is needed, not to revamp the fundamental structure of American law enforcement, but to strengthen, in technical skill, character and esprit de corps, the existing institutions."

In the shift from a rural to an urban population, a serious change took place in the attitude of the American people to civic responsibilities. Shifting populations add to that the characteristics of a rootless people. Public standards toboggan when the public lacks concern.

It is perhaps a pity that, in recent years, we have become so concerned with foreign affairs and wars and the fears of wars that interest in our own affairs has unfortunately shifted, particularly in metropolitan areas where little attention is paid to what is done by public officials.

In fact, in cities like New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, to mention three, elections often hinge on extraneous issues which are in no manner related to a candidate's fitness for the office for which he is running. As long as the people elect an official that way, we shall have poor officials.

3. We have a way of regarding any successful man as a celebrity—even a successful ex-bootlegger or a successful current fixer. J. Edgar Hoover said of this:

". . . Too frequently, when pressures mount in local communities by reason of dissatisfaction with conditions, leaders, either to escape the wrath of citizens or to conceal their own inability to cope with situations, have advanced the alibi that 'this is a job for the federal government.' The time has come to take stock. The federal government can never be a satisfactory substitute for local self-government in the enforcement field."

Time Table For Strength

WASHINGTON,

IT MAY BE, as Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn broadly hinted to his hair-raising statement in the House on Wednesday, that Soviet intervention in Korea, the perlude to a third world war, is imminent. But there is no really new or really firm evidence that this is so. And there are reasons for believing that Rayburn was consciously employing a sort of shock treatment, in order to puncture the complacency, which, as he said, is "lulling the American people to sleep."

This complacency, which you can almost smell on Capitol Hill, now worries responsible leaders like Rayburn as much as the fear of immediate war. One trouble certainly is that no national leader has yet really spelled out, in terms of money spent, arms produced and men at work, the true nature of the long and terribly hard task which lies ahead, if Soviet imperialism is not to triumph.

Yet there exists a detailed, well-thought-out program, with a single objective—so to strengthen the free world that the Soviets will not be tempted to risk war, even when they have built a decisive stockpile of atomic bombs. It is worth trying to understand just what this program is. For, if there is no war, or if Congress does not invite war by hacking it to pieces, this long-range plan will set the whole pattern of life in this country for the next three or four years. The time table for recreating strength is as follows:

Increase Not Immediate

By June, 30, 1951, the end of the present fiscal year, Congress will have appropriated $57,000,000,000 for rearmament, including foreign military aid, according to present plans. Yet this great sum of money will not and cannot result in a immediate comparable increase in armed strength. Only about $12,000,000,000 can be spent for arms and for other goods which the free world must have to survive, simply because it takes time to get American defense production, slowed to a crawl in the Johnson era, into high gear. Even so, by this summer, 7,000,000 Americans will either be in uniform or directly engaged in defense work.

Plans call for the appropriation of another $66,000,000,000 for American and European defense by the end of fiscal 1952. By this time, defense production will be hitting its stride, and almost $40,000,000,000 of this money will be translated into defense goods, from B-36s to chow for the GIs. Almost 11,000,000 people will be engaged in national defense.

By June 30, 1953, some $60,000,000,000 more will have been appropriated, well over $11,000,000 Americans will be working to strengthen our defenses, and a full $50,000,000,000 war goods will come out of the machines. After this, according to the program, the leveling-off period will begin. In fiscal 1954, appropriations of $40,000,000,000 will produce almost the same value in war goods, because of carryovers from previous years. By 1955, this country and its allies will have reached a really formidable level of military strength.

Then it will no longer be a question of a rapid build-up, but rather of maintaining the strength that has been built. Defense appropriations of $35,000,000,000 a year, which this country's economy can carry quite easily, and the production of about $20,000,000,000 of defense goods yearly, should then be enough.

Truman Does Not Enspire

Thus this plan for preventing war by removing from the Soviets the temptation to make war calls for the spending of a staggering $260,000,000,000 by 1955 for rearmament purposes alone. Even this may not be enough to achieve the object. Yet surely it is sheer chuckleheaded nonsense to talk as though a temporary budget surplus of $2,000,000,000 or $3,000,000,000 gives grounds for complacency. Surely it is insanity to talk as though this sort of program could be overlaid on a

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Mr. Malcolm's wife was dead for a full year, and still the bereaved widower showed no signs of recovering his spirits. Alarmed friends persuaded him to consult an analyst. After a long talk, the analyst said, "No wonder you're melancholy! A man of your age needs some female companionship."

Malcolm protested this would be unfaithful to the memory of his departed wife, but the analyst scoffed, "Nonsense! The living cannot exist on memories. Take a girl out. I prescribe this as your doctor." Half convinced, Malcolm announced sheepishly that he didn't even know a girl. "That's easily remedied," said the analyst, reaching for a pad and pencil. "Just take this slip to Mary Blank at this address on East 61st Street, and she'll be glad to go out with you."

Mr. Malcolm found Miss Blank's company satisfactory in every respect. As he was bidding her an affectionate adieu, she reminded him, "Most of my boy friends leave a little token of their esteem. Shall we say twenty-five dollars?" Mr. Malcolm was rather taken aback, but rallied quickly. ""Okay," he said, "here's the twenty-five, but I'd like a written receipt if you don't mind. I belong to the Blue Shield Health Plan, and they take care of all my medical expenses."

Baby Talking Baby

SOMEWHAT reluctantly, I tackle the popular song profession, a field I don't understand at all, simply because there's a program around called "Songs For Sale." My interest in the popular song dodge flagged after someone wrote "Save Your Confederate Money, Boys, The South Will Rise Again." You've all heard it, of course. It contains that immortal line, "When we whup them Yanks, we'll open them banks and declare a dividend." The songwriting art reached a peak right there that will never come again.

John Crosby

At least, that's what I think. It's only fair to point out that other scholars in this specialized field disagree. Mitchell Rawson, a world recognized authority, favors that great World War 1 song, "If He Can Fight Like He Can Love, Then It's Goodbye Germany."

"I know he'll be a hero when
he's over there,
"Because he's a bear
"In any morris chair."

• — • — •

But let's not start singing the old songs. We'll be here all night. "Songs For Sale" CBS 8 p.m. EST Fridays) is, according to the opening announcement, "the big chance for unknown songwriters to have their songs played by Ray Bloch and sung by Rosemary Clooney" — if that is any inducement to you young unknown songwriters. None of the unknown songwriters has yet touched the pinnacle of genius of those two songs I've mentioned or got anywhere near it. But they're trying awfully hard.

The program is presided over by Jan Murray, a sort of thin Morey Amsterdam. He tells jokes. "A good husband is hard to find," says one contestant. "You're telling me," ripostes Mr. Murray. "My aunt has been trying to find her husband for ten years." Want to hear some more of Mr. Murray's jokes? No? You're sure? Positive? Well, all right.

• — • — •

Along with the songs by unknowns you'll hear a good many songs by well-knowns and the difference, I must confess, is sometimes slight. Still, the unknown songwriters whose work is bandied about on "Songs For Sale" have remained without exception spectacularly unknown. Tough racket to break into, songwriting. I haven't been able to find a publisher for my baby-talk song, "How Can Itty Bitty You Be Such a Great Big Lousy Tramp?"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

REMEMBER PASSES, TOO

REMEMBERING all of the bids during the auction is not enough. It is important also to remember the passes. Some one of those may be the key to your own further action. If it was by an opponent, you could be justified in acting with boldness in a fairly close matter. If it was by your partner, that knowledge should slow your pace in some late bidding situations. Of particular importance is recalling that your partner had passed before he entered the bidding. If you are under the impression that you were the dealer, or the player at your right was, you may overestimate your partner's cards.

5 ♣	Pass	6 ♣

There is little sense in going through the play of that deal after East led the diamond K. North took all of the tricks except in trumps, where he lost two to East. When West discarded on the first trump lead from dummy, placing both missing trump honors with East, the declarer, already knowing East held the diamond K-Q, decided that anything else of any height would be in West's hand. So he finessed West for the spade Q and consequently lost no tricks in that suit.

After pleading hard luck in finding both high trumps where they could do harm, he said he had hopes South would have at least one of those two cards.

"If I had," said South, "I would have had a tremendous hand for a fellow who had passed as dealer."

"As dealer?" queried North. "Had you passed before I opened the bidding?"

"Certainly," said South. "As you will notice, I had the second-round winner of all three side suits opposite your aces, with two kings and a singleton. You could hardly have expected the same in the fourth suit, trumps."

North apologized then, saying he would have let the 5-Clubs alone if he had recalled South's original pass, coupled with East's overcall. Yet his bid wasn't too bad, at that.

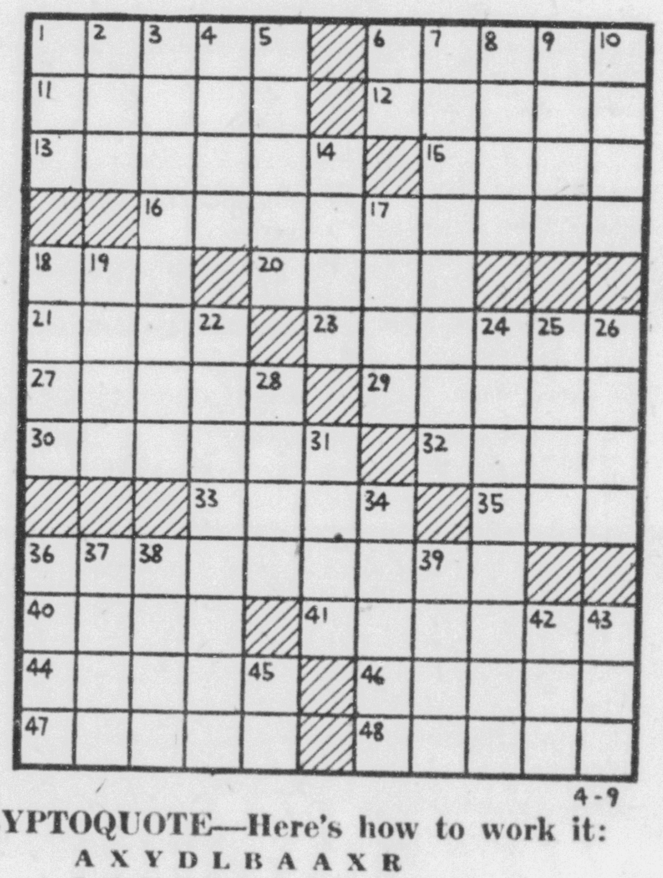
Saturday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Baby Talking Baby

SOMEWHAT reluctantly, I tackle the popular song profession, a field I don't understand at all, simply because there's a program around called "Songs For Sale." My interest in the popular song dodge flagged after someone wrote "Save Your Confederate Money, Boys, The South Will Rise Again." You've all heard it, of course. It contains that immortal line, "When we whup them Yanks, we'll open them banks and declare a dividend." The songwriting art reached a peak right there that will never come again.

John Crosby

At least, that's what I think. It's only fair to point out that other scholars in this specialized field disagree. Mitchell Rawson, a world recognized authority, favors that great World War 1 song, "If He Can Fight Like He Can Love, Then It's Goodbye Germany."

"I know he'll be a hero when
he's over there,
"Because he's a bear

• — • — •

But let's not start singing the old songs. We'll be here all night. "Songs For Sale" CBS 8 p.m. EST Fridays) is, according to the opening announcement, "the big chance for unknown songwriters to have their songs played by Ray Bloch and sung by Rosemary Clooney" — if that is any inducement to you young unknown songwriters. None of the unknown songwriters has yet touched the pinnacle of genius of those two songs I've mentioned or got anywhere near it. But they're trying awfully hard.

The program is presided over by Jan Murray, a sort of thin Morey Amsterdam. He tells jokes. "A good husband is hard to find," says one contestant. "You're telling me," ripostes Mr. Murray. "My aunt has been trying to find her husband for ten years." Want to hear some more of Mr. Murray's jokes? No? You're sure? Positive? Well, all right.

• — • — •

Along with the songs by unknowns you'll hear a good many songs by well-knowns and the difference, I must confess, is sometimes slight. Still, the unknown songwriters whose work is bandied about on "Songs For Sale" have remained without exception spectacularly unknown. Tough racket to break into, songwriting. I haven't been able to find a publisher for my baby-talk song, "How Can Itty Bitty You Be Such a Great Big Lousy Tramp?"

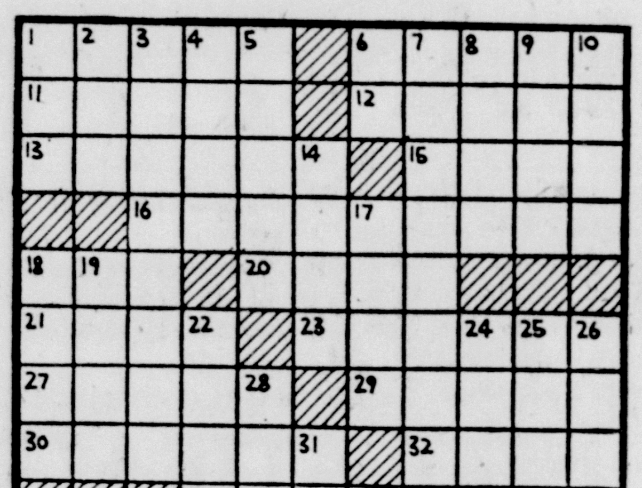
Saturday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

H K X H O P V R R J K G S J K G C R S K S J V
R F P F H V K Z — Y G K P V G W.

Saturday's Cryptoquote: IT IS BEGINNING TO BE HINTED THAT WE ARE A NATION OF AMATEURS — ROSEBERY.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Baby Talking Baby

SOMEWHAT reluctantly, I tackle the popular song profession, a field I don't understand at all, simply because there's a program around called "Songs For Sale." My interest in the popular song dodge flagged after someone wrote "Save Your Confederate Money, Boys, The South Will Rise Again." You've all heard it, of course. It contains that immortal line, "When we whup them Yanks, we'll open them banks and declare a dividend." The songwriting art reached a peak right there that will never come again.

John Crosby

At least, that's what I think. It's only fair to point out that other scholars in this specialized field disagree. Mitchell Rawson, a world recognized authority, favors that great World War 1 song, "If He Can Fight Like He Can Love, Then It's Goodbye Germany."

"I know he'll be a hero when
he's over there,
"Because he's a bear

• — • — •

But let's not start singing the old songs. We'll be here all night. "Songs For Sale" CBS 8 p.m. EST Fridays) is, according to the opening announcement, "the big chance for unknown songwriters to have their songs played by Ray Bloch and sung by Rosemary Clooney" — if that is any inducement to you young unknown songwriters. None of the unknown songwriters has yet touched the pinnacle of genius of those two songs I've mentioned or got anywhere near it. But they're trying awfully hard.

The program is presided over by Jan Murray, a sort of thin Morey Amsterdam. He tells jokes. "A good husband is hard to find," says one contestant. "You're telling me," ripostes Mr. Murray. "My aunt has been trying to find her husband for ten years." Want to hear some more of Mr. Murray's jokes? No? You're sure? Positive? Well, all right.

• — • — •

Along with the songs by unknowns you'll hear a good many songs by well-knowns and the difference, I must confess, is sometimes slight. Still, the unknown songwriters whose work is bandied about on "Songs For Sale" have remained without exception spectacularly unknown. Tough racket to break into, songwriting. I haven't been able to find a publisher for my baby-talk song, "How Can Itty Bitty You Be Such a Great Big Lousy Tramp?"

"The Authority on Authorities"

REMEMBER PASSES, TOO

REMEMBERING all of the bids during the auction is not enough. It is important also to remember the passes. Some one of those may be the key to your own further action. If it was by an opponent, you could be justified in acting with boldness in a fairly close matter. If it was by your partner, that knowledge should slow your pace in some late bidding situations. Of particular importance is recalling that your partner had passed before he entered the bidding. If you are under the impression that you were the dealer, or the player at your right was, you may overestimate your partner's cards.

There is little sense in going through the play of that deal after East led the diamond K. North took all of the tricks except in trumps, where he lost two to East. When West discarded on the first trump lead from dummy, placing both missing trump honors with East, the declarer, already knowing East held the diamond K-Q, decided that anything else of any height would be in West's hand. So he finessed West for the spade Q and consequently lost no tricks in that suit.

After pleading hard luck in finding both high trumps where they could do harm, he said he had hopes South would have at least one of those two cards.

"If I had," said South, "I would have had a tremendous hand for a fellow who had passed as dealer."

"As dealer?" queried North. "Had you passed before I opened the bidding?"

"Certainly," said South. "As you will notice, I had the second-round winner of all three side suits opposite your aces, with two kings and a singleton. You could hardly have expected the same in the fourth suit, trumps."

North apologized then, saying he would have let the 5-Clubs alone if he had recalled South's original pass, coupled with East's overcall. Yet his bid wasn't too bad, at that.

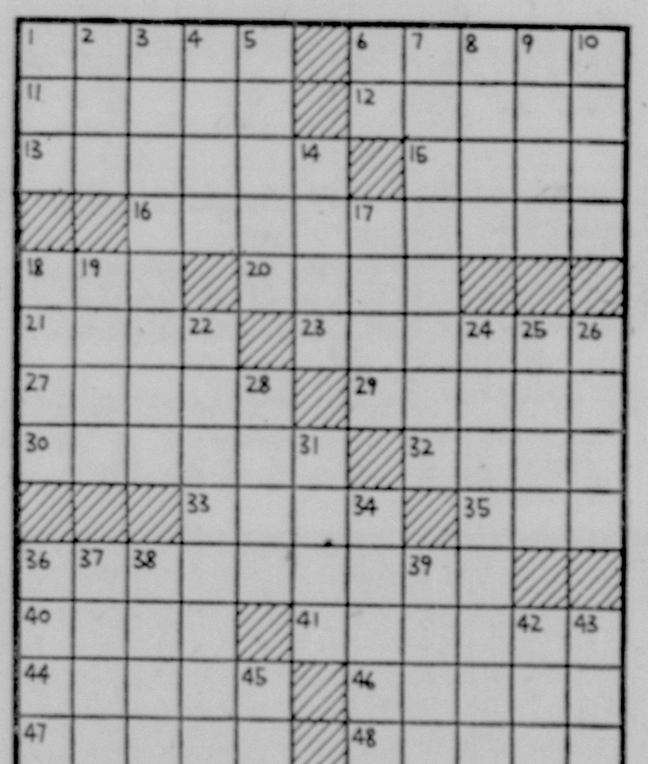
Saturday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

H K X   H O P V R   R J K G S   J K G C R   S K   S J V
R F P F H V   K Z — Y G K P V G W

Saturday's Cryptoquote: IT IS BEGINNING TO BE HINTED THAT WE ARE A NATION OF AMATEURS—ROSEBERY.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 8 (INS) — One of our best comedians, Robert Cummings, who is as American as apple pie and cheese, replaces Larry Parks in "Small Wonder." That's the picture Parks lost following his appearance before the Un-American Activities Committee and his admission that he had been a Communist.

Bob Cummings

Columbia carefully explained that Parks was out of the film before his trip to Washington and before his testimony because of the early starting date. That is open to question, although the starting date, April 17, set by Producer Harold Hecht, could interfere with Parks' return date with the committee as a witness.

When Parks was still in the setup—Barbara Hale was rumored as the co-star. Now I hear another actress is being sought to play opposite Cummings. No reflection on Barbara—her studio feels she just isn't strong enough so soon after the birth of her baby.

• — • — •

Only a girl as attractive as Claudette Colbert would not mind playing a grandmother. That's what she will be in "Don't Call Me Mother," a comedy which starts April 30 at 20th Century Fox, with Richard Sale directing and Robert Bassler at the producer's helm.

It's all very hush-hush, but I hear that negotiations are on to get Jack Benny to play opposite Claudette. That should be easy, because Claudette is a very close friend of Jack and Mary Benny.

• — • — •

Marlene Dietrich is the next one to feel the Internal Revenue Department breathing on her neck. Marlene owes Uncle Sam $30,000 in back taxes of several years ago, so an attachment has been put on her salary for her picture "Chuck-A-Luck."

Well, Marlene can raise that I am sure—what with her picture, her radio appearances, and right now she's more popular than she's been in a long time.

She is one hundred per cent American and continues to help all our boys by appearances, so's here's hoping she gets out of her difficulties.

• — • — •

Barbara Stanwyck and Bob Taylor, looking and acting like a bloomin' bridal couple, were all over the town—dining first at the Macaya and later dancing cheek to cheek at Ciro's.

Don't make me laugh that these little meetings are "business talks!" At Ciro's Bob told a friend that he is flying in every weekend from "Westward The Women" location to see his ex-wife.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Barbara Bel Geddes' husband, Carl Scheur, obtained a divorce in Bermuda. It is said he'll marry soon, and that Barbara will wed Windsor (Wink) Lewis, assistant stage manager of her play, "The Moon Is Blue."

Major John Horton and his wife, the former Drucie Snyder, daughter of the secretary of the Treasury, John Snyder, arrive in Hollywood in a few weeks with their baby daughter. Horton was formerly at the Warner Studio.

That was Peter Sabiston with Sharman Douglas at the Gourmet-Beverly. He was once Peter Lawford's best friend.

A representative of King Farouk of Egypt is in Hollywood waiting to see Errol Flynn when he returns from Jamaica. The King wants Flynn to star in a picture to be made in Egypt.

Frances Langford opens Tuesday night at the Cocoanut Grove and you can bet there will be plenty of GIs there to welcome their favorite girl friend.

Vic Damone's first date when he arrived back in town was with Joan Benny, daughter of Jack and Mary Benny. He has written a song especially for the pretty seventeen-year-old girl called "Joanie," which he will record.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 8 (INS) — One of our best comedians, Robert Cummings, who is as American as apple pie and cheese, replaces Larry Parks in "Small Wonder." That's the picture Parks lost following his appearance before the Un-American Activities Committee and his admission that he had been a Communist.

Bob Cummings

Columbia carefully explained that Parks was out of the film before his trip to Washington and before his testimony because of the early starting date. That is open to question, although the starting date, April 17, set by Producer Harold Hecht, could interfere with Parks' return date with the committee as a witness.

When Parks was still in the setup —Barbara Hale was rumored as the co-star. Now I hear another actress is being sought to play opposite Cummings. No reflection on Barbara—her studio feels she just isn't strong enough so soon after the birth of her baby.

• — • — •

Only a girl as attractive as Claudette Colbert would not mind playing a grandmother. That's what she will be in "Don't Call Me Mother," a comedy which starts April 30 at 20th Century Fox, with Richard Sale directing and Robert Bassler at the producer's helm.

It's all very hush-hush, but I hear that negotiations are on to get Jack Benny to play opposite Claudette. That should be easy, because Claudette is a very close friend of Jack and Mary Benny.

• — • — •

Marlene Dietrich is the next one to feel the Internal Revenue Department breathing on her neck. Marlene owes Uncle Sam $30,000 in back taxes of several years ago, so an attachment has been put on her salary for her picture "Chuck-A-Luck."

Well, Marlene can raise that I am sure—what with her picture, her radio appearances, and right now she's more popular than she's been in a long time.

She is one hundred per cent American and continues to help all our boys by appearances, so's here's hoping she gets out of her difficulties.

• — • — •

Barbara Stanwyck and Bob Taylor, looking and acting like a bloomin' bridal couple, were all over the town—dining first at the Macaya and later dancing cheek to cheek at Ciro's.

Don't make me laugh that these little meetings are "business talks!" At Ciro's Bob told a friend that he is flying in every weekend from "Westward The Women" location to see his ex-wife.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Barbara Bel Geddes' husband, Carl Scheur, obtained a divorce in Bermuda. It is said he'll marry soon, and that Barbara will wed Windsor (Wink) Lewis, assistant stage manager of her play, "The Moon Is Blue."

Major John Horton and his wife, the former Drucie Snyder, daughter of the secretary of the Treasury, John Snyder, arrive in Hollywood in a few weeks with their baby daughter. Horton was formerly at the Warner Studio.

That was Peter Sabiston with Sharman Douglas at the Gourmet-Beverly. He was once Peter Lawford's best friend.

A representative of King Farouk of Egypt is in Hollywood waiting to see Errol Flynn when he returns from Jamaica. The King wants Flynn to star in a picture to be made in Egypt.

Frances Langford opens Tuesday night at the Cocoanut Grove and you can bet there will be plenty of GIs there to welcome their favorite girl friend.

Vic Damone's first date when he arrived back in town was with Joan Benny, daughter of Jack and Mary Benny. He has written a song especially for the pretty seventeen-year-old girl called "Joanie," which he will record.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 8 (INS) — One of our best comedians, Robert Cummings, who is as American as apple pie and cheese, replaces Larry Parks in "Small Wonder." That's the picture Parks lost following his appearance before the Un-American Activities Committee and his admission that he had been a Communist.

Bob Cummings

Columbia carefully explained that Parks was out of the film before his trip to Washington and before his testimony because of the early starting date. That is open to question, although the starting date, April 17, set by Producer Harold Hecht, could interfere with Parks' return date with the committee as a witness.

When Parks was still in the setup —Barbara Hale was rumored as the co-star. Now I hear another actress is being sought to play opposite Cummings. No reflection on Barbara—her studio feels she just isn't strong enough so soon after the birth of her baby.

Only a girl as attractive as Claudette Colbert would not mind playing a grandmother. That's what she will be in "Don't Call Me Mother," a comedy which starts April 30 at 20th Century Fox, with Richard Sale directing and Robert Bassler at the producer's helm.

It's all very hush-hush, but I hear that negotiations are on to get Jack Benny to play opposite Claudette. That should be easy, because Claudette is a very close friend of Jack and Mary Benny.

Marlene Dietrich is the next one to feel the Internal Revenue Department breathing on her neck. Marlene owes Uncle Sam $30,000 in back taxes of several years ago, so an attachment has been put on her salary for her picture "Chuck-A-Luck."

Well, Marlene can raise that I am sure—what with her picture, her radio appearances, and right now she's more popular than she's been in a long time.

She is one hundred per cent American and continues to help all our boys by appearances, so's here's hoping she gets out of her difficulties.

Barbara Stanwyck and Bob Taylor, looking and acting like a bloomin' bridal couple, were all over the town—dining first at the Macaya and later dancing cheek to cheek at Ciro's.

Don't make me laugh that these little meetings are "business talks!" At Ciro's Bob told a friend that he is flying in every weekend from "Westward The Women" location to see his ex-wife.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Barbara Bel Geddes' husband, Carl Scheur, obtained a divorce in Bermuda. It is said he'll marry soon, and that Barbara will wed Windsor (Wink) Lewis, assistant stage manager of her play, "The Moon Is Blue."

Major John Horton and his wife, the former Drucie Snyder, daughter of the secretary of the Treasury, John Snyder, arrive in Hollywood in a few weeks with their baby daughter. Horton was formerly at the Warner Studio.

That was Peter Sabiston with Sharman Douglas at the Gourmet-Beverly. He was once Peter Lawford's best friend.

A representative of King Farouk of Egypt is in Hollywood waiting to see Errol Flynn when he returns from Jamaica. The King wants Flynn to star in a picture to be made in Egypt.

Frances Langford opens Tuesday night at the Cocoanut Grove and you can bet there will be plenty of GIs there to welcome their favorite girl friend.

Vic Damone's first date when he arrived back in town was with Joan Benny, daughter of Jack and Mary Benny. He has written a song especially for the pretty seventeen-year-old girl called "Joanie," which he will record.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Ben Hogan's 280 Wins Masters Tourney By Two Strokes

Texan Noses Out Skee Riegel At Augusta To Cop Top Prize

Little Ben Posts 68 Last Round, Completes Slam Of Pro Titles

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (AP) — Icicle-nerved Ben Hogan added a sensational flourish to one of the great comeback sagas in sports today when he won his first Masters Golf Championship with a near-record 280.

The gristly little man from Texas subdued Augusta National's treacherous acres with a grim and meticulous last round 68, four under par golf that burned off all opposition.

He finished two strokes ahead of Robert (Skee) Riegel, the freshman professional from Tulsa, Okla., who posted a 71 shortly after lunch and then stood around suffering as reports of Hogan birdies and pars drifted back to the clubhouse.

The 38-year-old National Open champion, winner of that crown twice and the PGA as many times, thus completed his slam of major American pro championships.

Until today, the Masters had always escaped him. He finished second in 1942 and 1946.

Challengers Flounder

Other leading challengers — Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum, Dave Douglas and Cary Middlecoff—floundered on that short stretch of the backside—the 10th, 11th and 12th holes—that has become known to the golfers as "Heartbreak Highway."

Mangrum took a costly five on the par-three, water-protected 12th for a 73 that gave him third place tie at 286 with Lew Worsham, Jr., of Oakmont, Pa. Worsham, playing with the new champion, had a 73 for the final round.

Snead, the West Virginia capitalist who was tied with Riegel for the lead going into the final round, dumped two balls into the water and took a nightmarish eight on the par four 11th. He wound up with an 80 that put him down in the final standings with Byron Nelson and John Bulla at 291.

Demaret Posts 299

The defending champion and three-time winner, Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., wound up a rather miserable week with a 71 for a 299, sixteen strokes worse than his winning score a year ago.

Hogan, fashioned a 33-35—68 over the par 36-36—72 course that was just one swing off the record held by Ralph Guldahl (1939) and Claude Harmon (1948).

Hogan, whose life and golf career hung in a precarious balance after he was injured in an automobile accident in Van Horn, Tex., in the winter of 1949, heard of Riegel's fine finish while he was going up the eighth tee.

Hogan had 14 pars and four birdies. His only five of the day, his second in two days, came on the 485-yard 15th when he played it close to the vest.

15,000 Follow Ben

The wee champion played meticulously slow, measuring every difficult assignment for minutes and taking no unnecessary changes.

Hogan, with a crowd of 15,000 surging at his heels under a bright sun birdied three of the front side holes—the second, third and eighth.

The other birdie was on the 13th, where he sank his longest putt of the day—an 8-footer. The rest of time he was machine grinding out pars just as he needed them.

Riegel had a scrambling round but one he later called "filled with luck." On four holes he came out of trees and traps to get his par. At the same time he three-putted three greens—the first, third and ninth.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., shot a 72 for a score of 288 that gave him fifth place, followed by the veteran Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., who had a 72 for 289 and Jim Ferrier, of San Francisco, the advance favorite, who fired even par also for 290.

Mangrum Is Leader Of Money Winners

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (INS)—Lloyd Mangrum failed to do any better than tie with Lew Worsham for third place in the Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta today but his share of the prize money — $1,162.50—put him in the lead as a pro golf moneymaker.

Mangrum's total for the season is $11,773.83, which surpasses the $1,254.6 amassed by Jim Ferrier who finished the Masters' in sixth place. Ferrier's share of the Augusta tournament was only $525, which dropped him out of the lead as top moneymaker.

Duke Unbeaten In Conference

Blank Wake Forest For Third Straight

RICHMOND, Va., April 8 (AP) — Duke's Blue Devils became the favorite today to cop the Southern Conference baseball championship as Coach Jack Coombs' team led the league's Southern Division standings with a perfect 3-0 record.

Duke's rags-to-riches rise over the course of a single winter brings up a question: what's the big reason?

And the answer appeared evident today after the Dukes brushed off Wake Forest's Deacons, the defending champions, yesterday by 8-0. The reason is sophomores. Coombs, an old hand in baseball, has worked an abundance of sophomore talent into an otherwise just so-so lineup.

Take yesterday's game with the Deacons, for example. Joe Lewis, a sophomore righthanded pitcher, tamed the Deacons on five hits. It was Lewis' third win. He beat Indiana and Yale and in the three outings has yielded only 11 hits.

Outfielder John Gibbons and first baseman Bill Werber are sophomores, too. Werber, son of the once-famous major league star of the same name, clouted the longest home run ever hit out of the Duke field in yesterday's battle. It was a 415-foot gem.

In addition, Werber picked up two singles for a perfect day at bat. Gibbons poked a single, double and triple in his four appearances. He batted in four tallies.

Recorders To Meet Grand Knights For K. Of C. Loop Title

The second half championship race of the Cumberland Knights of Columbus Bowling League ended yesterday with the Grand Knights the winners by the margin of eight games over the Chancellors.

In the final matches, the Grand Knights blanked the Recorders, 3-0, and the Guards took three games from the Chancellors.

High scorers in yesterday's matches were: Benny LaNeve, Grand Knights, 210-563; John Aaron, Guards, 203-487; Tom McGeady, Chancellors, 173-487; Art Beaulieu, Recorders, 178-469.

The roll-off for the championship between the Recorders, first half winners, and the Grand Knights is set for Sunday, April 15 at 2 p. m. on the Club Recreation alleys. The league banquet will follow at 6:30 p. m. at the K. of C. Home. Final standings of the second half race:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Grand Knights	31	8	.795
Chancellors	23	16	.590
Guards	13	26	.333
Recorders	11	28	.282

Cary Middlecoff Fined $100 By PGA

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 18 (INS) — A fine of $100 was imposed today on Cary Middlecoff by the Professional Golfers Association for his action in withdrawing from the recent Jacksonville, Fla., open tournament.

PGA Tournament Chairman Howard Capps said further disciplinary measures were taken in ordering the Memphis linksman to write a letter of apology to Sandy Cliett, head man of the Jacksonville tournament.

Middlecoff, who accepted the penalty gracefully, had slammed his ball off the 14th green in the second round of the meet in a show of disgust. He refused to continue playing and criticised the condition of the greens.

Ohio Bowler Leads

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 8 (INS)—Dr. Daniel J. Smally of Cincinnati moved into the all-events lead of the American Bowling Congress tournament in St. Paul today with a total of 1,906 for nine games.

A Minnesota bowler, rolling in his first ABC, took over the early singles lead when Ben Kautz of Austin counted 657.

EXHIBITION GAMES

GIANTS POUND TRIBE

DALLAS, April 8 (AP) — The New York Giants hammered out a 10-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians before an overflow crowd of 12,929 at Burnett Field today.

Jack Kramer, former American League star, pitched the full distance for the Giants, checking the Indians on seven hits. The Tribe run in the seventh inning was the first made off Kramer this spring. He previously had pitched 13 scoreless innings. Score:

PHILS SUBDUE BUCS

NEW ORLEANS, April 8 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies fought off the Pittsburgh Pirates to win 10-9 today after the belligerent Bucs tied the exhibition game at 9-9 in the seventh inning.

The deadlock was broken in the ninth when Del Ennis, Philadelphia outfielder, doubled and then scored after Gus Bell caught Andy Seminick's fly. Score:

CHICKS TOP TIGERS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 8 (AP) — The Detroit Tigers were held to seven scattered hits and dropped their second straight game to the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Association 5 to 4 today.

There was never much doubt about the outcome after the first inning when the Chicks jumped on Ray Herbert for three hits and a walk for three runs. Pat Seerey, the ex-Cleveland and Chicago White Sox outfielder, iced the contest in the third with a two-run homer. Score:

CARDINALS LOSE, 6-5

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 8 (AP) — The Beaumont Roughnecks finally wore down big Red Munger in the eighth inning to take a 6 to 5 victory from the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Munger held the Beaumont club to two hits for seven innings, but let go with three walks and two hits for three runs in the eighth. Score:

WILLIE HURLS 1-HITTER

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 8 (AP)—Cincinnati's red hot Reds, behind the one-hit pitching of knuckleballer Willie Ramsdell, smothered the Washington Senators 6-1 here today.

Gil Coan's first inning nubber was the only safety the Senators could drum up off Ramsdell's tantalizing knuckler. This, along with a hit batsman, infield out and long fly, enabled Washington to escape a whitewashing. Score:

A'S WHIP ORIOLES

BALTIMORE, April 8 (AP)—Diminutive Bobby Shantz tossed a four-hitter against the Baltimore International League club today as the Philadelphia Athletics scored an easy 7-1 victory over the minor leaguers.

Shantz, a five foot seven southpaw, was the first Mackman to go the route this spring. A home run by Stan (Hondo) Hollmig, a Philadelphia Phillies' farmboy, deprived Shantz of a shutout. Score:

Horvath Gets 30 Tallies In Spas' Victory

St. Francis Defeated, 105-85; Mounts Refuse To Play, Fire Coach

Cumberland's Spas rung down the curtain on their 1950-51 basketball season last night by whipping the St. Francis Collegians, an aggregation from St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa., in charge of Coach "Skip" Hughes, by the score of 105-85 on SS. Peter and Paul court.

The Pennsylvania team became a substitute attraction when Father Michael J. Kennedy of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., refused to permit the Mason Dixon Conference champions to keep a date that had been arranged by Coach William V. Keegan of the Spas and Coach Pete Caruso of the Mounts.

Caused Firing Of Coach

Announcement was made by Father Kennedy that the scheduled post-season game here figured in the firing of Coach Caruso who joined Mt. St. Mary's last fall after coaching at St. Peter's College, Jersey City, N. J. Father Kennedy announced that Caruso "was dropped because of a policy disagreement." The disagreement, he added, included scheduling of the post-season contest against the Cumberland pros.

The game here had been arranged on a "hush-hush" basis, he added, and "without the sanction or knowledge of the college."

When St. Mary's pulled out, Keegan got the last minute replacement in the St. Francis aggregation which Dr. Hughes brought here. The St. Francis College varsity squad defeated the Spas twice during the regular season. Sharick, Palonis, Clancy, Banchansky, Stapleton, O'Brien and Hleba who played here with St. Francis in two previous games were not with the squad for last night's game.

The Pennsylvanians led the Spas at the quarter, 24-21 and at halftime, 49-47, but the Spas took the lead early in the third stanza, held the long end of a 77-64 count going into the final heat and were never headed.

Horvath Gets 30 Points

Paul Horvath, star center of the North Carolina State Wolfpack, Southern Conference champions, led the Spas' attack with 30 points. The 6-foot-7 sharpshooter rang up nine field goals and hooped 12 of 20 free throws. Bob Pence was runner-up with eight goals and 17 points while George Geatz tossed in 14 tallies on seven double-deckers. Bob Lookabaugh, Jimmy Eckard and Norman Geatz got into the game and showed up exceptionally well, especially Geatz who banged in four fielders.

Bill Wanish and diminutive Jimmy Farace shared 40 points for St. Francis while Johnny Bodner got 15 and Dugan 15.

The Spas scored 42 goals to 33 for the losers and meshed 21 of 36 free throws against 19 out of 30 for the Keystone Staters.

The game was handled by Vinnie Farrell and Al Garry who called 51 personal fouls—29 on St. Francis and 22 on the locals who concluded the season with a 14-18 record.

Only 147 paying patrons witnessed the finale. Lineups:

MIT Yawl Is Winner Of MacMillan Races

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 8 (AP) — M. I. T.'s Vigilant sailed to victory today in the MacMillan cup races.

The M. I. T. yawl, piloted by Howard Fawcett, ran second today behind Harvard, but its two day total of 21¼ points took the MacMillan Trophy.

Harvard tacked too close to the finish line in yesterday's race, and rammed with the Cornell craft. That disqualified the Harvard yawl.

The MacMillan race is the oldest active intercollegiate race in the country. It was started in 1928 by Hugh MacMillan of Baltimore.

Summaries: M. I. T., 21¼; Brown, 15; Princeton, 13; Drevel, Penn State and Dartmouth, 12; Harvard, 11¼; Coast Guard, 10, and Navy and Cornell, 9.

Dr. Yeager, Jordan Win Trap Shoot

Former Shatters 99, Francis Is Runner-Up In Ridgeley Events

Dr. W. H. Yeager of Hagerstown smashed 99 out of 100 targets to win the 16-yard singles event of the registered trapshooting tournament held yesterday at the traps of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club.

Despite a steady rain, 15 gunners of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland participated in the program of singles and handicap events.

Tony Francis, Westernport, and Paul Hornick, Sr., Johnstown, Pa., were tied for the runner-up spot with scores of 97. Fourth place went to Paul Hornick, Jr., Johnstown, who broke 95 targets.

Charles "Lefty" Jordan, Cumberland, hit 48 out of 50 targets from the 21-yard-line to win the handicap event. Tony Francis also was runner-up in this race with 47 from 19 yards.

The club's next registered shoot is set for Sunday, April 22. Yesterday's results:

100 SINGLES

Dr. W. H. Yeager, Hagerstown, 99; Tony Francis, Westernport, 97; Paul Hornick, Sr., Johnstown, Pa., 97; Paul Hornick, Jr., Johnstown, 95; Dr. R. C. Snavely, Hagerstown, 94; John J. Lohr, Johnstown, Pa., 93; Edgar H. McDonald, Headsville, W. Va., 91; Merle C. Houseworth, Bedford, Pa., 91; George T. Kauffman, Johnstown, Pa., 90; J. A. Smith, Johnstown, Pa., 87; Lorraine Eisenberg, Cumberland, 85; Dr. E. C. Boyer, Johnstown, 82.

50 HANDICAP

Charles Jordan, Cumberland, 48 (21); Tony Francis, Westernport, 47 (19); Russ McElfish, Bedford, Pa., 45 (21); Dr. R. C. Snavely, 44 (18); Edgar H. McDonald, 41 (23); Arthur P. Hoffa, Barton, 38 (22); Merle Houseworth, 38 (21); Lorraine Eisenberg, 36 (18).

Women Golfers Voted Into Hall Of Fame

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (INS) — Babe Zaharias, Louise Suggs, Patty Berg and Betty Jameson were vaulted today into the Hall of Fame in women's golf.

Their selection was announced at the Masters Golf Tournament by the nine-man Hall of Fame committee which chose the Augusta Country Club as the site for the hall and a museum of women's golf.

Mrs. Zaharias, of Tampa, Fla., who won the first three women's tournaments this season, was elected to the hall unanimously. Miss Suggs of Carrollton, Ga., received eight votes; Miss Berg, of Minneapolis, seven votes, and Miss Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., four.

Other women golfers so honored are Glenna Collett Vare, Beatrix Hoyt, Dorothy Campbell Hurd, Alexa Stirling, Margaret Curtis and Virginia Van Wie.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Ben Chapman is the fifth former major leaguer to manage the Tampa Smokers in the Class B Florida-International League. The others have been Tony Cuccinello, Travis Jackson, Jack Russell and Wes Ferrell.

Nation's Best Amateur Boxers Vie At Boston

Norvel Lee Is Among 168 In AAU Contests

BOSTON, April 8 (AP) — Some 168 of the best amateur boxers in the United States, Hawaii, British Columbia and the American military forces open a busy three day battle for eight national A.A.U. championships tomorrow in Boston Garden.

Only two of last year's champions, heavyweight Norvel Lee and light heavy Eldridge Thompson, both of Washington, D. C., are back to defend their crowns.

Two beaten finalists from a year ago, featherweight Dick Rall and welterweight Dick Graddob, both of Seattle, Wash., also will try to cop titles this time.

The team crown which last year went to Philadelphia looks to be destined for Washington, D. C., Seattle, San Francisco, or the Hawaiian squad, but several other teams appear strong contenders.

Among the service groups entered are Quonset, R. I., Naval Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C., Marines, the U. S. S. Mississippi, and Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Station.

These service squads boast some real good punchers, especially Andy Anderson, classy Quonset welterweight, and Mario Pinelli, Camp Lejeune featherweight.

Heavyweight Lee, a Howard University student who was alternate on the 1948 U. S. Olympic team and recently won the East-West Golden Gloves title in Chicago, is a clever boxer who can hit.

The Vancouver, B. C., team—first ever sent to the Nationals — has Lennie Cupchak, Vancouver lightweight champion, featherweight Len Walters and Bobbie Shires, a bantamweight.

New England's squad promises to be a bit more of a threat for titles than in recent years with several experienced boys returning.

Other topnotchers entered are Hawaii's Leo Labang and Camp Lejeune's Henry Montanez in the 112-pound class; Kildo Martinez of Gonzales, Calif., Teruo Fuji of Quonset, and Hugh Minsker of Portland, Ore., in the 118s; featherweights Leo Anderson of Oakland, Calif., and Aladino Gusman of Hawaii; the veteran Walter Rawles of Norfolk, Va., Clarence Wallace of Washington, D. C., and Lou Wigfall of Quonset in the lightweight division.

Willie Davis, Washington, D. C., Ray Gil, Camp Stoneham, Calif., Dickie Wong, Hawaii and Wendell Delorme of Portland, Ore., in the 147's; Bobby Jackson of Cleveland, Bobby King of Everett, Mass. and Bob Slaughter, Philadelphia, in the middleweight class; light heavies Fred Townsend of Quonset, Jim Steadman of Billings, Mont., and Willie McLendon of Camp Lejeune; and Heavyweights Freddie Brown, Seattle, Warnell Barrett, Baltimore and Jesse Brown, Toledo, Ohio.

Women Golfers Meet

Ben Hogan's 280 Wins Masters Tourney By Two Strokes

Texan Noses Out Skee Riegel At Augusta To Cop Top Prize

Little Ben Posts 68 Last Round, Completes Slam Of Pro Titles

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (AP) — Icicle-nerved Ben Hogan added a sensational flourish to one of the great comeback sagas in sports today when he won his first Masters Golf Championship with a near-record 280.

The gristly little man from Texas subdued Augusta National's treacherous acres with a grim and meticulous last round 68, four under par golf that burned off all opposition.

He finished two strokes ahead of Robert (Skee) Riegel, the freshman professional from Tulsa, Okla., who posted a 71 shortly after lunch and then stood around suffering as reports of Hogan birdies and pars drifted back to the clubhouse.

The 38-year-old National Open champion,, winner of that crown twice and the PGA as many times, thus completed his slam of major American pro championships.

Until today, the Masters had always escaped him. He finished second in 1942 and 1946.

Challengers Flounder

Other leading challengers — Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum, Dave Douglas and Cary Middlecoff—floundered on that short stretch of the backside—the 10th, 11th and 12th holes—that has become known to the golfers as "Heartbreak Highway."

Mangrum took a costly five on the par-three, water-protected 12th for a 73 that gave him third place tie at 286 with Lew Worsham, Jr., of Oakmont, Pa. Worsham, playing with the new champion, had a 73 for the final round.

Snead, the West Virginia capitalist who was tied with Riegel for the lead going into the final round, dumped two balls into the water and took a nightmarish eight on the par four 11th. He wound up with an 80 that put him down in the final standings with Byron Nelson and John Bulla at 291.

Demaret Posts 299

The defending champion and three-time winner, Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., wound up a rather miserable week with a 71 for a 299, sixteen strokes worse than his winning score a year ago.

Hogan, fashioned a 33-35—68 over the par 36-36—72 course that was just one swing off the record held by Ralph Guldahl (1939) and Claude Harmon (1948).

Hogan, whose life and golf career hung in a precarious balance after he was injured in an automobile accident in Van Horn, Tex., in the winter of 1949, heard of Riegel's fine finish while he was going up the eighth tee.

Hogan had 14 pars and four birdies. His only five of the day, his second in two days, came on the 485-yard 15th when he played it close to the vest.

15,000 Follow Ben

The wee champion played meticulously slow, measuring every difficult assignment for minutes and taking no unnecessary changes.

Hogan, with a crowd of 15,000 surging at his heels under a bright sun birdied three of the front side holes—the second, third and eighth. The other birdie was on the 13th, where he sank his longest putt of the day—an 8-footer. The rest of time he was machine grinding out pars just as he needed them.

Riegel had a scrambling round but one he later called "filled with luck." On four holes he came out of trees and traps to get his par. At the same time he three-putted three greens—the first, third and ninth.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., shot a 72 for a score of 288 that gave him fifth place, followed by the veteran Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., who had a 72 for 289 and Jim Ferrier, of San Francisco, the advance favorite, who fired even par also for 290.

Mangrum Is Leader Of Money Winners

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (INS)—Lloyd Mangrum failed to do any better than tie with Lew Worsham for third place in the Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta today but his share of the prize money — $1,162.50—put him in the lead as a pro golf moneymaker.

Mangrum's total for the season is $11,773.83, which surpasses the $1,254.6 amassed by Jim Ferrier who finished the Masters' in sixth place. Ferrier's share of the Augusta tournament was only $525, which dropped him out of the lead as top moneymaker.

Duke Unbeaten In Conference

Blank Wake Forest For Third Straight

RICHMOND, Va., April 8 (AP) — Duke's Blue Devils became the favorite today to cop the Southern Conference baseball championship as Coach Jack Coombs' team led the league's Southern Division standings with a perfect 3-0 record.

Duke's rags-to-riches rise over the course of a single winter brings up a question: what's the big reason?

And the answer appeared evident today after the Dukes brushed off Wake Forest's Deacons, the defending champions, yesterday by 8-0. The reason is sophomores. Coombs, an old hand in baseball, has worked an abundance of sophomore talent into an otherwise just so-so lineup.

Take yesterday's game with the Deacons, for example. Joe Lewis, a sophomore righthanded pitcher, tamed the Deacons on five hits. It was Lewis' third win. He beat Indiana and Yale and in the three outings has yielded only 11 hits.

Outfielder John Gibbons and first baseman Bill Werber are sophomores, too. Werber, son of the once-famous major league star of the same name, clouted the longest home run ever hit out of the Duke field in yesterday's battle. It was a 415-foot gem.

In addition, Werber picked up two singles for a perfect day at bat. Gibbons poked a single, double and triple in his four appearances. He batted in four tallies.

Recorders To Meet Grand Knights For K. Of C. Loop Title

The second half championship race of the Cumberland Knights of Columbus Bowling League ended yesterday with the Grand Knights the winners by the margin of eight games over the Chancellors.

In the final matches, the Grand Knights blanked the Recorders, 3-0, and the Guards took three games from the Chancellors.

High scorers in yesterday's matches were: Benny LaNeve, Grand Knights, 210-563; John Aaron, Guards, 203-487; Tom McGeady, Chancellors, 173-487; Art Beaulieu, Recorders, 178-469.

The roll-off for the championship between the Recorders, first half winners, and the Grand Knights is set for Sunday, April 15 at 2 p. m. on the Club Recreation alleys. The league banquet will follow at 6:30 p. m. at the K. of C. Home. Final standings of the second half race:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Grand Knights	31	8	.795
Chancellors	23	16	.590
Guards	13	26	.333
Recorders	11	28	.282

Cary Middlecoff Fined $100 By PGA

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 18 (INS) — A fine of $100 was imposed today on Cary Middlecoff by the Professional Golfers Association for his action in withdrawing from the recent Jacksonville, Fla., open tournament.

PGA Tournament Chairman Howard Capps said further disciplinary measures were taken in ordering the Memphis linksman to write a letter of apology to Sandy Cliett, head man of the Jacksonville tournament.

Middlecoff, who accepted the penalty gracefully, had slammed his ball off the 14th green in the second round of the meet in a show of disgust. He refused to continue playing and criticised the condition of the greens.

Ohio Bowler Leads

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 8 (INS)—Dr. Daniel J. Smally of Cincinnati moved into the all-events lead of the American Bowling Congress tournament in St. Paul today with a total of 1,906 for nine games.

A Minnesota bowler, rolling in his first ABC, took over the early singles lead when Ben Kautz of Austin counted 657.

EXHIBITION GAMES

GIANTS POUND TRIBE

DALLAS, April 8 (AP) — The New York Giants hammered out a 10-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians before an overflow crowd of 12,929 at Burnett Field today.

Jack Kramer, former American League star, pitched the full distance for the Giants, checking the Indians on seven hits. The Tribe run in the seventh inning was the first made off Kramer this spring. He previously had pitched 13 scoreless innings. Score:

PHILS SUBDUE BUCS

NEW ORLEANS, April 8 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies fought off the Pittsburgh Pirates to win 10-9 today after the belligerent Bucs tied the exhibition game at 9-9 in the seventh inning.

The deadlock was broken in the ninth when Del Ennis, Philadelphia outfielder, doubled and then scored after Gus Bell caught Andy Seminick's fly. Score:

CHICKS TOP TIGERS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 8 (AP) — The Detroit Tigers were held to seven scattered hits and dropped their second straight game to the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Association 5 to 4 today.

There was never much doubt about the outcome after the first inning when the Chicks jumped on Ray Herbert for three hits and a walk for three runs. Pat Seerey, the ex-Cleveland and Chicago White Sox outfielder, iced the contest in the third with a two-run homer. Score:

DETROIT (A) ...... 010 002 010—4 7 2

CARDINALS LOSE, 6-5

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 8 (AP) — The Beaumont Roughnecks finally wore down big Red Munger in the eighth inning to take a 6 to 5 victory from the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Munger held the Beaumont club to two hits for seven innings, but let go with three walks and two hits for three runs in the eighth. Score:

WILLIE HURLS 1-HITTER

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 8 (AP)—Cincinnati's red hot Reds, behind the one-hit pitching of knuckleballer Willie Ramsdell, smothered the Washington Senators 6-1 here today.

Gil Coan's first inning nubber was the only safety the Senators could drum up off Ramsdell's tantalizing knuckler. This, along with a hit batsman, infield out and long fly, enabled Washington to escape a whitewashing. Score:

A'S WHIP ORIOLES

BALTIMORE, April 8 (AP)—Diminutive Bobby Shantz tossed a four-hitter against the Baltimore International League club today as the Philadelphia Athletics scored an easy 7-1 victory over the minor leaguers.

Shantz, a five foot seven southpaw, was the first Mackman to go the route this spring. A home run by Stan (Hondo) Hollmig, a Philadelphia Phillies' farmboy, deprived Shantz of a shutout. Score:

NEWCOMBE IS BLASTED

ATLANTA, April 8 (AP)—The Atlanta Crackers scored seven runs off Don Newcombe in a ragged seventh inning to overcome Brooklyn, 8-6, before an overflow crowd of 17,522 today.

The giant negro led the veteran Kirby Higbe, who went the route for the homesters, 4-1, until the fatal stanza. Then six assorted hits and three errors cost him the lead. Pitching for the first time since March 27, Newcombe was touched for 14 hits and walked four. Score:

Horvath Gets 30 Tallies In Spas' Victory

St. Francis Defeated, 105-85; Mounts Refuse To Play, Fire Coach

Cumberland's Spas rung down the curtain on their 1950-51 basketball season last night by whipping the St. Francis Collegians, an aggregation from St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa., in charge of Coach "Skip" Hughes, by the score of 105-85 on SS. Peter and Paul court.

The Pennsylvania team became a substitute attraction when Father Michael J. Kennedy of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., refused to permit the Mason Dixon Conference champions to keep a date that had been arranged by Coach William V. Keegan of the Spas and Coach Pete Caruso of the Mounts.

Caused Firing Of Coach

Announcement was made by Father Kennedy that the scheduled post-season game here figured in the firing of Coach Caruso who joined Mt. St. Mary's last fall after coaching at St. Peter's College, Jersey City, N. J. Father Kennedy announced that Caruso "was dropped because of a policy disagreement." The disagreement, he added, included scheduling of the post-season contest against the Cumberland pros.

The game here had been arranged on a "hush-hush" basis, he added, and "without the sanction or knowledge of the college."

When St. Mary's pulled out, Keegan got the last minute replacement in the St. Francis aggregation which Dr. Hughes brought here. The St. Francis College varsity squad defeated the Spas twice during the regular season. Sharick, Palonis, Clancy, Banchansky, Stapleton, O'Brien and Hleba who played here with St. Francis in two previous games were not with the squad for last night's game.

The Pennsylvanians led the Spas at the quarter, 24-21 and at half-time, 49-47, but the Spas took the lead early in the third stanza, held the long end of a 77-64 count going into the final heat and were never headed.

Horvath Gets 30 Points

Paul Horvath, star center of the North Carolina State Wolfpack, Southern Conference champions, led the Spas' attack with 30 points. The 6-foot-7 sharpshooter rang up nine field goals and hooped 12 of 20 free throws. Bob Pence was runner-up with eight goals and 17 points while George Geatz tossed in 14 tallies on seven double-deckers. Bob Lookabaugh, Jimmy Eckard and Norman Geatz got into the game and showed up exceptionally well, especially Geatz who banged in four fielders.

Bill Wanish and diminutive Jimmy Farace shared 40 points for St. Francis while Johnny Bodner got 15 and Dugan 15.

The Spas scored 42 goals to 33 for the losers and meshed 21 of 36 free throws against 19 out of 30 for the Keystone Staters.

The game was handled by Vinnie Farrell and Al Garry who called 51 personal fouls—29 on St. Francis and 22 on the locals who concluded the season with a 14-18 record.

Only 147 paying patrons witnessed the finale. Lineups:

MIT Yawl Is Winner Of MacMillan Races

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 8 (AP) — M. I. T.'s Vigilant sailed to victory today in the MacMillan cup races.

The M. I. T. yawl, piloted by Howard Fawcett, ran second today behind Harvard, but its two day total of 21¼ points took the MacMillan Trophy.

Harvard tacked too close to the finish line in yesterday's race, and rammed with the Cornell craft. That disqualified the Harvard yawl.

The MacMillan race is the oldest active intercollegiate race in the country. It was started in 1928 by Hugh MacMillan of Baltimore.

Summaries: M. I. T., 21¼; Brown, 15; Princeton, 13; Drevel, Penn State and Dartmouth, 12; Harvard, 11¼; Coast Guard, 10, and Navy and Cornell, 9.

Dr. Yeager, Jordan Win Trap Shoot

Former Shatters 99, Francis Is Runner-Up In Ridgeley Events

Dr. W. H. Yeager of Hagerstown smashed 99 out of 100 targets to win the 16-yard singles event of the registered trapshooting tournament held yesterday at the traps of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club.

Despite a steady rain, 15 gunners of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland participated in the program of singles and handicap events.

Tony Francis, Westernport, and Paul Hornick, Sr., Johnstown, Pa., were tied for the runner-up spot with scores of 97. Fourth place went to Paul Hornick, Jr., Johnstown, who broke 95 targets.

Charles "Lefty" Jordan, Cumberland, hit 48 out of 50 targets from the 21-yard-line to win the handicap event. Tony Francis also was runner-up in this race with 47 from 19 yards.

The club's next registered shoot is set for Sunday, April 22. Yesterday's results:

100 SINGLES

Nation's Best Amateur Boxers Vie At Boston

Norvel Lee Is Among 168 In AAU Contests

BOSTON, April 8 (AP) — Some 168 of the best amateur boxers in the United States, Hawaii, British Columbia and the American military forces open a busy three day battle for eight national A.A.U. championships tomorrow in Boston Garden.

Only two of last year's champions, heavyweight Norvel Lee and light heavy Eldridge Thompson, both of Washington, D. C., are back to defend their crowns.

Two beaten finalists from a year ago, featherweight Dick Rall and welterweight Dick Graddob, both of Seattle, Wash., also will try to cop titles this time.

The team crown which last year went to Philadelphia looks to be destined for Washington, D. C., Seattle, San Francisco, or the Hawaiian squad, but several other teams appear strong contenders.

Among the service groups entered are Quonset, R. I., Naval Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C., Marines, the U. S. S. Mississippi, and Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Station.

These service squads boast some real good punchers, especially Andy Anderson, classy Quonset welterweight, and Mario Pinelli, Camp Lejeune featherweight.

Heavyweight Lee, a Howard University student who was alternate on the 1948 U. S. Olympic team and recently won the East-West Golden Gloves title in Chicago, is a clever boxer who can hit.

The Vancouver, B. C., team—first ever sent to the Nationals — has Lennie Cupchak, Vancouver lightweight champion, featherweight Len Walters and Bobbie Shires, a bantamweight.

New England's squad promises to be a bit more of a threat for titles than in recent years with several experienced boys returning.

Other topnotchers entered are Hawaii's Leo Labang and Camp Lejeune's Henry Montanez in the 112-pound class; Kildo Martinez of Gonzales, Calif., Teruo Fuji of Quonset, and Hugh Minsker of Portland, Ore., in the 118s; featherweights Leo Anderson of Oakland, Calif., and Aladino Gusman of Hawaii; the veteran Walter Rawles of Norfolk, Va., Clarence Wallace of Washington, D. C., and Lou Wigfall of Quonset in the lightweight division.

Willie Davis, Washington, D. C., Ray Gil, Camp Stoneham, Calif., Dickie Wong, Hawaii and Wendell Delorme of Portland, Ore., in the 147's; Bobby Jackson of Cleveland, Bobby King of Everett, Mass. and Bob Slaughter, Philadelphia, in the middleweight class; light heavies Fred Townsend of Quonset, Jim Steadman of Billings, Mont., and Willie McLendon of Camp Lejeune; and Heavyweights Freddie Brown, Seattle, Warnell Barrett, Baltimore and Jesse Brown, Toledo, Ohio.

Women Golfers Meet

Ben Hogan's 280 Wins Masters Tourney By Two Strokes

Texan Noses Out Skee Riegel At Augusta To Cop Top Prize

Little Ben Posts 68 Last Round, Completes Slam Of Pro Titles

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (AP) — Icicle-nerved Ben Hogan added a sensational flourish to one of the great comeback sagas in sports today when he won his first Masters Golf Championship with a near-record 280.

The gristly little man from Texas subdued Augusta National's treacherous acres with a grim and meticulous last round 68, four under par golf that burned off all opposition.

He finished two strokes ahead of Robert (Skee) Riegel, the freshman professional from Tulsa, Okla., who posted a 71 shortly after lunch and then stood around suffering as reports of Hogan birdies and pars drifted back to the clubhouse.

The 38-year-old National Open champion, winner of that crown twice and the PGA as many times, thus completed his slam of major American pro championships.

Until today, the Masters had always escaped him. He finished second in 1942 and 1946.

Challengers Flounder

Other leading challengers — Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum, Dave Douglas and Cary Middlecoff—floundered on that short stretch of the backside—the 10th, 11th and 12th holes—that has become known to the golfers as "Heartbreak Highway."

Mangrum took a costly five on the par-three, water-protected 12th for a 73 that gave him third place tie at 286 with Lew Worsham, Jr., of Oakmont, Pa. Worsham, playing with the new champion, had a 73 for the final round.

Snead, the West Virginia capitalist who was tied with Riegel for the lead going into the final round, dumped two balls into the water and took a nightmarish eight on the par four 11th. He wound up with an 80 that put him down in the final standings with Byron Nelson and John Bulla at 291.

Demaret Posts 299

The defending champion and three-time winner, Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., wound up a rather miserable week with a 71 for a 299, sixteen strokes worse than his winning score a year ago.

Hogan, fashioned a 33-35—68 over the par 36-36—72 course that was just one swing off the record held by Ralph Guldahl (1939) and Claude Harmon (1948).

Hogan, whose life and golf career hung in a precarious balance after he was injured in an automobile accident in Van Horn, Tex., in the winter of 1949, heard of Riegel's fine finish while he was going up the eighth tee.

Hogan had 14 pars and four birdies. His only five of the day, his second in two days, came on the 485-yard 15th when he played it close to the vest.

15,000 Follow Ben

The wee champion played meticulously slow, measuring every difficult assignment for minutes and taking no unnecessary changes.

Hogan, with a crowd of 15,000 surging at his heels under a bright sun birdied three of the front side holes—the second, third and eighth.

The other birdie was on the 13th, where he sank his longest putt of the day—an 8-footer. The rest of time he was machine grinding out pars just as he needed them.

Riegel had a scrambling round but one he later called "filled with luck." On four holes he came out of trees and traps to get his par. At the same time he three-putted three greens—the first, third and ninth.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., shot a 72 for a score of 288 that gave him fifth place, followed by the veteran Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., who had a 72 for 289 and Jim Ferrier, of San Francisco, the advance favorite, who fired even par also for 290.

Duke Unbeaten In Conference

Blank Wake Forest For Third Straight

RICHMOND, Va., April 8 (AP) — Duke's Blue Devils became the favorite today to cop the Southern Conference baseball championship as Coach Jack Coombs' team led the league's Southern Division standings with a perfect 3-0 record.

Duke's rags-to-riches rise over the course of a single winter brings up a question: what's the big reason?

And the answer appeared evident today after the Dukes brushed off Wake Forest's Deacons, the defending champions, yesterday by 8-0. The reason is sophomores. Coombs, an old hand in baseball, has worked an abundance of sophomore talent into an otherwise just so-so lineup.

Take yesterday's game with the Deacons, for example. Joe Lewis, a sophomore righthanded pitcher, tamed the Deacons on five hits. It was Lewis' third win. He beat Indiana and Yale and in the three outings has yielded only 11 hits.

Outfielder John Gibbons and first baseman Bill Werber are sophomores, too. Werber, son of the once-famous major league star of the same name, clouted the longest home run ever hit out of the Duke field in yesterday's battle. It was a 415-foot gem.

In addition, Werber picked up two singles for a perfect day at bat. Gibbons poked a single, double and triple in his four appearances. He batted in four tallies.

Recorders To Meet Grand Knights For K. Of C. Loop Title

The second half championship race of the Cumberland Knights of Columbus Bowling League ended yesterday with the Grand Knights the winners by the margin of eight games over the Chancellors.

In the final matches, the Grand Knights blanked the Recorders, 3-0, and the Guards took three games from the Chancellors.

High scorers in yesterday's matches were: Benny LaNeve, Grand Knights, 210-563; John Aaron, Guards, 203-487; Tom McGeady, Chancellors, 173-487; Art Beaulieu, Recorders, 178-469.

The roll-off for the championship between the Recorders, first half winners, and the Grand Knights is set for Sunday, April 15 at 2 p. m. on the Club Recreation alleys. The league banquet will follow at 6:30 p. m. at the K. of C. Home. Final standings of the second half race:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Grand Knights	31	8	.795
Chancellors	23	16	.590
Guards	13	26	.333

Mangrum Is Leader Of Money Winners

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (INS)—Lloyd Mangrum failed to do any better than tie with Lew Worsham for third place in the Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta today but his share of the prize money — $1,162.50—put him in the lead as a pro golf moneymaker.

Mangrum's total for the season is $11,773.83, which surpasses the $1,254.6 amassed by Jim Ferrier who finished the Masters' in sixth place. Ferrier's share of the Augusta tournament was only $525, which dropped him out of the lead as top moneymaker.

Cary Middlecoff Fined $100 By PGA

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 18 (INS) — A fine of $100 was imposed today on Cary Middlecoff by the Professional Golfers Association for his action in withdrawing from the recent Jacksonville, Fla., open tournament.

PGA Tournament Chairman Howard Capps said further disciplinary measures were taken in ordering the Memphis linksman to write a letter of apology to Sandy Cliett, head man of the Jacksonville tournament.

Middlecoff, who accepted the penalty gracefully, had slammed his ball off the 14th green in the second round of the meet in a show of disgust. He refused to continue playing and criticised the condition of the greens.

EXHIBITION GAMES

GIANTS POUND TRIBE

DALLAS, April 8 (AP) — The New York Giants hammered out a 10-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians before an overflow crowd of 12,929 at Burnett Field today.

Jack Kramer, former American League star, pitched the full distance for the Giants, checking the Indians on seven hits. The Tribe run in the seventh inning was the first made off Kramer this spring. He previously had pitched 13 scoreless innings. Score:

PHILS SUBDUE BUCS

NEW ORLEANS, April 8 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies fought off the Pittsburgh Pirates to win 10-9 today after the belligerent Bucs tied the exhibition game at 9-9 in the seventh inning.

The deadlock was broken in the ninth when Del Ennis, Philadelphia outfielder, doubled and then scored after Gus Bell caught Andy Seminick's fly. Score:

CHICKS TOP TIGERS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 8 (AP) — The Detroit Tigers were held to seven scattered hits and dropped their second straight game to the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Association 5 to 4 today.

There was never much doubt about the outcome after the first inning when the Chicks jumped on Ray Herbert for three hits and a walk for three runs. Pat Seerey, the ex-Cleveland and Chicago White Sox outfielder, iced the contest in the third with a two-run homer. Score:

CARDINALS LOSE, 6-5

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 8 (AP) — The Beaumont Roughnecks finally wore down big Red Munger in the eighth inning to take a 6 to 5 victory from the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Munger held the Beaumont club to two hits for seven innings, but let go with three walks and two hits for three runs in the eighth. Score:

WILLIE HURLS 1-HITTER

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 8 (AP)—Cincinnati's red hot Reds, behind the one-hit pitching of knuckleballer Willie Ramsdell, smothered the Washington Senators 6-1 here today.

Gil Coan's first inning nubber was the only safety the Senators could drum up off Ramsdell's tantalizing knuckler. This, along with a hit batsman, infield out and long fly, enabled Washington to escape a whitewashing. Score:

A'S WHIP ORIOLES

BALTIMORE, April 8 (AP)—Diminutive Bobby Shantz tossed a four-hitter against the Baltimore International League club today as the Philadelphia Athletics scored an easy 7-1 victory over the minor leaguers.

Shantz, a five foot seven southpaw, was the first Mackman to go the route this spring. A home run by Stan (Hondo) Hollmig, a Philadelphia Phillies' farmboy, deprived Shantz of a shutout. Score:

Horvath Gets 30 Tallies In Spas' Victory

St. Francis Defeated, 105-85; Mounts Refuse To Play, Fire Coach

Cumberland's Spas rung down the curtain on their 1950-51 basketball season last night by whipping the St. Francis Collegians, an aggregation from St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa., in charge of Coach "Skip" Hughes, by the score of 105-85 on SS. Peter and Paul court.

The Pennsylvania team became a substitute attraction when Father Michael J. Kennedy of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., refused to permit the Mason Dixon Conference champions to keep a date that had been arranged by Coach William V. Keegan of the Spas and Coach Pete Caruso of the Mounts.

Caused Firing Of Coach

Announcement was made by Father Kennedy that the scheduled post-season game here figured in the firing of Coach Caruso who joined Mt. St. Mary's last fall after coaching at St. Peter's College, Jersey City, N. J. Father Kennedy announced that Caruso "was dropped because of a policy disagreement." The disagreement, he added, included scheduling of the post-season contest against the Cumberland pros.

The game here had been arranged on a "hush-hush" basis, he added, and "without the sanction or knowledge of the college."

When St. Mary's pulled out, Keegan got the last minute replacement in the St. Francis aggregation which Dr. Hughes brought here. The St. Francis College varsity squad defeated the Spas twice during the regular season. Sharick, Palonis, Clancy, Banchansky, Stapleton, O'Brien and Hleba who played here with St. Francis in two previous games were not with the squad for last night's game.

The Pennsylvanians led the Spas at the quarter, 24-21 and at halftime, 49-47, but the Spas took the lead early in the third stanza, held the long end of a 77-64 count going into the final heat and were never headed.

Horvath Gets 30 Points

Paul Horvath, star center of the North Carolina State Wolfpack, Southern Conference champions, led the Spas' attack with 30 points. The 6-foot-7 sharpshooter rang up nine field goals and hooped 12 of 20 free throws. Bob Pence was runner-up with eight goals and 17 points while George Geatz tossed in 14 tallies on seven double-deckers. Bob Lookabaugh, Jimmy Eckard and Norman Geatz got into the game and showed up exceptionally well, especially Geatz who banged in four fielders.

Bill Wanish and diminutive Jimmy Farace shared 40 points for St. Francis while Johnny Bodner got 15 and Dugan 15.

The Spas scored 42 goals to 33 for the losers and meshed 21 of 36 free throws against 19 out of 30 for the Keystone Staters.

The game was handled by Vinnie Farrell and Al Garry who called 51 personal fouls—29 on St. Francis and 22 on the locals who concluded the season with a 14-18 record.

Only 147 paying patrons witnessed the finale. Lineups:

MIT Yawl Is Winner Of MacMillan Races

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 8 (AP) — M. I. T.'s Vigilant sailed to victory today in the MacMillan cup races.

The M. I. T. yawl, piloted by Howard Fawcett, ran second today behind Harvard, but its two day total of 21¼ points took the MacMillan Trophy.

Harvard tacked too close to the finish line in yesterday's race, and rammed with the Cornell craft. That disqualified the Harvard yawl.

The MacMillan race is the oldest active intercollegiate race in the country. It was started in 1928 by Hugh MacMillan of Baltimore.

Summaries: M. I. T., 21¼; Brown, 15; Princeton, 13; Drexel, Penn State and Dartmouth, 12; Harvard, 11¾; Coast Guard, 10, and Navy and Cornell, 9.

Dr. Yeager, Jordan Win Trap Shoot

Former Shatters 99, Francis Is Runner-Up In Ridgeley Events

Dr. W. H. Yeager of Hagerstown smashed 99 out of 100 targets to win the 16-yard singles event of the registered trapshooting tournament held yesterday at the traps of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club.

Despite a steady rain, 15 gunners of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland participated in the program of singles and handicap events.

Tony Francis, Westernport, and Paul Hornick, Sr., Johnstown, Pa., were tied for the runner-up spot with scores of 97. Fourth place went to Paul Hornick, Jr., Johnstown, who broke 95 targets.

Charles "Lefty" Jordan, Cumberland, hit 48 out of 50 targets from the 21-yard-line to win the handicap event. Tony Francis also was runner-up in this race with 47 from 19 yards.

The club's next registered shoot is set for Sunday, April 22. Yesterday's results:

100 SINGLES

Dr. W. H. Yeager, Hagerstown, 99; Tony Francis, Westernport, 97; Paul Hornick, Sr., Johnstown, Pa., 97; Paul Hornick, Jr., Johnstown, 95; Dr. R. C. Snavely, Hagerstown, 94; John J. Lohr, Johnstown, Pa., 93; Edgar H. McDonald, Headsville, W. Va., 91; Merle C. Houseworth, Bedford, Pa., 91; George T. Kauffman, Johnstown, Pa., 90; J. A. Smith, Johnstown, Pa., 87; Lorraine Eisenberg, Cumberland, 85; Dr. E. C. Boyer, Johnstown, 82.

50 HANDICAP

Charles Jordan, Cumberland, 48 (21); Tony Francis, Westernport, 47 (19); Russ McElfish, Bedford, Pa., 45 (21); Dr. R. C. Snavely, 44 (18); Edgar H. McDonald, 41 (23); Arthur P. Heffa, Barton, 38 (22); Merle Houseworth, 38 (21); Lorraine Eisenberg, 36 (18).

Women Golfers Voted Into Hall Of Fame

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (INS) — Babe Zaharias, Louise Suggs, Patty Berg and Betty Jameson were vaulted today into the Hall of Fame in women's golf.

Their selection was announced at the Masters Golf Tournament by the nine-man Hall of Fame committee which chose the Augusta Country Club as the site for the hall and a museum of women's golf.

Mrs. Zaharias, of Tampa, Fla., who won the first three women's tournaments this season, was elected to the hall unanimously. Miss Suggs of Carrollton, Ga., received eight votes; Miss Berg, of Minneapolis, seven votes, and Miss Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., four.

Other women golfers so honored are Glenna Collett Vare, Beatrix Hoyt, Dorothy Campbell Hurd, Alexa Stirling, Margaret Curtis and Virginia Van Wie.

Team Meets Tonight

MAJORS TO SMOKERS

Nation's Best Amateur Boxers Vie At Boston

Norvel Lee Is Among 168 In AAU Contests

BOSTON, April 8 (AP) — Some 168 of the best amateur boxers in the United States, Hawaii, British Columbia and the American military forces open a busy three day battle for eight national A.A.U. championships tomorrow in Boston Garden.

Only two of last year's champions, heavyweight Norvel Lee and light heavy Eldridge Thompson, both of Washington, D. C., are back to defend their crowns.

Two beaten finalists from a year ago, featherweight Dick Rall and welterweight Dick Graddob, both of Seattle, Wash., also will try to cop titles this time.

The team crown which last year went to Philadelphia looks to be destined for Washington, D. C., Seattle, San Francisco, or the Hawaiian squad, but several other teams appear strong contenders.

Among the service groups entered are Quonset, R. I., Naval Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C., Marines, the U. S. S. Mississippi, and Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Station.

These service squads boast some real good punchers, especially Andy Anderson, classy Quonset welterweight, and Mario Pinelli, Camp Lejeune featherweight.

Heavyweight Lee, a Howard University student who was alternate on the 1948 U. S. Olympic team and recently won the East-West Golden Gloves title in Chicago, is a clever boxer who can hit.

The Vancouver, B. C., team—first ever sent to the Nationals — has Lennie Cupchak, Vancouver lightweight champion, featherweight Len Walters and Bobbie Shires, a bantamweight.

New England's squad promises to be a bit more of a threat for titles than in recent years with several experienced boys returning.

Other topnotchers entered are Hawaii's Leo Labang and Camp Lejeune's Henry Montanez in the 112-pound class; Kildo Martinez of Gonzales, Calif., Teruo Fuji of Quonset, and Hugh Minsker of Portland, Ore., in the 118s; featherweights Leo Anderson of Oakland, Calif., and Aladino Gusman of Hawaii; the veteran Walter Rawles of Norfolk, Va., Clarence Wallace of Washington, D. C., and Lou Wigfall of Quonset in the lightweight division.

Willie Davis, Washington, D. C., Ray Gil, Camp Stoneham, Calif., Dickie Wong, Hawaii and Wendell Delorme of Portland, Ore., in the 147's; Bobby Jackson of Cleveland, Bobby King of Everett, Mass. and Bob Slaughter, Philadelphia, in the middleweight class; light heavies Fred Townsend of Quonset, Jim Steadman of Billings, Mont., and Willie McLendon of Camp Lejeune; and Heavyweights Freddie Brown, Seattle, Warnell Barrett, Baltimore and Jesse Brown, Toledo, Ohio.

Women Golfers Meet

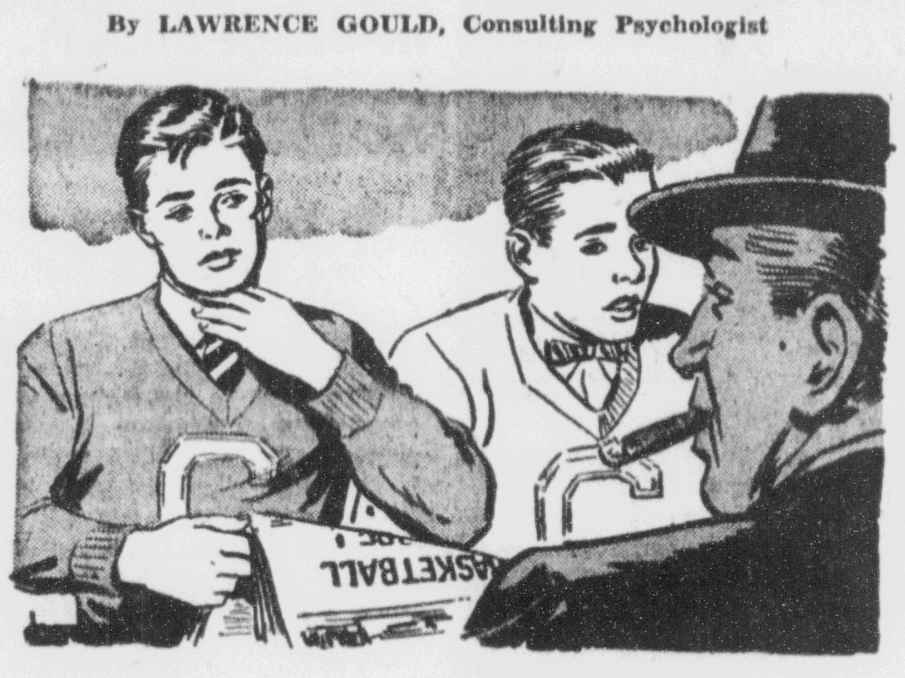
Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

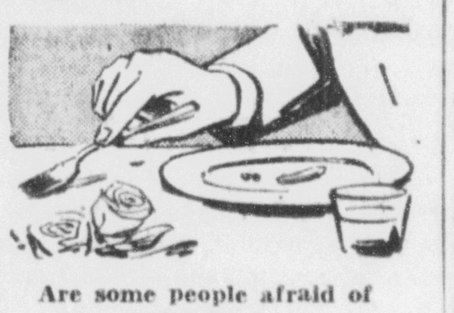


Are colleges to blame for disloyalty?

Answer: Not really. A student's fundamental character is established long before he reaches college age, and college only shows him more effective ways to express it, for better or worse. A boy who has grown up with the feeling that he was unjustly treated at home will find arguments at college to justify his becoming a rebel, or even a traitor; just as one whose parents made him feel that anybody who is honest is a "sucker" may sell out his team to gamblers. The best college in the world cannot train students to be good citizens if they are predisposed to be bad ones.

Does an only child "want" a new baby?

Answer: Quite the opposite, says Margaretta Harmon in The Family Circle. You will hear parents say they had a second child "so that the first would not be lonesome," and this may be true after the children have begun to grow up. But unless there is enough difference in age so that the firstborn can take a parental attitude toward the baby, he "wants the newcomer sent right back to the hospital so that he can resume his original status as the center of the household." In fact if you do not want the baby to get hurt, you had better watch the older child when they are together.



Are some people afraid of "finality"

Answer: That is how I should explain the sort of person who never quite completes any action—who leaves windows or doors open "just a crack," will not pull shades all the way down and perhaps insists on leaving food on his plate even when he is hungry. Unconsciously he dreads accepting full responsibility for his behavior even when it is good or harmless, and "hedges" by leaving everything he does slightly unfinished. A deep-rooted lack of confidence in himself explains his reacting that way.

Legion Asks

years, demands have risen by 22 per cent, while facilities have been improved only one per cent.

"It is not the Legions responsibility or objective," Dr. Cullen said, "to build institutions or set up facilities for the care of the orphaned, handicapped or underprivileged child. But it is our responsibility to see that existing institutions are properly conducted and able to meet demands.

It is the Legion's objective," he concluded, "to help furnish the 'trimmings' and the extras that may be needed in these facilities."

Dr. Cullen said, "so that every child gets a square deal, there are several "lacks" in the program, so far as Maryland is concerned. He listed these as, need for greater education facilities for the handicapped; lack of private dental service in many schools; lack of hospitals for chronic ill children below the age of five years; need for proper care of infants with tuberculosis; and provision for care and special training of mentally retarded Negroes.

Spending Huge Sum

Iverson said the Legion has spent $80,000,000 in Child Welfare work in 26 years and last year spent $6,800,000. Commander Stevens noted that the Legion, in 26 years has spent enough money to build a million dollar edifice in every state in the union, with $32,000,000 left over. "But" he noted, I am happy we spend it on our most precious possession, the youth of America, and not on buildings."

Weinberg reviewed the work of his department and his participation in the "Mid Century Conference on Children and Youth" held at the White House.

Recommending that government at every level take inventory of existing laws covering care of children and responsibility to the poor, handicapped and needy, Weinberg declared the federal government must and can be expected to step into the picture.

Federal Laws Needed

He stated that under existing laws, a father or a mother who deserts their children and goes into another state, cannot be brought to justice because of the wide difference in state laws covering desertion or non support. A federal law, which will be urged, would correct this situation, and make it impossible for a man to escape his family responsibilities by merely crossing a state line.

Weinberg also noted the federal government has made no provision for compulsory allotments from servicemen in Korea or elsewhere in the World. He declared, "the Legion does not want the Army to become a haven for men who desert their families."

The speaker declared that many local governments and local people fail to encourage adequate local laws which would eliminate much suffering and many handicaps thrown in the way of children. Better individual understanding of all these problems is important, he noted, and the Legion is furthering a broad education program in the field.

Weinberg said a free lunch program for every school child should be a federal responsibility, and that the same educational opportunities must be made available to every American child, regardless of race, color or creed.

There were about 200 at the open meeting, including county and municipal officials and representatives of welfare organizations.

Communist Paper

Turkmen republic, at a time when Alma Ata was in second place in a five-team tourney, behind Tashkent, capital of the Uzbek republic. The situation was such that if the Ashkhabad team scored two more goals against Alma Ata, Tashkent would sink to second and Ashkhabad would be first.

(The relationship of goals scored to goals scored against a team figures in the standings.)

Comrade Bekbayev, therefore, ordered Alma Ata's goalie to let Ashkhabad score two more goals. It was not an effort to throw the game, Pravda hinted, since Alma Ata was far ahead and the two goals would not figure in the final result. But the goalie was enraged. He went out onto the field and in the most obvious fashion started to kick a goal into his own net for Ashkhabad. His teammates stopped him.

Bekbayev ordered the Alma Ata captain off the field and repeated his order. When it still was not obeyed, he removed the captain from the game.

And that's as far as the story went, except that it seems probable Comrade Bekbayev no longer will be a big shot in sports out in Kazakh.

Crews Remove Bodies Of 22 Plane Victims

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., April 8 (AP)—Crews began today the grim task of removing bodies of 22 persons from the charred wreckage of an airliner which crashed and burned on the slopes of Santa Ynez peak Friday night.

Aided by bulldozers, workers required nearly a day to hack a trail a mile and a half through thick brush from a road to the crash scene, 23 miles northwest of here.

The bodies, several of which were mangled and burned beyond recognition, were placed on trailers and hauled by bulldozer over the rough trail to waiting ambulances. Then they were brought here for identification.

Indochina Invaded

HANOI, Indochina, April 8 (AP)—French army headquarters here said today a battalion of Chinese troops—probably Communist irregulars — invaded Northwest Indochina last week and seized two border towns. French troops airlifted to the area failed, however, to contact the invaders today and aerial observers found no trace of them.

4 Die In Car Plunge

MERRILL, Wis., April 8 (AP) — Four young people of this community drowned early today when their car missed a bridge and hurtled into the flood-swollen Prairie River on the northern edge of town.

Today's Sermonette

The advice which Paul gave to the early Christians at Corinth is good advice for us today. We want to be glad for the many blessings God has given to us. We want to seek a way of life that will lead toward Christian perfection. We want to be comforted as we face the many difficulties and discouragements which come to us daily. We want to live in a peaceful and harmonious way of life with all men. After we have lived progressively our Christian faith, the promise that the God of love and peace shall be with us will become a reality.

Matter Of Fact

booming economy without very high taxes, the most painful controls, and a tremendous national effort.

The trouble is that almost no one, to judge from the present mood of Congress is willing to make this sort of effort, despite the fact that united, self-disciplined exertion by this country and its allies, for a painful period of three or four years, could lead to a better time. It could lead to a time when the effort could be somewhat relaxed, when the immensely superior power of the free world would deter the Kremlin from further adventures, when the world could breathe a little freely again. It is for such a time that all men long. Yet President Thuman, whatever his virtues, seems constitutionally incapable of inspiring the hope which a great national effort needs to feed upon. Thus it has apparently become necessary to use constant applications of shock treatment, like spurs in the flanks of a balky old horse, in order to persuade the Congress and the country to do what must be done.

City Winning

tablished a national system of rating all players and the American Contract Bridge League has developed a standard method of awarding Master Point Certificates at all competitive bridge games.

Players go into League records in several categories. Juniors have no Master Points; Junior Masters, 1 to 9 points; Masters, 10 to 29 points; National Masters, 30 to 149 points; Senior Masters, 150 to 299 points; and Life Masters, 300 points or over.

A True Test Of Skill

"It's the only true test of skill," Heacox said, as he explained the tournament rules, outlining the method of creating the hands which are then kept intact and played by each player in the tournament.

"It's a good thing for the town, too," Heacox went on, "as these expert bridge players are a wonderful clientele. Many are doctors, lawyers, bankers, and other business men. Those who enter the tournament can see how the experts play and can play against them."

The Cumberland club has 75 members and is striving to attain a membership of 100 which would enable it to become a unit in the ACBL with many more special privileges, votes and extra tourneys.

"Bridge is great competitive recreation and many persons devote their entire lives to it," Heacox noted. "There are 865 clubs in the United States and Canada and over 25,000,000 players."

Invitations Mailed

The New York office of the ACBL mailed out the program for the local tournament to 1,600 known bridge players in Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Baltimore, Washington, Hagerstown, Altoona and other localities. The local club sent out an additional 350 circulars in the tri-state area plus invitations to players in every organization in Allegany County.

The April 14 and 15 dates have been awarded to the Cumberland club by the ACBL and the annual Western Maryland Sectional tournament will fall on these dates each year.

"The public is invited to attend," Heacox reminded, "and those who don't want to play but would like to watch will be provided seats around the players' tables."

It's big, it's international, it's universal this game of bridge, and Cumberland has become a hub to the ever growing, ever rolling wheel!

UMT Foes See New Concessions

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Opponents of immediate universal military training legislation say they are confident its sponsors will make further concessions this week to get their hard pressed bill approved in the House.

This bill, endorsed 32 to 3 by the House Armed Services Committee, would lay the groundwork for UMT as well as extend and toughen the draft law.

Rep. Short of Missouri, ranking Republican on the committee and leader of a bipartisan fight to knock out UMT provisions, said today he feels that a major victory has already been won by his side.

In his opinion all that is left in regard to training is UMT "in name only."

He referred to an announcement by Chairman Vinson, (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee that he will ask the committee tomorrow to endorse a change that Short says "takes the guts out of the bill."

Vinson's amendment in effect would give Congress the power to write its own UMT ticket, right down to spelling out rules and politeness by sergeants to recruits if it wanted to go so far — and not even the President would have anything to say about it.

Gen. MacArthur's

The letter has been widely interpreted here as another indication MacArthur would like to extend the war to the Chinese mainland. This Britain bitterly opposes.

An official Foreign Office spokesman, however, denied published reports that the government had made a formal protest to Washington about the letter.

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Two warships of the Israel navy will arrive at New York late this month for a month's good will visit to the United States.

Tobey And Wiley Plan Crime Probe Extender

WASHINGTON April 8 (AP)—The two Republican members of the Senate's special crime committee went ahead today with efforts to continue the investigation over the objections of Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn).

Sen. Tobey (R-NH) said he intended to introduce, for himself and Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), a resolution to extend the committee until next January 15 and ask for $150,000 to carry on the probe.

The committee has been given an extra 30 days to write its report and submit its legislative recommendations. It is due to expire at the end of this month after nearly a year of investigating at a cost of $265,000.

Big 4 Deputies Open Sixth Week Of Talks

PARIS, April 8 (AP)—Deputies of the Big Four return tomorrow to a conversational treadmill which promises to keep them talking for many more hours—possibly several weeks—on the major points creating East-West tension.

Going into their sixth week of talks, the deputies of the U. S., Britain, France and Russia have reached agreement on the wording of only two points in the agenda they are mapping for a projected Big Four foreign ministers' conference. There still are large areas of disagreement which must be ironed out in inch-by-inch compromise.

535 More Casualties

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 535 additional casualties of the war in Korea.

A new list reported 101 killed, 356 wounded, 22 missing in action and 56 injured in accidents.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Are colleges to blame for disloyalty?

Answer: Not really. A student's fundamental character is established long before he reaches college age, and college only shows him more effective ways to express it, for better or worse. A boy who has grown up with the feeling that he was unjustly treated at home will find arguments at college to justify his becoming a rebel, or even a traitor; just as one whose parents made him feel that anybody who is honest is a "sucker" may sell out his team to gamblers. The best college in the world cannot train students to be good citizens if they are predisposed to be bad ones.

Does an only child "want" a new baby?

Answer: Quite the opposite, says Margaretta Harmon in The Family Circle. You will hear parents say they had a second child "so that the first would not be lonesome," and this may be true after the children have begun to grow up. But unless there is enough difference in age so that the firstborn can take a parental attitude toward the baby, he "wants the newcomer sent right back to the hospital so that he can resume his original status as the center of the household." In fact if you do not want the baby to get hurt, you had better watch the older child when they are together.

Are some people afraid of "finality"

Answer: That is how I should explain the sort of person who never quite completes any action—who leaves windows or doors open "just a crack," will not pull shades all the way down and perhaps insists on leaving food on his plate even when he is hungry. Unconsciously he dreads accepting full responsibility for his behavior even when it is good or harmless, and "hedges" by leaving everything he does slightly unfinished. A deep-rooted lack of confidence in himself explains his reacting that way.

years, demands have risen by 22 per cent, while facilities have been improved only one per cent.

"It is not the Legions responsibility or objective," Dr. Cullen said, "to build institutions or set up facilities for the care of the orphaned, handicapped or underprivileged child. But it is our responsibility to see that existing institutions are properly conducted and able to meet demands.

It is the Legion's objective," he concluded, "to help furnish the 'trimmings' and the extras that may be needed in these facilities."

Dr. Cullen said, "so that every child gets a square deal, there are several "lacks" in the program, so far as Maryland is concerned. He listed these as, need for greater education facilities for the handicapped; lack of private dental service in many schools; lack of hospitals for chronic ill children below the age of five years; need for proper care of infants with tuberculosis; and provision for care and special training of mentally retarded Negroes.

Spending Huge Sum

Iverson said the Legion has spent $80,000,000 in Child Welfare work in 26 years and last year spent $6,800,000. Commander Stevens noted that the Legion, in 26 years has spent enough money to build a million dollar edifice in every state in the union, with $32,000,000 left over. "But" he noted, I am happy we spend it on our most precious possession, the youth of America, and not on buildings."

Weinberg reviewed the work of his department and his participation in the "Mid Century Conference on Children and Youth" held at the White House.

Recommending that government at every level take inventory of existing laws covering care of children and responsibility to the poor, handicapped and needy, Weinberg declared the federal government must and can be expected to step into the picture.

Federal Laws Needed

He stated that under existing laws, a father or a mother who deserts their children and goes into another state, cannot be brought to justice because of the wide difference in state laws covering desertion or non support. A federal law, which will be urged, would correct this situation, and make it impossible for a man to escape his family responsibilities by merely crossing a state line.

Weinberg also noted the federal government has made no provision for compulsory allotments from servicemen in Korea or elsewhere in the World. He declared, "the Legion does not want the Army to become a haven for men who desert their families."

The speaker declared that many local governments and local people fail to encourage adequate local laws which would eliminate much suffering and many handicaps thrown in the way of children. Better individual understanding of all these problems is important, he noted, and the Legion is furthering a broad education program in the field.

Weinberg said a free lunch program for every school child should be a federal responsibility, and that the same educational opportunities must be made available to every American child, regardless of race, color or creed.

There were about 200 at the open meeting, including county and municipal officials and representatives of welfare organizations.

Communist Paper

Turkmen republic, at a time when Alma Ata was in second place in a five-team tourney, behind Tashkent, capital of the Uzbek republic. The situation was such that if the Ashkhabad team scored two more goals against Alma Ata, Tashkent would sink to second and Ashkhabad would be first.

(The relationship of goals scored to goals scored against a team figures in the standings.)

Comrade Bekbayev, therefore, ordered Alma Ata's goalie to let Ashkhabad score two more goals. It was not an effort to throw the game, Pravda hinted, since Alma Ata was far ahead and the two goals would not figure in the final result. But the goalie was enraged. He went out onto the field and in the most obvious fashion started to kick a goal into his own net for Ashkhabad. His teammates stopped him.

Bekbayev ordered the Alma Ata captain off the field and repeated his order. When it still was not obeyed, he removed the captain from the game.

And that's as far as the story went, except that it seems probable Comrade Bekbayev no longer will be a big shot in sports out in Kazakh.

Crews Remove Bodies Of 22 Plane Victims

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., April 8 (AP)—Crews began today the grim task of removing bodies of 22 persons from the charred wreckage of an airliner which crashed and burned on the slopes of Santa Ynez peak Friday night.

Aided by bulldozers, workers required nearly a day to hack a trail a mile and a half through thick brush from a road to the crash scene, 23 miles northwest of here.

The bodies, several of which were mangled and burned beyond recognition, were placed on trailers and hauled by bulldozer over the rough trail to waiting ambulances. Then they were brought here for identification.

Indochina Invaded

HANOI, Indochina, April 8 (AP)—French army headquarters here said today a battalion of Chinese troops—probably Communist irregulars — invaded Northwest Indochina last week and seized two border towns. French troops airlifted to the area failed, however, to contact the invaders today and aerial observers found no trace of them.

4 Die In Car Plunge

MERRILL, Wis., April 8 (AP) — Four young people of this community drowned early today when their car missed a bridge and hurtled into the flood-swollen Prairie River on the northern edge of town.

The advice which Paul gave to the early Christians at Corinth is good advice for us today. We want to be glad for the many blessings God has given to us. We want to seek a way of life that will lead toward Christian perfection. We want to be comforted as we face the many difficulties and discouragements which come to us daily. We want to live in a peaceful and harmonious way of life with all men. After we have lived progressively our Christian faith, the promise that the God of love and peace shall be with us will become a reality.

Matter Of Fact

booming economy without very high taxes, the most painful controls, and a tremendous national effort.

The trouble is that almost no one, to judge from the present mood of Congress is willing to make this sort of effort, despite the fact that united, self-disciplined exertion by this country and its allies, for a painful period of three or four years, could lead to a better time. It could lead to a time when the effort could be somewhat relaxed, when the immensely superior power of the free world would deter the Kremlin from further adventures, when the world could breathe a little freely again. It is for such a time that all men long. Yet President Thuman, whatever his virtues, seems constitutionally incapable of inspiring the hope which a great national effort needs to feed upon. Thus it has apparently become necessary to use constant applications of shock treatment, like spurs in the flanks of a balky old horse, in order to persuade the Congress and the country to do what must be done.

tablished a national system of rating all players and the American Contract Bridge League has developed a standard method of awarding Master Point Certificates at all competitive bridge games.

Players go into League records in several categories. Juniors have no Master Points; Junior Masters, 1 to 9 points; Masters, 10 to 29 points; National Masters, 30 to 149 points; Senior Masters, 150 to 299 points; and Life Masters, 300 points or over.

A True Test Of Skill

"It's the only true test of skill," Heacox said, as he explained the tournament rules, outlining the method of creating the hands which are then kept intact and played by each player in the tournament.

"It's a good thing for the town, too," Heacox went on, "as these expert bridge players are a wonderful clientele. Many are doctors, lawyers, bankers, and other business men. Those who enter the tournament can see how the experts play and can play against them."

The Cumberland club has 75 members and is striving to attain a membership of 100 which would enable it to become a unit in the ACBL with many more special privileges, votes and extra tourneys.

"Bridge is great competitive recreation and many persons devote their entire lives to it," Heacox noted. "There are 865 clubs in the United States and Canada and over 25,000,000 players."

Invitations Mailed

The New York office of the ACBL mailed out the program for the local tournament to 1,600 known bridge players in Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Baltimore, Washington, Hagerstown, Altoona and other localities. The local club sent out an additional 350 circulars in the tri-state area plus invitations to players in every organization in Allegany County.

The April 14 and 15 dates have been awarded to the Cumberland club by the ACBL and the annual Western Maryland Sectional tournament will fall on these dates each year.

"The public is invited to attend," Heacox reminded, "and those who don't want to play but would like to watch will be provided seats around the players' tables."

It's big, it's international, it's universal this game of bridge, and Cumberland has become a hub to the ever growing, ever rolling wheel!

UMT Foes See New Concessions

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Opponents of immediate universal military training legislation say they are confident its sponsors will make further concessions this week to get their hard pressed bill approved in the House.

This bill, endorsed 32 to 3 by the House Armed Services Committee, would lay the groundwork for UMT as well as extend and toughen the draft law.

Rep. Short of Missouri, ranking Republican on the committee and leader of a bipartisan fight to knock out UMT provisions, said today he feels that a major victory has already been won by his side.

In his opinion all that is left in regard to training is UMT "in name only."

He referred to an announcement by Chairman Vinson, (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee that he will ask the committee tomorrow to endorse a change that Short says "takes the guts out of the bill."

Vinson's amendment in effect would give Congress the power to write its own UMT ticket, right down to spelling out rules and politeness by sergeants to recruits if it wanted to go so far — and not even the President would have anything to say about it.

Gen. MacArthur's

The letter has been widely interpreted here as another indication MacArthur would like to extend the war to the Chinese mainland. This Britain bitterly opposes.

An official Foreign Office spokesman, however, denied published reports that the government had made a formal protest to Washington about the letter.

Warships To Visit U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Two warships of the Israel navy will arrive at New York late this month for a month's good will visit to the United States.

Tobey And Wiley Plan Crime Probe Extender

WASHINGTON April 8 (AP)—The two Republican members of the Senate's special crime committee went ahead today with efforts to continue the investigation over the objections of Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn).

Sen. Tobey (R-NH) said he intended to introduce, for himself and Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), a resolution to extend the committee until next January 15 and ask for $150,000 to carry on the probe.

The committee has been given an extra 30 days to write its report and submit its legislative recommendations. It is due to expire at the end of this month after nearly a year of investigating at a cost of $265,000.

Big 4 Deputies Open Sixth Week Of Talks

PARIS, April 8 (AP)—Deputies of the Big Four return tomorrow to a conversational treadmill which promises to keep them talking for many more hours—possibly several weeks—on the major points creating East-West tension.

Going into their sixth week of talks, the deputies of the U. S., Britain, France and Russia have reached agreement on the wording of only two points in the agenda they are mapping for a projected Big Four foreign ministers' conference. There still are large areas of disagreement which must be ironed out in inch-by-inch compromise.

535 More Casualties

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 535 additional casualties of the war in Korea.

A new list reported 101 killed, 356 wounded, 22 missing in action and 56 injured in accidents.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Are colleges to blame for disloyalty?

Answer: Not really. A student's fundamental character is established long before he reaches college age, and college only shows him more effective ways to express it, for better or worse. A boy who has grown up with the feeling that he was unjustly treated at home will find arguments at college to justify his becoming a rebel, or even a traitor; just as one whose parents made him feel that anybody who is honest is a "sucker" may sell out his team to gamblers. The best college in the world cannot train students to be good citizens if they are predisposed to be bad ones.

Does an only child "want" a new baby?

Answer: Quite the opposite, says Margaretta Harmon in The Family Circle. You will hear parents say they had a second child "so that the first would not be lonesome," and this may be true after the children have begun to grow up. But unless there is enough difference in age so that the firstborn can take a parental attitude toward the baby, he "wants the newcomer sent right back to the hospital so that he can resume his original status as the center of the household." In fact if you do not want the baby to get hurt, you had better watch the older child when they are together.

Are some people afraid of "finality"

Answer: That is how I should explain the sort of person who never quite completes any action—who leaves windows or doors open "just a crack," will not pull shades all the way down and perhaps insists on leaving food on his plate even when he is hungry. Unconsciously he dreads accepting full responsibility for his behavior even when it is good or harmless, and "hedges" by leaving everything he does slightly unfinished. A deep-rooted lack of confidence in himself explains his reacting that way.

years, demands have risen by 22 per cent, while facilities have been improved only one per cent.

"It is not the Legions responsibility or objective," Dr. Cullen said, "to build institutions or set up facilities for the care of the orphaned, handicapped or underprivileged child. But it is our responsibility to see that existing institutions are properly conducted and able to meet demands.

It is the Legion's objective," he concluded, "to help furnish the 'trimmings' and the extras that may be needed in these facilities."

Dr. Cullen said, "so that every child gets a square deal, there are several "lacks" in the program, so far as Maryland is concerned. He listed these as, need for greater education facilities for the handicapped; lack of private dental service in many schools; lack of hospitals for chronic ill children below the age of five years; need for proper care of infants with tuberculosis; and provision for care and special training of mentally retarded Negroes.

Spending Huge Sum

Iverson said the Legion has spent $80,000,000 in Child Welfare work in 26 years and last year spent $6,800,000. Commander Stevens noted that the Legion, in 26 years has spent enough money to build a million dollar edifice in every state in the union, with $32,000,000 left over. "But" he noted, I am happy we spend it on our most precious possession, the youth of America, and not on buildings."

Weinberg reviewed the work of his department and his participation in the "Mid Century Conference on Children and Youth" held at the White House.

Recommending that government at every level take inventory of existing laws covering care of children and responsibility to the poor, handicapped and needy, Weinberg declared the federal government must and can be expected to step into the picture.

Federal Laws Needed

He stated that under existing laws, a father or a mother who deserts their children and goes into another state, cannot be brought to justice because of the wide difference in state laws covering desertion or non support. A federal law, which will be urged, would correct this situation, and make it impossible for a man to escape his family responsibilities by merely crossing a state line.

Weinberg also noted the federal government has made no provision for compulsory allotments from servicemen in Korea or elsewhere in the World. He declared, "the Legion does not want the Army to become a haven for men who desert their families."

The speaker declared that many local governments and local people fail to encourage adequate local laws which would eliminate much suffering and many handicaps thrown in the way of children. Better individual understanding of all these problems is important, he noted, and the Legion is furthering a broad education program in the field.

Weinberg said a free lunch program for every school child should be a federal responsibility, and that the same educational opportunities must be made available to every American child, regardless of race, color or creed.

There were about 200 at the open meeting, including county and municipal officials and representatives of welfare organizations.

Turkmen republic, at a time when Alma Ata was in second place in a five-team tourney, behind Tashkent, capital of the Uzbek republic. The situation was such that if the Ashkhabad team scored two more goals against Alma Ata, Tashkent would sink to second and Ashkhabad would be first.

(The relationship of goals scored to goals scored against a team figures in the standings.)

Comrade Bekbayev, therefore, ordered Alma Ata's goalie to let Ashkhabad score two more goals. It was not an effort to throw the game, Pravda hinted, since Alma Ata was far ahead and the two goals would not figure in the final result. But the goalie was enraged. He went out onto the field and in the most obvious fashion started to kick a goal into his own net for Ashkhabad. His teammates stopped him.

Bekbayev ordered the Alma Ata captain off the field and repeated his order. When it still was not obeyed, he removed the captain from the game.

And that's as far as the story went, except that it seems probable Comrade Bekbayev no longer will be a big shot in sports out in Kazakh.

Crews Remove Bodies Of 22 Plane Victims

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., April 8 (AP) — Crews began today the grim task of removing bodies of 22 persons from the charred wreckage of an airliner which crashed and burned on the slopes of Santa Ynez peak Friday night.

Aided by bulldozers, workers required nearly a day to hack a trail a mile and a half through thick brush from a road to the crash scene, 23 miles northwest of here.

The bodies, several of which were mangled and burned beyond recognition, were placed on trailers and hauled by bulldozer over the rough trail to waiting ambulances. Then they were brought here for identification.

Indochina Invaded

HANOI, Indochina, April 8 (AP)— French army headquarters here said today a battalion of Chinese troops—probably Communist irregulars — invaded Northwest Indochina last week and seized two border towns. French troops airlifted to the area failed, however, to contact the invaders today and aerial observers found no trace of them.

4 Die In Car Plunge

MERRILL, Wis., April 8 (AP) — Four young people of this community drowned early today when their car missed a bridge and hurtled into the flood-swollen Prairie River on the northern edge of town.

The advice which Paul gave to the early Christians at Corinth is good advice for us today. We want to be glad for the many blessings God has given to us. We want to seek a way of life that will lead toward Christian perfection. We want to be comforted as we face the many difficulties and discouragements which come to us daily. We want to live in a peaceful and harmonious way of life with all men. After we have lived progressively our Christian faith, the promise that the God of love and peace shall be with us will become a reality.

Matter Of Fact

booming economy without very high taxes, the most painful controls, and a tremendous national effort.

The trouble is that almost no one, to judge from the present mood of Congress is willing to make this sort of effort, despite the fact that united, self-disciplined exertion by this country and its allies, for a painful period of three or four years, could lead to a better time. It could lead to a time when the effort could be somewhat relaxed, when the immensely superior power of the free world would deter the Kremlin from further adventures, when the world could breathe a little freely again. It is for such a time that all men long. Yet President Thuman, whatever his virtues, seems constitutionally incapable of inspiring the hope which a great national effort needs to feed upon. Thus it has apparently become necessary to use constant applications of shock treatment, like spurs in the flanks of a balky old horse, in order to persuade the Congress and the country to do what must be done.

tablished a national system of rating all players and the American Contract Bridge League has developed a standard method of awarding Master Point Certificates at all competitive bridge games.

Players go into League records in several categories. Juniors have no Master Points; Junior Masters, 1 to 9 points; Masters, 10 to 29 points; National Masters, 30 to 149 points; Senior Masters, 150 to 299 points; and Life Masters, 300 points or over.

A True Test Of Skill

"It's the only true test of skill," Heacox said, as he explained the tournament rules, outlining the method of creating the hands which are then kept intact and played by each player in the tournament.

"It's a good thing for the town, too," Heacox went on, "as these expert bridge players are a wonderful clientele. Many are doctors, lawyers, bankers, and other business men. Those who enter the tournament can see how the experts play and can play against them."

The Cumberland club has 75 members and is striving to attain a membership of 100 which would enable it to become a unit in the ACBL with many more special privileges, votes and extra tourneys.

"Bridge is great competitive recreation and many persons devote their entire lives to it," Heacox noted. "There are 865 clubs in the United States and Canada and over 25,000,000 players."

Invitations Mailed

The New York office of the ACBL mailed out the program for the local tournament to 1,600 known bridge players in Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Baltimore, Washington, Hagerstown, Altoona and other localities. The local club sent out an additional 350 circulars in the tri-state area plus invitations to players in every organization in Allegany County.

The April 14 and 15 dates have been awarded to the Cumberland club by the ACBL and the annual Western Maryland Sectional tournament will fall on these dates each year.

"The public is invited to attend," Heacox reminded, "and those who don't want to play but would like to watch will be provided seats around the players' tables."

It's big, it's international, it's universal this game of bridge, and Cumberland has become a hub to the ever growing, ever rolling wheel!

UMT Foes See New Concessions

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Opponents of immediate universal military training legislation say they are confident its sponsors will make further concessions this week to get their hard pressed bill approved in the House.

This bill, endorsed 32 to 3 by the House Armed Services Committee, would lay the groundwork for UMT as well as extend and toughen the draft law.

Rep. Short of Missouri, ranking Republican on the committee and leader of a bipartisan fight to knock out UMT provisions, said today he feels that a major victory has already been won by his side.

In his opinion all that is left in regard to training is UMT "in name only."

He referred to an announcement by Chairman Vinson, (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee that he will ask the committee tomorrow to endorse a change that Short says "takes the guts out of the bill."

Vinson's amendment in effect would give Congress the power to write its own UMT ticket, right down to spelling out rules and politeness by sergeants to recruits if it wanted to go so far — and not even the President would have anything to say about it.

Gen. MacArthur's

The letter has been widely interpreted here as another indication MacArthur would like to extend the war to the Chinese mainland. This Britain bitterly opposes.

An official Foreign Office spokesman, however, denied published reports that the government had made a formal protest to Washington about the letter.

Tobey And Wiley Plan Crime Probe Extender

WASHINGTON April 8 (AP)—The two Republican members of the Senate's special crime committee went ahead today with efforts to continue the investigation over the objections of Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn).

Sen. Tobey (R-NH) said he intended to introduce, for himself and Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), a resolution to extend the committee until next January 15 and ask for $150,000 to carry on the probe.

The committee has been given an extra 30 days to write its report and submit its legislative recommendations. It is due to expire at the end of this month after nearly a year of investigating at a cost of $265,000.

Big 4 Deputies Open Sixth Week Of Talks

PARIS, April 8 (AP)—Deputies of the Big Four return tomorrow to a conversational treadmill which promises to keep them talking for many more hours—possibly several weeks—on the major points creating East-West tension.

Going into their sixth week of talks, the deputies of the U. S., Britain, France and Russia have reached agreement on the wording of only two points in the agenda they are mapping for a projected Big Four foreign ministers' conference. There still are large areas of disagreement which must be ironed out in inch-by-inch compromise.

535 More Casualties

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 535 additional casualties of the war in Korea.

A new list reported 101 killed, 356 wounded, 22 missing in action and 56 injured in accidents.

Area Youths Badly Hurt In Car Crash

Blowout Sends Auto Careening Off Road

Four George's Creek area teenagers were injured, one of them critically, when the automobile in which they were riding south on Route 36 blew a tire and left the highway about three-quarters of a mile north of Knapp's Meadow early Sunday, according to State Police.

The injured:

William Quail Eichhorn, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Cameron, West Main Street, Lonaconing.

James E. Mullan, 19, son of Mrs. Harry Reeves, McCoole Road, Westernport.

Miss Betty Esther Powell, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Powell, St. Mary's Terrace, Lonaconing.

Miss Evelyn M. Jones, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, State Street, Lonaconing.

Occurred About 12:30

All four were brought to Memorial Hospital at various times after the accident, which occurred about 12:30 a. m. Sunday, according to State Trooper Milton G. Hart, who investigated. The speed of the car was not determined.

Eichhorn, who was thrown from the automobile when it left the highway, was reported in "critical" condition at Memorial Hospital. He was reported to have sustained a fractured spine and was paralyzed from the neck down.

Young Eichhorn, who is a Marine Reservist, had accelerated his course at Central High School and graduated in January so he could report for active Marine duty.

However, he was sent back home for 90 days in order to have his teeth fixed and since that time had been working in Pontiac, Mich. Generally he has been coming home to Lonaconing every weekend. Such was the case this week.

He was riding in the back seat of the car with Miss Jones, who was the least seriously hurt.

Miss Jones, a senior at Central High School, sustained only contusions and abrasions. Hospital attendants termed her condition "fair" last night.

Eichhorn and Miss Jones were brought to Memorial Hospital first. Mullan, the driver, and Miss Powell, also a Central High School senior, were pinned in the front seat of the automobile for several hours before mechanics were able to jack up the smashed dashboard in order to free them. It was after 4 a. m. before they reached the hospital.

Extensive Injuries

Mullan, a Bruce High School graduate, was the most extensively injured but his condition last night was reported as "fair." His injuries included a fractured right thigh, fractured pelvis, dislocated left hip and head injuries.

Miss Powell, also reported in "fair" condition, suffered a fractured right arm.

Trooper Hart reported that the car skidded off Route 36 after the tire blew out, went down a four-to-five foot embankment, struck a tree and turned over on its left side. It was understood the car was virtually demolished.

Miss Powell's parents were visiting at Baltimore and Fort Meade. They hurried home after learning of the mishap.

Trooper Hart is continuing his investigation.

Frostburg Owned Cow Ends Production Test

A registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Clarence O. and Elizabeth H. Miller, Frostburg, recently completed a 365-day production test in official Herd Improvement Registry at Brattleboro, Vt.

Gladheart Echo Star finished the test with 547 pounds of butterfat and 19,195 pounds of milk to her credit.

Testing was supervised by the University of Maryland in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Towson Plans Summer Course For Teachers

A special summer program for elementary school teachers will be offered this summer at Towson State Teachers College. The program is a continuation of the plan inaugurated two years ago to help relieve the shortage of elementary teachers in the State.

Graduates of a four-year college, who wish to enter the elementary teaching field, may begin the special program to qualify for teaching.

The sessions will begin on Monday, June 25, and continue through August 3.

WEATHER

Perhaps the old adage that rain on Easter Sunday means rain for seven successive Sundays is true. At least it has rained here each Sunday since Easter. Yesterday, Cumberland had .24 inches during the 24 hour period. Highest reading at Constitution Park weather station was 53; low for the day was 49. The prediction for today is for cloudy and cool weather.

Take Life Saving Refresher Course

Recreation Aims Of Lonaconing Group Stressed

Will Meet Today With State Official

A playground and baseball diamond are the immediate objectives of the McFarlane-Myers Recreation Park Association for the 149-acre state-owned recreation center on Dan's Mountain, near Lonaconnig, Felix Foote, Sr., association president, said yesterday.

Officers and members of the association will meet at 2 p. m. today at the Lonaconing Fire Hall with Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Department of State Forests and Parks, to discuss expanding recreational facilities in the new area.

A number of picnic tables and fireplaces already are being installed in the area.

Foote said other long-range objectives are a swimming pool and a home for the caretaker on the grounds. Plenty of drinking water is available from four springs in the area.

Other officers of the association are Walter McKenzie, vice president; Mrs. Helen Dillon, secretary, and Eddie McPartland, treasurer. Board members are William Abbott, Sr., Alvie Green, Robert Marshall, James Holmes, James Parks, Rev. Amos Stone and Rev. Charles Bogan.

The association has been named for two Lonaconing teen-agers who were killed last June 19 when a truck in which they were riding with other young people of the community overturned. They were Jean McFarlane and Raymond Myers.

Police Receive Instructions On Resuscitator-Inhalator

City police are receiving a refresher course on the use of the department's resuscitator.

The program was instituted April 2 following a suggestion by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said practically all members of the force have completed the refresher course. Instructions are being given by Officers John G. Powers, Sgt. Frank A. Shober and Tech. Sgt. John H. Newhouse at police headquarters.

The present resuscitator has been in use by the department for the past five years replacing an older model.

Chief Flynn added that from eight to 10 persons have been saved in the past five years through use of the apparatus.

The resuscitator, which is carried in the patrol wagon has a three-fold purpose. The resuscitator is used to revive victims of drowning, suffocation and shock when breathing has ceased.

The inhalator is used to give a fresh supply of oxygen to a person who is having difficulty in breathing.

The aspirator is used to clear the throat or nasal system of a victim through a suction process.

The resuscitator is compact in arrangement and can be used in any position. It includes attachments by which more than one victim can be treated at a time.

The apparatus includes two small oxygen tanks, each of which are effective for about 40 minutes. A larger tank of oxygen can be utilized in case of necessity.

Attached to the instructions is the slogan, "Don't Give Up." Many times the following of this simple phrase has meant saving a life, police said.

Today's Sermonette

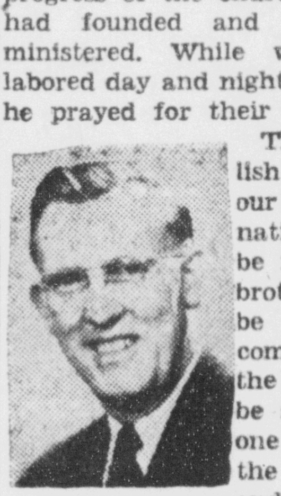
Finally brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace: and the God of love and peace shall be with you. II Corinthians 13:11.

By REV. RAYMOND M. CROWE

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached at the Rawlings and Cresaptown Methodist Churches yesterday by the pastor, Rev. Raymond M. Crowe. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Progressive Christian Living

WITH the words of our text Paul closes his second letter to the Corinthians. He was deeply interested in the progress of the churches which he had founded and to which he ministered. While with them he labored day and night; when absent he prayed for their prosperity.



Rev. Crowe

The basic English translation of our text is illuminating: "Let this be my last word, brothers; be glad; be complete; be comforted; be of the same mind; be at peace with one another: and the God of love and peace will be with you."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to be glad. This advice came from one who, according to our standards, had little to be glad about. (After Paul became a Christian he suffered much for his faith; he was stoned, beaten, shipwrecked, and imprisoned.) Paul was like the man who was always cheerful in spite of much trouble. When he was asked, "How do you manage to be so cheerful?" he replied, "I have learned to cooperate with the inevitable."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to seek perfection. They were Christians, but they were inexperienced, weak, and imperfect. A convert does not come to the full stature of Christ Jesus in a day, therefore he should seek completeness.

During the Easter season many people became members of our churches. They cannot live to the fullest of their membership vows in a day, nor a week, nor a year. It will require a lifetime to seek perfection.

Gerald Birney Smith writes, "It was the faith of Jesus that truth could liberate man. We are freed by the breaking of old habits and by the expulsion of old refuges. Truth bids timid souls to go forth and find the larger meanings of life."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to be comforted. He had learned by experience that difficulties, discouragements, and disappointments come to every Christian. But he had learned, also, that these are incidental; they endure for a night only, and joy cometh in the morning.

General Gordon, a famous English soldier, said, "Were it not for the very great comfort I have in communion with God and the knowledge that He is Governor General, I could not get on at all."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to be at peace with one another. He did not expect uniformity of thought or opinion; but he wanted them to avoid discord.

The Syrians have a beautiful custom. They meet together on a Sunday, one month before Easter, when all differences and troubles that may be between them are adjusted. For instance, during the preceding year if one has wronged another, he is forgiven and the two are friends again.

The Apostle Paul gave a promise to the Corinthian Christians, "The God of love and peace shall be with you." This promise is conditional, however. If Christians try to grow in grace and to promote peace, they expect Christ to dwell with them. When this occurs all problems are solved.

Sgt. Samuel Ashby Wins Bronze Star

Sgt. Samuel R. Ashby, 1515 Rosewood Street, this city, was presented a Bronze Star yesterday for "meritorous service in the North Apenines Campaign in the Mediterranean Theatre of War, during World War II.

The presentation was formally made for the Army by State Commander Lemuel Stevens of the American Legion, at a meeting of the Legion Child Welfare Commission at Farrady Post No. 24, in Frostburg.

Sgt. Ashby served in Headquarters Company, second Battalion, 365th Infantry Regiment. He is employed at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company here.

Training School Director Will Tour County

Will Speak First At Frostburg

Elbert L. Fletcher, superintendent of the Maryland Training School for Boys at Lock Raven, will arrive in Cumberland today to begin four busy days of explaining the work of the institution which he directs to members of service clubs and school officials in Allegany County.

Fletcher, 50-year old Texas native, will begin his activities in Allegany County when he speaks at the meeting of the Frostburg Rotary Club at 6 o'clock this evening.

Tomorrow at noon he will address the Cumberland Rotary Club and will discuss mutual problams with all of the county high school principals that afternoon.

Wednesday, his busiest day, Fletcher will be at Barton High School in the morning, at the Tri-Towns Rotary Club at noon and at the Lonaconing Rotary Club that evening.

Thursday he will wind up his speaking engagements when he talks to members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at their noon meeting.

Fletcher, who has been superintendent of the school at Lock Raven since 1945, has done much to transform the place into a good home for juvenile delinquents.

4-H Roundup Planned Here

Boys from all 4-H clubs in Allegany County will participate in 4-H Roundup Time Saturday from 7:30 to 10 p. m. in Fort Hill High School gymnasium.

Roundup Time, a regular event of the University of Maryland's Extension Service, is a general "fun night" for area youths and will feature Eugene Hopkins and his bag of tricks.

Prizes will be given winners in games and the evening will end with refreshments.

Joseph M. Steger, assistant county agent, announces a prize will be awarded the club with the most members present.

Six Are Injured In Collision At Fort Ashby

Frostburg Man Is Hurt In Mishap

Six persons were injured in a two-car crash near the intersection of Route 28 and 46 in Fort Ashby, W. Va. last night about 6:45 o'clock.

The accident occurred when a 1951 car driven by Ira Shreve, 21, RFD No. 2, Keyser, W. Va., progressing south on Route 28, turned into the path of a 1942 car operated by Richard Alexander Reid, Cumberland.

West Virginia State Police Cpl. O. G. Webley said Shreve was attempting to turn left across the highway into a restaurant.

Most seriously injured was Arnold Arnone, 22, of 100 Main Street, Frostburg, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital with a fractured right leg and facial lacerations. Arnone and his wife, Mary Virginia, were riding with Reid. Mrs. Arnone suffered multiple contusions. Reid's wife, Mrs. Emma Reid, suffered contusions.

A passenger riding in the Shreve auto, Miss Dorothy Oates, St. Cloud Street, Keyser, was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, with lacerations over the right eye and on top the head. She was admitted for observation. Shreve suffered a lacerated knee.

A Fort Ashby physician treated the injured in his office and the Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Department ambulance brought the Arnones to Memorial Hospital here.

The accident was investigated by Trooper W. S. Bowley and Cpl. Webley, who cited Shreve for violation of the right of way and summoned him to appear before Justice of the Peace Madeline Bazzle in Keyser Wednesday at 7 p. m.

Local 26 May Call Meeting On Contract

The Executive Board of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America (CIO), will meet early this week to discuss the possibility of holding a special meeting on contract revision negotiations.

Ralph C. Beard, vice president, said a full report of discussions on contract revisions was presented to the membership Saturday night.

Guests were Dr. A. L. Lewis, Akron, public relations director of the URCLPWA (CIO), and Rex C. Murray, District 1 director.

Chair Is Burned

South End firemen were sent to 1004 Grape Alley yesterday afternoon when an overstuffed chair caught fire in the home of George Jones. Firemen blamed the fire on a cigaret. The chair was destroyed and there was some smoke damage in the house, firemen added.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Waste paper will be collected today on all streets south of Oldtown Road. Bundles should be on curbs by 9 a. m.

The Men of LaSalle will nominate officers and make plans for a spring festival at a meeting in the Knights of Columbus Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

John Carter Shryock, Jr., Frostburg, won third prize in the annual exhibition of Cumberland Valley Artists in Hagerstown.

Rev. Robert L. Greynolds, Parsons, W. Va., and former pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley, will lead a revival which will open tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Wesley Chapel, Short Gap, W. Va.

Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, has presented a memorial chalice to the Josephite Fathers for use in missionary work.

Materialism Is Internal Enemy, Kenney Declares

St. Patrick's Men Hold Annual Event

"Materialism is the internal enemy of the United States just as Soviet Russia is the country's external enemy," Thomas J. Kenney, president of the Archdiocesan Union of the Holy Name Society, Archdiocese of Baltimore, told 250 men at the annual communion breakfast of the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church yesterday morning.

"There are 50,000,000 Americans who attend no church at all," Kenney, a Baltimore attorney, said, "and there are other millions—of all denominations—who fail to live up to their religious duties." The speaker asserted that materialism is the god of these people, which leads to corruption of politics at the national and local level, threatening American ideals and endangering the nation's liberties.

Fr. Curley Speaks

The breakfast was held in the parish social center following the 7 o'clock mass, at which the Rev. Frank Curley, O.M.I., Washington, D. C., delivered a sermon on "The Holy Name of Jesus."

Father Curley urged the men to invoke the name of Jesus in their daily lives, honoring it and employing it to ask the graces and favors they require for successful living.

"It is the greatest name of all history," he said. "Julius Caesar, Frederick the Great, and Napoleon were great names in history, but little is heard of them except in the history books—and their millions of followers have disappeared with time.

"The name of Jesus Christ, however," the speaker said, "has been the consolation and inspiration of countless millions in every corner of the earth for more than 1,900 years."

Toastmaster for the breakfast was John P. Mackey, who was introduced by Norman P. Fearnow, president of St. Patrick's Holy Name Society. Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's and spiritual director of the society, led the grace before and after the breakfast.

Others at the guest table were Rev. Alphonse Schreiber, O.F.M., Cap., assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's Parish; Thomas F. Conlon, president of the Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society; James King and Joseph Reissig, presidents of the Holy Name Societies of St. Mary's and SS. Peter and Paul's Parishes, and A. J. Yockus, J. A. Madden, Herman J. Grabenstein, and C. R. Burkey, all officers of St. Patrick's Holy Name Society.

Phone Workers To Hear Report

Per Capita Dues Are Set At $1.50

Members of Cumberland Local 2105, Communications Workers of America (CIO), will hear Robert O. Slemmer, president, report on the international convention held recently in Grand Rapids, Mich., at a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in Textile Workers Hall, North Mechanic Street.

The convention was attended by more than 1,500 delegates of the International Communications Workers from the United States and Canada.

Slemmer reports that one of the most significant acts of the convention was passage of the $1.50 monthly per capita dues rate to the international organization. The rate had previously been 50 cents a month.

Other officers of Cumberland Local No. 2105 are Victor Cris, Jr., Hagerstown, vice president; and Paul S. Bixler, Cumberland, secretary treasurer.

Local 2105 represents the whole western section of Maryland and, in Cumberland, represents the plant department of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City.

City Winning Top Spot On Bridge Map

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON
News Staff Writer

Cumberland has been placed on the international bridge map!

The formation of the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club and its affiliation with the American Contract Bridge League last September was the first step toward national prominence in the world of bridge playing experts.

Now the first annual Western Maryland Sectional Bridge Tournament April 14 and 15 at the Cumberland Country Club sponsored by the local group and sanctioned by the Bridge League has brought favorable response from many of the foremost bridge experts in the country.

To Award Points

Authorized to award Master Points to tournament winners, the Cumberland club has opened its arms wide to welcome any and all bridge players to enter the sectional and in addition has compiled a wonderful list of trophies and prizes to be given to the winners and runners-up in sections of the tournament.

Albert D. Heacox, president of the Cumberland club, has received encouraging replies to invitations extended to many of the country's best known bridge players and teachers and has acquired the services of Col. Russell J. Baldwin, internationally-known bridge expert and tournament director from Washington, D. C., to guide the destinies of the enterprising club's first venture into the realm of competitive bridge. Baldwin is business manager of the American Contract Bridge League.

Congratulatory messages and indications of possible entrance into the Western Maryland Sectional have been sent by such famous personages as Charles H. Goren, Philadelphia, Pa., the top Life Master in the United States and Canada; Charles J. Solomon, Philadelphia, second ranked expert in the country; and Bennett L. Disbrow, famous writer and bridge editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Governor Accepts Position

Also expressing interest and offering thanks for being named honorary chairman of the tournament was Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, who accepted the honor in a letter to Heacox.

Trophies to be awarded winners of the special events are on display at S. T. Little Jewelry Company along with a replica of a bridge table, playing cards, scorepads, Master Point record cards, entrance cards, and the Certificate of Membership of the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club in the American Contract Bridge League.

The schedule of events for the two-day affair which will get underway at 2 p. m. Saturday includes Women's Pair with trophy donated by S. Russ Minter, secretary of the local club; Men's Pair, trophy by S. T. Little Jewelry Company; Mixed Pair, for Fort Cumberland Hotel trophy; and Open Pair event with trophy donated by Cumberland Times-News. The latter trophy, a huge gold cup, must be won three times for permanent possession. Individual prizes, to be donated by the club, will be given the runners-up in each of the special events. Also scheduled is a Special Pair event which is open to all players other than those who will be playing in the Open Pair finals.

Events Begin At 2 P. M.

The Women's Pair and Men's Pair events will start at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon while the Mixed Pair begins at 7:30 p. m. the same day. The Open Pair event gets underway at 1:30 p. m. Sunday with finals at 7:30 p. m. The Special Pair event also will begin at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

President Heacox emphasized that all bridge players may enter and be eligible for the awards. However a player must be an ACBL member to be eligible for Master Point awards.

The Master Points will be awarded under the system of the ACBL based upon the attendance at the affair.

Tournament bridge is the only competitive recreation that has es-

Maryknoll Pioneers

Legion Asks Square Deal For Children

Child Welfare Month Begins In District

With April designated as Child Welfare month in the American Legion's nation-wide program, a public meeting was held yesterday at the home of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, by the Coordinated Committee of Child Welfare for Mountain District.

State and national American Legion officials, as well as state representatives of the Ladies Auxiliary, 40 and 8 and 8 and 40, made up a panel, which discussed Child Welfare needs.

Principal speakers included Percy Weinberg, Washington, D. C., director of the American Legion Welfare Department; and Dr. Jerome S. Cullen, Baltimore, member of the State Department of Child Welfare Commission.

Daniel Burkhart, state adjutant and secretary of the Coordinated Child Welfare Committee; State Commander Lemuel Stevens, Mrs. Anna Plumley, 8 and 40 Child Welfare chairman; Mrs. Hugo Desput, auxiliary Child Welfare chairman; Mrs. Minnie Rooney, department president of the auxiliary and Mrs. Harriet Tipton, head of the state 8 and 40; and Martin Iverson, chairman of the State Department Child Welfare Coordinating committee, also spoke.

Committee Presented

Thomas B. Finan, master of ceremonies, presented the speakers and introduced Paul C. Weisenmiller, chairman of Mountain District Child Welfare, Samuel A. Graham, past chairman and the following local committee members: Russell Paupe, Mrs. Katherine Barnard, Mrs. Ovilia Walker, Mrs. Owen Rhodes, Mrs. Pearl Allen, and Frank Powers.

The discussion brought out various phases of the Child Welfare program work by the Legion and its three affiliated organizations.

Burkhart noted that the Legion's Child Welfare program and Rehabilitation program work hand in hand much of the time. He reminded that widows and orphans of veterans are entitled to Social Security benefits, even though the deceased veteran had never been in covered employment.

He said the Legion has a special fund from which any veteran in need or want can obtain, by proper application, $25, in direct relief.

Burkhart spoke of work being done by Legion posts in sponsoring Boy Scout Troops and Cub Packs.

He mentioned the Legion's Junior Baseball team for older boys, and noted that in last year's World Series, 27 of the eligible players had at one time played Junior Legion baseball.

Boys State was listed by the speaker as another important contribution of the Legion toward the building of better citizens for tomorrow. He also mentioned the Legion's oratorical contest, and other special activities.

Cites State Needs

Dr. Cullen said the Legion took an important part in the formation of Maryland's Youth Commission which will act to coordinate efforts to provide the best possible care and advantages for all children.

Maryland has been delinquent in its program of caring for its youth he charged. During the past eight

Blowout Sends Auto Careening Off Road

Four George's Creek area teenagers were injured, one of them critically, when the automobile in which they were riding south on Route 36 blew a tire and left the highway about three-quarters of a mile north of Knapp's Meadow early Sunday, according to State Police.

The injured:

William Quail Eichhorn, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Cameron, West Main Street, Lonaconing.

James E. Mullan, 19, son of Mrs. Harry Reeves, McCoole Road, Westernport.

Miss Betty Esther Powell, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Powell, St. Mary's Terrace, Lonaconing.

Miss Evelyn M. Jones, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, State Street, Lonaconing.

Occurred About 12:30

All four were brought to Memorial Hospital at various times after the accident, which occurred about 12:30 a. m. Sunday, according to State Trooper Milton G. Hart, who investigated. The speed of the car was not determined.

Eichhorn, who was thrown from the automobile when it left the highway, was reported in "critical" condition at Memorial Hospital. He was reported to have sustained a fractured spine and was paralyzed from the neck down.

Young Eichhorn, who is a Marine Reservist, had accelerated his course at Central High School and graduated in January so he could report for active Marine duty.

However, he was sent back home for 90 days in order to have his teeth fixed and since that time had been working in Pontiac, Mich. Generally he has been coming home to Lonaconing every weekend. Such was the case this week.

He was riding in the back seat of the car with Miss Jones, who was the least seriously hurt.

Miss Jones, a senior at Central High School, sustained only contusions and abrasions. Hospital attendants termed her condition "fair" last night.

Eichhorn and Miss Jones were brought to Memorial Hospital first. Mullan, the driver, and Miss Powell, also a Central High School senior, were pinned in the front seat of the automobile for several hours before mechanics were able to jack up the smashed dashboard in order to free them. It was after 4 a. m. before they reached the hospital.

Extensive Injuries

Mullan, a Bruce High School graduate, was the most extensively injured but his condition last night was reported as "fair." His injuries included a fractured right thigh, fractured pelvis, dislocated left hip and head injuries.

Miss Powell, also reported in "fair" condition, suffered a fractured right arm.

Trooper Hart reported that the car skidded off Route 36 after the tire blew out, went down a four-to-five foot embankment, struck a tree and turned over on its left side. It was understood the car was virtually demolished.

Miss Powell's parents were visiting at Baltimore and Fort Meade. They hurried home after learning of the mishap.

Trooper Hart is continuing his investigation.

Frostburg Owned Cow Ends Production Test

A registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Clarence O. and Elizabeth H. Miller, Frostburg, recently completed a 365-day production test in official Herd Improvement Registry at Brattleboro, Vt.

Gladheart Echo Star finished the test with 547 pounds of butterfat and 19,195 pounds of milk to her credit.

Testing was supervised by the University of Maryland in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Towson Plans Summer Course For Teachers

A special summer program for elementary school teachers will be offered this summer at Towson State Teachers College. The program is a continuation of the plan inaugurated two years ago to help relieve the shortage of elementary teachers in the State.

Graduates of a four-year college, who wish to enter the elementary teaching field, may begin the special program to qualify for teaching.

The sessions will begin on Monday, June 25, and continue through August 3.

WEATHER

Perhaps the old adage that rain on Easter Sunday means rain for seven successive Sundays is true. At least it has rained here each Sunday since Easter. Yesterday, Cumberland had .24 inches during the 24 hour period. Highest reading at Constitution Park weather station was 53; low for the day was 49. The prediction for today is for cloudy and cool weather.

Take Life Saving Refresher Course

Recreation Aims Of Lonaconing Group Stressed

Will Meet Today With State Official

A playground and baseball diamond are the immediate objectives of the McFarlane-Myers Recreation Park Association for the 149-acre state-owned recreation center on Dan's Mountain, near Lonaconnig, Felix Foote, Sr., association president, said yesterday.

Officers and members of the association will meet at 2 p. m. today at the Lonaconing Fire Hall with Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Department of State Forests and Parks, to discuss expanding recreational facilities in the new area.

A number of picnic tables and fireplaces already are being installed in the area.

Foote said other long-range objectives are a swimming pool and a home for the caretaker on the grounds. Plenty of drinking water is available from four springs in the area.

Other officers of the association are Walter McKenzie, vice president; Mrs. Helen Dillon, secretary, and Eddie McPartland, treasurer. Board members are William Abbott, Sr., Alvie Green, Robert Marshall, James Holmes, James Parks, Rev. Amos Stone and Rev. Charles Bogan.

The association has been named for two Lonaconing teen-agers who were killed last June 19 when a truck in which they were riding with other young people of the community overturned. They were Jean McFarlane and Raymond Myers.

Police Receive Instructions On Resuscitator-Inhalator

City police are receiving a refresher course on the use of the department's resuscitator.

The program was instituted April 2 following a suggestion by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said practically all members of the force have completed the refresher course. Instructions are being given by Officers John G. Powers, Sgt. Frank A. Shober and Tech. Sgt. John H. Newhouse at police headquarters.

The present resuscitator has been in use by the department for the past five years replacing an older model.

Chief Flynn added that from eight to 10 persons have been saved in the past five years through use of the apparatus.

The resuscitator, which is carried in the patrol wagon has a three-fold purpose. The resuscitator is used to revive victims of drowning, suffocation and shock when breathing has ceased.

The inhalator is used to give a fresh supply of oxygen to a person who is having difficulty in breathing.

The aspirator is used to clear the throat or nasal system of a victim through a suction process.

The resuscitator is compact in arrangement and can be used in any position. It includes attachments by which more than one victim can be treated at a time.

The apparatus includes two small oxygen tanks, each of which are effective for about 40 minutes. A larger tank of oxygen can be utilized in case of necessity.

Attached to the instructions is the slogan, "Don't Give Up." Many times the following of this simple phrase has meant saving a life, police said.

Sgt. Samuel Ashby Wins Bronze Star

Sgt. Samuel R. Ashby, 1515 Rosewood Street, this city, was presented a Bronze Star yesterday for "meritorious service in the North Apenines Campaign in the Mediterranean Theatre of War, during World War II.

The presentation was formally made for the Army by State Commander Lemuel Stevens of the American Legion, at a meeting of the Legion Child Welfare Commission at Farrady Post No. 24, in Frostburg.

The decoration, accompanied by a citation, was presented before an audience of over 200 legionnaires and officials.

Sgt. Ashby served in Headquarters Company, second Battalion, 365th Infantry Regiment. He is employed at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company here.

Today's Sermonette

Finally brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace: and the God of love and peace shall be with you. II Corinthians 13:11.

By REV. RAYMOND M. CROWE

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached at the Rawlings and Cresaptown Methodist Churches yesterday by the pastor, Rev. Raymond M. Crowe. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Progressive Christian Living

WITH the words of our text Paul closes his second letter to the Corinthians. He was deeply interested in the progress of the churches which he had founded and to which he ministered. While with them he labored day and night; when absent he prayed for their prosperity.

Rev. Crowe

The basic English translation of our text is illuminating: "Let this be my last word, brothers; be glad; be complete; be comforted; be of the same mind; be at peace with one another: and the God of love and peace will be with you."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to be glad. This advice came from one who, according to our standards, had little to be glad about. (After Paul became a Christian he suffered much for his faith; he was stoned, beaten, shipwrecked, and imprisoned.) Paul was like the man who was always cheerful in spite of much trouble. When he was asked, "How do you manage to be so cheerful?" he replied, "I have learned to cooperate with the inevitable."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to seek perfection. They were Christians, but they were inexperienced, weak, and imperfect. A convert does not come to the full stature of Christ Jesus in a day, therefore he should seek completeness.

During the Easter season many people became members of our churches. They cannot live to the fullest of their membership vows in a day, nor a week, nor a year. It will require a lifetime to seek perfection.

Gerald Birney Smith writes, "It was the faith of Jesus that truth could liberate man. We are freed by the breaking of old habits and by the expulsion of old refuges. Truth bids timid souls to go forth and find the larger meanings of life."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to be comforted. He had learned by experience that difficulties, discouragements, and disappointments come to every Christian. But he had learned, also, that these are incidental; they endure for a night only, and joy cometh in the morning.

General Gordon, a famous English soldier, said, "Were it not for the very great comfort I have in communion with God and the knowledge that He is Governor General, I could not get on at all."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to be at peace with one another. He did not expect uniformity of thought or opinion; but he wanted them to avoid discord.

The Syrians have a beautiful custom. They meet together on a Sunday, one month before Easter, when all differences and troubles that may be between them are adjusted. For instance, during the preceding year if one has wronged another, he is forgiven and the two are friends again.

The Apostle Paul gave a promise to the Corinthian Christians, "The God of love and peace shall be with you." This promise is conditional, however. If Christians try to grow in grace and to promote peace, they expect Christ to dwell with them. When this occurs all problems are solved.

Six Are Injured In Collision At Fort Ashby

Frostburg Man Is Hurt In Mishap

Six persons were injured in a two-car crash near the intersection of Route 28 and 46 in Fort Ashby, W. Va. last night about 6:45 o'clock.

The accident occurred when a 1951 car driven by Ira Shreve, 21, RFD No. 2, Keyser, W. Va., progressing south on Route 28, turned into the path of a 1942 car operated by Richard Alexander Reid, Cumberland.

West Virginia State Police Cpl. O. G. Webley said Shreve was attempting to turn left across the highway into a restaurant.

Most seriously injured was Arnold Arnone, 22, of 100 Main Street, Frostburg, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital with a fractured right leg and facial lacerations. Arnone and his wife, Mary Virginia, were riding with Reid. Mrs. Arnone suffered multiple contusions. Reid's wife, Mrs. Emma Reid, suffered contusions.

A passenger riding in the Shreve auto, Miss Dorothy Oates, St. Cloud Street, Keyser, was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, with lacerations over the right eye and on top the head. She was admitted for observation. Shreve suffered a lacerated knee.

A Fort Ashby physician treated the injured in his office and the Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Department ambulance brought the Arnones to Memorial Hospital here.

The accident was investigated by Trooper W. S. Bowley and Cpl. Webley, who cited Shreve for violation of the right of way and summoned him to appear before Justice of the Peace Madeline Bazzle in Keyser Wednesday at 7 p. m.

Materialism Is Internal Enemy, Kenney Declares

St. Patrick's Men Hold Annual Event

"Materialism is the internal enemy of the United States just as Soviet Russia is the country's external enemy," Thomas J. Kenney, president of the Archdiocesan Union of the Holy Name Society, Archdiocese of Baltimore, told 250 men at the annual communion breakfast of the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church yesterday morning.

"There are 50,000,000 Americans who attend no church at all," Kenney, a Baltimore attorney, said, "and there are other millions—of all denominations—who fail to live up to their religious duties." The speaker asserted that materialism is the god of these people, which leads to corruption of politics at the national and local level, threatening American ideals and endangering the nation's liberties.

Fr. Curley Speaks

The breakfast was held in the parish social center following the 7 o'clock mass, at which the Rev. Frank Curley, O.M.I., Washington, D. C., delivered a sermon on "The Holy Name of Jesus."

Father Curley urged the men to invoke the name of Jesus in their daily lives, honoring it and employing it to ask the graces and favors they require for successful living.

"It is the greatest name of all history," he said. "Julius Caesar, Frederick the Great, and Napoleon were great names in history, but little is heard of them except in the history books—and their millions of followers have disappeared with time.

"The name of Jesus Christ, however," the speaker said, "has been the consolation and inspiration of countless millions in every corner of the earth for more than 1,900 years."

Toastmaster for the breakfast was John P. Mackey, who was introduced by Norman P. Fearnow, president of St. Patrick's Holy Name Society. Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's and spiritual director of the society, led the grace before and after the breakfast.

Others at the guest table were Rev. Alphonse Schreiber, O.F.M., Cap., assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's Parish; Thomas F. Conlon, president of the Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society; James King and Joseph Reissig, presidents of the Holy Name Societies of St. Mary's and SS. Peter and Paul's Parishes, and A. J. Yockus, J. A. Madden, Herman J. Grabenstein, and C. R. Burkey, all officers of St. Patrick's Holy Name Society.

Phone Workers To Hear Report

Per Capita Dues Are Set At $1.50

Members of Cumberland Local 2105, Communications Workers of America (CIO), will hear Robert O. Slemmer, president, report on the international convention held recently in Grand Rapids, Mich., at a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in Textile Workers Hall, North Mechanic Street.

The convention was attended by more than 1,500 delegates of the International Communications Workers from the United States and Canada.

Slemmer reports that one of the most significant acts of the convention was passage of the $1.50 monthly per capita dues rate to the international organization. The rate had previously been 50 cents a month.

Other officers of Cumberland Local No. 2105 are Victor Cris, Jr., Hagerstown, vice president; and Paul S. Bixler, Cumberland, secretary treasurer.

Local 2105 represents the whole western section of Maryland and, in Cumberland, represents the plant department of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City.

City Winning Top Spot On Bridge Map

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON
News Staff Writer

Cumberland has been placed on the international bridge map!

The formation of the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club and its affiliation with the American Contract Bridge League last September was the first step toward national prominence in the world of bridge playing experts.

Now the first annual Western Maryland Sectional Bridge Tournament April 14 and 15 at the Cumberland Country Club sponsored by the local group and sanctioned by the Bridge League has brought favorable response from many of the foremost bridge experts in the country.

To Award Points

Authorized to award Master Points to tournament winners, the Cumberland club has opened its arms wide to welcome any and all bridge players to enter the sectional and in addition has compiled a wonderful list of trophies and prizes to be given to the winners and runners-up in sections of the tournament.

Albert D. Heacox, president of the Cumberland club, has received encouraging replies to invitations extended to many of the country's best known bridge players and teachers and has acquired the services of Col. Russell J. Baldwin, internationally-known bridge expert and tournament director from Washington, D. C., to guide the destinies of the enterprising club's first venture into the realm of competitive bridge. Baldwin is business manager of the American Contract Bridge League.

Congratulatory messages and indications of possible entrance into the Western Maryland Sectional have been sent by such famous personages as Charles H. Goren, Philadelphia, Pa., the top Life Master in the United States and Canada; Charles J. Solomon, Philadelphia, second ranked expert in the country; and Bennett L. Disbrow, famous writer and bridge editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Governor Accepts Position

Also expressing interest and offering thanks for being named honorary chairman of the tournament was Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, who accepted the honor in a letter to Heacox.

Trophies to be awarded winners of the special events are on display at S. T. Little Jewelry Company along with a replica of a bridge table, playing cards, scorepads, Master Point record cards, entrance cards, and the Certificate of Membership of the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club in the American Contract Bridge League.

The schedule of events for the two-day affair which will get underway at 2 p. m. Saturday includes Women's Pair with trophy donated by S. Russ Minter, secretary of the local club; Men's Pair, trophy by S. T. Little Jewelry Company; Mixed Pair, for Fort Cumberland Hotel trophy; and Open Pair event with trophy donated by Cumberland Times-News. The latter trophy, a huge gold cup, must be won three times for permanent possession. Individual prizes, to be donated by the club, will be given the runners-up in each of the special events. Also scheduled is a Special Pair event which is open to all players other than those who will be playing in the Open Pair finals.

Events Begin At 2 P. M.

The Women's Pair and Men's Pair events will start at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon while the Mixed Pair begins at 7:30 p. m. the same day. The Open Pair event gets underway at 1:30 p. m. Sunday with finals at 7:30 p. m. The Special Pair event also will begin at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

President Heacox emphasized that all bridge players may enter and be eligible for the awards. However a player must be an ACBL member to be eligible for Master Point awards.

The Master Points will be awarded under the system of the ACBL based upon the attendance at the affair.

Tournament bridge is the only competitive recreation that has es-

Maryknoll Pioneers

Legion Asks Square Deal For Children

Child Welfare Month Begins In District

With April designated as Child Welfare month in the American Legion's nation-wide program, a public meeting was held yesterday at the home of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, by the Coordinated Committee of Child Welfare for Mountain District.

State and national American Legion officials, as well as state representatives of the Ladies Auxiliary, 40 and 8 and 8 and 40, made up a panel, which discussed Child Welfare needs.

Principal speakers included Percy Weinberg, Washington, D. C., director of the American Legion Welfare Department; and Dr. Jerome S. Cullen, Baltimore, member of the State Department of Child Welfare Commission.

Daniel Burkhart, state adjutant and secretary of the Coordinated Child Welfare Committee; State Commander Lemuel Stevens, Mrs. Anna Plumley, 8 and 40 Child Welfare chairman; Mrs. Hugo Desput, auxiliary Child Welfare chairman; Mrs. Minnie Rooney, department president of the auxiliary and Mrs. Harriet Tipton, head of the state 8 and 40; and Martin Iverson, chairman of the State Department Child Welfare Coordinating committee, also spoke.

Committee Presented

Thomas B. Finan, master of ceremonies, presented the speakers and introduced Paul C. Weisenmiller, chairman of Mountain District Child Welfare, Samuel A. Graham, past chairman and the following local committee members: Russell Paupe, Mrs. Katherine Barnard, Mrs. Ovilia Walker, Mrs. Owen Rhodes, Mrs. Pearl Allen, and Frank Powers.

The discussion brought out various phases of the Child Welfare program work by the Legion and its three affiliated organizations.

Burkhart noted that the Legion's Child Welfare program and Rehabilitation program work hand in hand much of the time. He reminded that widows and orphans of veterans are entitled to Social Security benefits, even though the deceased veteran had never been in covered employment.

He said the Legion has a special fund from which any veteran in need or want can obtain, by proper application, $25, in direct relief.

Burkhart spoke of work being done by Legion posts in sponsoring Boy Scout Troops and Cub Packs.

He mentioned the Legion's Junior Baseball team for older boys, and noted that in last year's World Series, 27 of the eligible players had at one time played Junior Legion baseball.

Boys State was listed by the speaker as another important contribution of the Legion toward the building of better citizens for tomorrow. He also mentioned the Legion's oratorical contest, and other special activities.

Cites State Needs

Dr. Cullen said the Legion took an important part in the formation of Maryland's Youth Commission which will act to coordinate efforts to provide the best possible care and advantages for all children.

Maryland has been delinquent in its program of caring for its youth he charged. During the past eight

Area Youths Badly Hurt In Car Crash

Blowout Sends Auto Careening Off Road

Four George's Creek area teen-agers were injured, one of them critically, when the automobile in which they were riding south on Route 36 blew a tire and left the highway about three-quarters of a mile north of Knapp's Meadow early Sunday, according to State Police.

The injured:

William Quail Eichhorn, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Cameron, West Main Street, Lonaconing.

James E. Mullan, 19, son of Mrs. Harry Reeves, McCoole Road, Westernport.

Miss Betty Esther Powell, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Powell, St. Mary's Terrace, Lonaconing.

Miss Evelyn M. Jones, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, State Street, Lonaconing.

Occurred About 12:30

All four were brought to Memorial Hospital at various times after the accident, which occurred about 12:30 a. m. Sunday, according to State Trooper Milton G. Hart, who investigated. The speed of the car was not determined.

Eichhorn, who was thrown from the automobile when it left the highway, was reported in "critical" condition at Memorial Hospital. He was reported to have sustained a fractured spine and was paralyzed from the neck down.

Young Eichhorn, who is a Marine Reservist, had accelerated his course at Central High School and graduated in January so he could report for active Marine duty.

However, he was sent back home for 90 days in order to have his teeth fixed and since that time had been working in Pontiac, Mich. Generally he has been coming home to Lonaconing every weekend. Such was the case this week.

He was riding in the back seat of the car with Miss Jones, who was the least seriously hurt.

Miss Jones, a senior at Central High School, sustained only contusions and abrasions. Hospital attendants termed her condition "fair" last night.

Eichhorn and Miss Jones were brought to Memorial Hospital first. Mullan, the driver, and Miss Powell, also a Central High School senior, were pinned in the front seat of the automobile for several hours before mechanics were able to jack up the smashed dashboard in order to free them. It was after 4 a. m. before they reached the hospital.

Extensive Injuries

Mullan, a Bruce High School graduate, was the most extensively injured but his condition last night was reported as "fair." His injuries included a fractured right thigh, fractured pelvis, dislocated left hip and head injuries.

Miss Powell, also reported in "fair" condition, suffered a fractured right arm.

Trooper Hart reported that the car skidded off Route 36 after the tire blew out, went down a four-to-five foot embankment, struck a tree and turned over on its left side. It was understood the car was virtually demolished.

Miss Powell's parents were visiting at Baltimore and Fort Meade. They hurried home after learning of the mishap.

Trooper Hart is continuing his investigation.

Frostburg Owned Cow Ends Production Test

A registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Clarence O. and Elizabeth H. Miller, Frostburg, recently completed a 365-day production test in official Herd Improvement Registry at Brattleboro, Vt.

Gladheart Echo Star finished the test with 547 pounds of butterfat and 19,195 pounds of milk to her credit.

Testing was supervised by the University of Maryland in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Towson Plans Summer Course For Teachers

A special summer program for elementary school teachers will be offered this summer at Towson State Teachers College. The program is a continuation of the plan inaugurated two years ago to help relieve the shortage of elementary teachers in the State.

Graduates of a four-year college, who wish to enter the elementary teaching field, may begin the special program to qualify for teaching.

WEATHER

Perhaps the old adage that rain on Easter Sunday means rain for seven successive Sundays is true. At least it has rained here each Sunday since Easter. Yesterday, Cumberland had .24 inches during the 24 hour period. Highest reading at Constitution Park weather station was 53; low for the day was 49. The prediction for today is for cloudy and cool weather.

Take Life Saving Refresher Course

Recreation Aims Of Lonaconing Group Stressed

Will Meet Today With State Official

A playground and baseball diamond are the immediate objectives of the McFarlane-Myers Recreation Park Association for the 149-acre state-owned recreation center on Dan's Mountain, near Lonaconnig, Felix Foote, Sr., association president, said yesterday.

Officers and members of the association will meet at 2 p. m. today at the Lonaconing Fire Hall with Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Department of State Forests and Parks, to discuss expanding recreational facilities in the new area.

A number of picnic tables and fireplaces already are being installed in the area.

Foote said other long-range objectives are a swimming pool and a home for the caretaker on the grounds. Plenty of drinking water is available from four springs in the area.

Other officers of the association are Walter McKenzie, vice president; Mrs. Helen Dillon, secretary, and Eddie McPartland, treasurer. Board members are William Abbott, Sr., Alvie Green, Robert Marshall, James Holmes, James Parks, Rev. Amos Stone and Rev. Charles Bogan.

The association has been named for two Lonaconing teen-agers who were killed last June 19 when a truck in which they were riding with other young people of the community overturned. They were Jean McFarlane and Raymond Myers.

Police Receive Instructions On Resuscitator-Inhalator

City police are receiving a refresher course on the use of the department's resuscitator.

The program was instituted April 2 following a suggestion by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said practically all members of the force have completed the refresher course. Instructions are being given by Officers John G. Powers, Sgt. Frank A. Shober and Tech. Sgt. John H. Newhouse at police headquarters.

The present resuscitator has been in use by the department for the past five years replacing an older model.

Chief Flynn added that from eight to 10 persons have been saved in the past five years through use of the apparatus.

The resuscitator, which is carried in the patrol wagon has a three-fold purpose. The resuscitator is used to revive victims of drowning, suffocation and shock when breathing has ceased.

The inhalator is used to give a fresh supply of oxygen to a person who is having difficulty in breathing.

The aspirator is used to clear the throat or nasal system of a victim through a suction process.

The resuscitator is compact in arrangement and can be used in any position. It includes attachments by which more than one victim can be treated at a time.

The apparatus includes two small oxygen tanks, each of which are effective for about 40 minutes. A larger tank of oxygen can be utilized in case of necessity.

Attached to the instructions is the slogan, "Don't Give Up." Many times the following of this simple phrase has meant saving a life, police said.

Today's Sermonette

Finally brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace: and the God of love and peace shall be with you. II Corinthians 13:11.

By REV. RAYMOND M. CROWE

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached at the Rawlings and Cresaptown Methodist Churches yesterday by the pastor, Rev. Raymond M. Crowe. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Progressive Christian Living

WITH the words of our text Paul closes his second letter to the Corinthians. He was deeply interested in the progress of the churches which he had founded and to which he ministered. While with them he labored day and night; when absent he prayed for their prosperity.

Rev. Crowe

The basic English translation of our text is illuminating: "Let this be my last word, brothers; be glad; be complete; be comforted; be of the same mind; be at peace with one another: and the God of love and peace will be with you."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to be glad. This advice came from one who, according to our standards, had little to be glad about. (After Paul became a Christian he suffered much for his faith; he was stoned, beaten, shipwrecked, and imprisoned.) Paul was like the man who was always cheerful in spite of much trouble. When he was asked, "How do you manage to be so cheerful?" he replied, "I have learned to cooperate with the inevitable."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to seek perfection. They were Christians, but they were inexperienced, weak, and imperfect. A convert does not come to the full stature of Christ Jesus in a day, therefore he should seek completeness.

During the Easter season many people became members of our churches. They cannot live to the fullest of their membership vows in a day, nor a week, nor a year. It will require a lifetime to seek perfection.

Gerald Birney Smith writes, "It was the faith of Jesus that truth could liberate man. We are freed by the breaking of old habits and by the expulsion of old refuges. Truth bids timid souls to go forth and find the larger meanings of life."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to be comforted. He had learned by experience that difficulties, discouragements, and disappointments come to every Christian. But he had learned, also, that these are incidental; they endure for a night only, and joy cometh in the morning.

General Gordon, a famous English soldier, said, "Were it not for the very great comfort I have in communion with God and the knowledge that He is Governor General, I could not get on at all."

The Apostle Paul advised the Corinthian Christians to be at peace with one another. He did not expect uniformity of thought or opinion; but he wanted them to avoid discord.

The Syrians have a beautiful custom. They meet together on a Sunday, one month before Easter, when all differences and troubles that may be between them are adjusted. For instance, during the preceding year if one has wronged another, he is forgiven and the two are friends again.

The Apostle Paul gave a promise to the Corinthian Christians, "The God of love and peace shall be with you." This promise is conditional, however. If Christians try to grow in grace and to promote peace, they expect Christ to dwell with them. When this occurs all problems are solved.

Sgt. Samuel Ashby Wins Bronze Star

Sgt. Samuel R. Ashby, 1515 Rosewood Street, this city, was presented a Bronze Star yesterday for "meritorous service in the North Apenines Campaign in the Mediterranean Theatre of War, during World War II.

The presentation was formally made for the Army by State Commander Lemuel Stevens of the American Legion, at a meeting of the Legion Child Welfare Commission at Farrady Post No. 24, in Frostburg.

The decoration, accompanied by a citation, was presented before an audience of over 200 legionnaires and officials.

Sgt. Ashby served in Headquarters Company, second Battalion, 365th Infantry Regiment. He is employed at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company here.

Training School Director Will Tour County

Will Speak First At Frostburg

Elbert L. Fletcher, superintendent of the Maryland Training School for Boys at Lock Raven, will arrive in Cumberland today to begin four busy days of explaining the work of the institution which he directs to members of service clubs and school officials in Allegany County.

Fletcher, 50-year old Texas native, will begin his activities in Allegany County when he speaks at the meeting of the Frostburg Rotary Club at 6 o'clock this evening.

Tomorrow at noon he will address the Cumberland Rotary Club and will discuss mutual problams with all of the county high school principals that afternoon.

Wednesday, his busiest day, Fletcher will be at Barton High School in the morning, at the Tri-Towns Rotary Club at noon and at the Lonaconing Rotary Club that evening.

Thursday he will wind up his speaking engagements when he talks to members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at their noon meeting.

Fletcher, who has been superintendent of the school at Lock Raven since 1945, has done much to transform the place into a good home for juvenile delinquents.

4-H Roundup Planned Here

Boys from all 4-H clubs in Allegany County will participate in 4-H Roundup Time Saturday from 7:30 to 10 p. m. in Fort Hill High School gymnasium.

Roundup Time, a regular event of the University of Maryland's Extension Service, is a general "fun night" for area youths and will feature Eugene Hopkins and his bag of tricks.

Prizes will be given winners in games and the evening will end with refreshments.

Joseph M. Steger, assistant county agent, announces a prize will be awarded the club with the most members present.

VFW Needs Buglers

Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announces that vacancies exist in its Drum Corps. Young men of the Cumberland area who have played brass instruments and have some musical knowledge are asked to join.

Six Are Injured In Collision At Fort Ashby

Frostburg Man Is Hurt In Mishap

Six persons were injured in a two-car crash near the intersection of Route 28 and 46 in Fort Ashby, W. Va. last night about 6:45 o'clock.

The accident occurred when a 1951 car driven by Ira Shreve, 21, RFD No. 2, Keyser, W. Va., progressing south on Route 28, turned into the path of a 1942 car operated by Richard Alexander Reid, Cumberland.

West Virginia State Police Cpl. O. G. Webley said Shreve was attempting to turn left across the highway into a restaurant.

Most seriously injured was Arnold Arnone, 22, of 100 Main Street, Frostburg, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital with a fractured right leg and facial lacerations. Arnone and his wife, Mary Virginia, were riding with Reid. Mrs. Arnone suffered multiple contusions. Reid's wife, Mrs. Emma Reid, suffered contusions.

A passenger riding in the Shreve auto, Miss Dorothy Oates, St. Cloud Street, Keyser, was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, with lacerations over the right eye and on top the head. She was admitted for observation. Shreve suffered a lacerated knee.

A Fort Ashby physician treated the injured in his office and the Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Department ambulance brought the Arnones to Memorial Hospital here.

The accident was investigated by Trooper W. S. Bowley and Cpl. Webley, who cited Shreve for violation of the right of way and summoned him to appear before Justice of the Peace Madeline Bazzle in Keyser Wednesday at 7 p. m.

Local 26 May Call Meeting On Contract

The Executive Board of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America (CIO), will meet early this week to discuss the possibility of holding a special meeting on contract revision negotiations.

Ralph C. Beard, vice president, said a full report of discussions on contract revisions was presented to the membership Saturday night.

Guests were Dr. A. L. Lewis, Akron, public relations director of the URCLPWA (CIO), and Rex C. Murray, District 1 director.

Chair Is Burned

South End firemen were sent to 1004 Grape Alley yesterday afternoon when an overstuffed chair caught fire in the home of George Jones. Firemen blamed the fire on a cigaret. The chair was destroyed and there was some smoke damage in the house, firemen added.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Waste paper will be collected today on all streets south of Oldtown Road. Bundles should be on curbs by 9 a. m.

The Men of LaSalle will nominate officers and make plans for a spring festival at a meeting in the Knights of Columbus Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

John Carter Shryock, Jr., Frostburg, won third prize in the annual exhibition of Cumberland Valley Artists in Hagerstown.

Rev. Robert L. Greynolds, Parsons, W. Va., and former pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley, will lead a revival which will open tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Wesley Chapel, Short Gap, W. Va.

Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, has presented a memorial chalice to the Josephite Fathers for use in missionary work.

Materialism Is Internal Enemy, Kenney Declares

St. Patrick's Men Hold Annual Event

"Materialism is the internal enemy of the United States just as Soviet Russia is the country's external enemy," Thomas J. Kenney, president of the Archdiocesan Union of the Holy Name Society, Archdiocese of Baltimore, told 250 men at the annual communion breakfast of the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church yesterday morning.

"There are 50,000,000 Americans who attend no church at all," Kenney, a Baltimore attorney, said, "and there are other millions—of all denominations—who fail to live up to their religious duties." The speaker asserted that materialism is the god of these people, which leads to corruption of politics at the national and local level, threatening American ideals and endangering the nation's liberties.

Fr. Curley Speaks

The breakfast was held in the parish social center following the 7 o'clock mass, at which the Rev. Frank Curley, O.M.I., Washington, D. C., delivered a sermon on "The Holy Name of Jesus."

Father Curley urged the men to invoke the name of Jesus in their daily lives, honoring it and employing it to ask the graces and favors they require for successful living.

"It is the greatest name of all history," he said. "Julius Caesar, Frederick the Great, and Napoleon were great names in history, but little is heard of them except in the history books—and their millions of followers have disappeared with time.

"The name of Jesus Christ, however," the speaker said, "has been the consolation and inspiration of countless millions in every corner of the earth for more than 1,900 years."

Toastmaster for the breakfast was John P. Mackey, who was introduced by Norman P. Fearnow, president of St. Patrick's Holy Name Society. Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's and spiritual director of the society, led the grace before and after the breakfast.

Others at the guest table were Rev. Alphonse Schreiber, O.F.M., Cap., assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's Parish; Thomas F. Conlon, president of the Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society; James King and Joseph Reissig, presidents of the Holy Name Societies of St. Mary's and SS. Peter and Paul's Parishes, and A. J. Yockus, J. A. Madden, Herman J. Grabenstein, and C. R. Burkey, all officers of St. Patrick's Holy Name Society.

Phone Workers To Hear Report

Per Capita Dues Are Set At $1.50

Maryknoll Pioneers

The careers of Father James Edward Walsh (left) of this city, the first Maryknoll priest to be consecrated a bishop, and Father James Anthony Walsh, (right), co-founder of the mission society, who became a bishop in 1933, three years before his death, have a prominent part in "The Early Days of Maryknoll," by Bishop Raymond A. Lane, superior general of the society. Ordained in 1915, Father Walsh was consecrated bishop in 1927. He was superior general for 10 years and is now back in Shanghai, China, directing the Catholic Central Bureau.

Legion Asks Square Deal For Children

Child Welfare Month Begins In District

With April designated as Child Welfare month in the American Legion's nation-wide program, a public meeting was held yesterday at the home of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, by the Coordinated Committee of Child Welfare for Mountain District.

State and national American Legion officials, as well as state representatives of the Ladies Auxiliary, 40 and 8 and 8 and 40, made up a panel, which discussed Child Welfare needs.

Principal speakers included Percy Weinberg, Washington, D. C., director of the American Legion Welfare Department; and Dr. Jerome S. Cullen, Baltimore, member of the State Department of Child Welfare Commission.

Daniel Burkhart, state adjutant and secretary of the Coordinated Child Welfare Committee; State Commander Lemuel Stevens, Mrs. Anna Plumley, 8 and 40 Child Welfare chairman; Mrs. Hugo Desput, auxiliary Child Welfare chairman; Mrs. Minnie Rooney, department president of the auxiliary and Mrs. Harriet Tipton, head of the state 8 and 40; and Martin Iverson, chairman of the State Department Child Welfare Coordinating committee, also spoke.

Committee Presented

Thomas B. Finan, master of ceremonies, presented the speakers and introduced Paul C. Weisenmiller, chairman of Mountain District Child Welfare, Samuel A. Graham, past chairman and the following local committee members: Russell Paupe, Mrs. Katherine Barnard, Mrs. Ovilia Walker, Mrs. Owen Rhodes, Mrs. Pearl Allen, and Frank Powers.

The discussion brought out various phases of the Child Welfare program work by the Legion and its three affiliated organizations.

Burkhart noted that the Legion's Child Welfare program and Rehabilitation program work hand in hand much of the time. He reminded that widows and orphans of veterans are entitled to Social Security benefits, even though the deceased veteran had never been in covered employment.

He said the Legion has a special fund from which any veteran in need or want can obtain, by proper application, $25, in direct relief.

Burkhart spoke of work being done by Legion posts in sponsoring Boy Scout Troops and Cub Packs.

He mentioned the Legion's Junior Baseball team for older boys, and noted that in last year's World Series, 27 of the eligible players had at one time played Junior Legion baseball.

Boys State was listed by the speaker as another important contribution of the Legion toward the building of better citizens for tomorrow. He also mentioned the Legion's oratorical contest, and other special activities.

Cites State Needs

Dr. Cullen said the Legion took an important part in the formation of Maryland's Youth Commission which will act to coordinate efforts to provide the best possible care and advantages for all children.

Maryland has been delinquent in its program of caring for its youth he charged. During the past eight
